

New Madoc Arena

Six area residents named to proceed

Toronto Dominion Bank manager Ross Clarke makes a presentation to Hilda McGowan on her last day of employment at the Madoc branch.

McGowan on her last day of employment at the Madoc branch.

Retirement party honors retiring bank employee

A retirement party was held recently at the Tweedsmuir Hotel in Tweed. Guest of honour was Mrs. Hilda McGowan, who retired on March 1st following twenty and one-half years in the Loan Department at the Madoc Branch of the Toronto-Dominion Bank. Mr. R. S. Clarke, Manager, in a few well-chosen words, recalled some incidents in Hilda's banking career, and on behalf of the staff, presented her with a pullman case in Laurentian luggage. Mrs. Betty Danford expressed her pleasure in working with Hilda for the past fourteen years and wished her good health and good travelling in her years of retirement. Other staff members presented Hilda with personal gifts. Hilda made a fitting reply and thanked all for their appropriate gifts and good wishes.

Guests included her son, Doug McGowan of Peterborough, Ontario, and all were entertained later at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Clarke. Following vacation tours to Florida and Cuba, Mrs. McGowan plans to make her home in Peterborough later this year.

Councillor Ash follows Deline

Madoc Councillor Joe Ash jumped on fellow councillor Tom Deline's bandwagon last Wednesday night and pledged his 1976 municipal salary toward building a new arena.

In making the announcement at a public meeting called by the Madoc and District Recreation Committee, Mr. Ash said he owed the pledge to "all the sports-minded ratepayers who helped elect me."

The councillor admitted being only "lukewarm" toward the proposal to build a new sports complex until the village's present 47-year-old arena was condemned by the Ministry of Labor for not meeting the safety standards of the National Building Code.

"Now I'm ready to jump on the bandwagon," Mr. Ash told the 150 people in attendance.

Two weeks ago Councillor Deline said he would turn over his 1976 salary from Madoc council to a fund to build a new community centre complex.

The salary amounts to about $500. Chided by Madoc Reeve T.C. Barton that he was polticking Mr. Ash responded, "What do you think I'm doing here?" prompting a burst of laughter from the audience.

Six area residents were appointed Monday night to form the management board which will proceed with construction of a new Madoc and district arena.

Another three persons will be appointed before the week is out, giving the board a full complement of nine members.

Madoc Village and Madoc Township councils appointed three representatives each to the board at regular council meetings Monday night.

Village councillors Joe Ash and Tom Deline and Centre Hastings Secondary School principal Bob Henderson will join Madoc Township councillor Ross Moorcroft and residents Raeburn Robinson and David Franks in managing the new body.

Huntingdon Township is expected to appoint its three representatives at its regular council meeting Thursday night.

Each of the three councils also passed a resolution agreeing to build the arena on condition that "construction not be undertaken until financial arrangements to cover the cost of building are completed" and the cost to the municipality does not exceed $87,500.

Madoc councillor Tom Deline, a member of the joint recreation committee spearheading the movement up to this point, told the special public meeting held last Wednesday night to discuss the arena that the formal commitment was necessary to proceed farther.

"Nobody, no committee has been given the legal right to take it beyond this stage," he told the 150-member audience.

Mr. Deline projected a cost of $500,000-$550,000 for the new sports structure tentatively situated on the Madoc fairgrounds with a seating capacity for 1,000 people. It will be designed for year-round use and future additions including a swimming pool.

He said the new management board will be responsible for fund-raising but outlined the current financial status saying the ladies' auxiliary of Madoc minor sports had just donated $1,500. The recreation committee has a current bank balance of $1,200 and personal commitment for as much as $1,000 have already been received, stated the councillor.

Lorne Williams of the Ministry of Culture and Recreation said area residents would be faced with raising $187,000 on a $500,000 cost estimate.

He described how a community centres grant would cover $125,000 of that estimated cost with a Wintario grant taking care of 50 per cent of the remainder.

Local

An estimated $187,000 would have to be raised locally with a minimum of $93,750 coming from the private sector and not taxes.

He also said volunteer labor and donations of materials could be considered as coming from the private sector.

"If we get a tax license, donations will be deductible," Mr. Deline responded to a question from the floor.

He said the estimated construction time was 25-35 weeks.

Recreation committee member Bob Henderson, principal of Centre Hastings Secondary School where the meeting was held, said the fairgrounds provided the most suitable site because there was no cost to acquiring it, there was room for parking and it was accessible.

The site of the now-condemned 47-year-old arena was not chosen because of the additional cost of tearing down the structure and rebuilding, the cost of buying additional land and the lack of parking.

The Madoc and District Agricultural Society which owns the fairgrounds is willing to lease the site at one dollar a year for 99 years on the condition that it have access to the grounds during the one week of its annual fair.

In response to a call from one person for a plebiscite to decide the issue, Madoc Village Reeve T.C. Barton said: "If you let this group go you will have an arena next year. With a plebiscite it will take longer."

A show of hands called for by Councillor Deline gave a unanimous approval of the plan to build a new arena.

Instant, free-span arena suggested as possibility

The answer to Madoc's lack of an arena is an instant, free-span structure made of aluminum, polyester and vinyl, states the President of a Toronto building firm.

Andrew Harvie, President of Sprung Instant Structures Ltd., says his company has the "low cost answer to maintaining an arena for every small town in Ontario, contrary to the Ontario government's decision that the day of an arena in every small town is over."

Mr. Harvie claims the Sprung Instant Structure "which meets most Canadian Building Codes and is U.L.C. tested, will quickly and efficiently fill the need of virtually every small community requiring an arena facility."

The structures are made of a hard, aluminum framing with a polyester and vinyl covering and can be assembled on any level surface. They have been tested to withstand 140 miles per hour winds, meet building code required ground snow loads and are "inherently fire resistant".

The free-span buildings do not have retaining poles and are easily and inexpensively insulated and heated. The covering can be pulled back to allow for outdoor sports during the summer months.

The structures "have been built across Canada and Europe as aircraft hangars, skating and curling rinks, even complete athletic complexes", states Mr. Harvie. He claims an entire indoor sports complex can be assembled in one month, but a three-month lead time is required to construct and ship the components from the company's Calgary head office.

Bob Bonter keeps a close eye on the french fries at the Lenten Fish and Chip Supper held April 2 at the St. John's Parish Hall. The final supper is to be held April 9 from 5 to 7 p.m.

Warns municipalities

The Ministry of Natural Resources has warned all municipalities they should have a plan for coping with flood emergencies, such as many parts are experiencing at the present time.

Deputy-reeve John Wilkes explained to Marmora and Lake Townships Council Saturday that each municipality is responsible for coping with a situation until such time as it becomes an extreme condition, then it becomes a government responsibility.

Each person is responsible for protecting their own property and paying their own expenses if flooded out, although the municipality is responsible for those unable to pay. Mr. Wilkes said. Mr. Wilkes is chairman of the Crowe Valley Conservation Authority and had attended a meeting where the regulations were outlined. Mrs. Mabel Gawley, the clerk-treasurer, would act as co-ordinator for the Townships, he advised.

It was noted that Marmora Village has an emergency plan prepared by the now disbanded Emergency Measures Organization, and it was suggested by Mrs. Gawley that she secure a copy of the village's plan for study.

yet letter comes to twp.

Marmora and Lake Townships Council were more than a little upset over a letter received from John Tooley of the waste management branch of the ministry of the environment, in which he complained that some burning of refuse had been carried out at the Marmora waste disposal site prior to his Feb. 18 visit.

"Tooley never said a word about it when he was here", commented Councillor Joe McGrath, "and then we get a letter like this". Mr. Tooley had threatened that if burning was not discontinued he would have to take appropriate action.

"Fellows like him (Tooley) go by the book and they don't allow for such things as weather." Deputy-reeve John Wilkes commented. "When he was here everything was frozen up and the trenches filled with snow. You can't compact in the middle of winter. The only thing that was burned was papers and boxes and I'm sure there was no odour from them. Tooley just has no understanding of winter conditions". Council decided to change the date from Saturday to Tuesday for the bulldozer operator to carry out compacting at the site.

MEMBER OF THE CANADIAN COMMUNITY NEWSPAPERS ASSOCIATION AND ONTARIO WEEKLY NEWSPAPERS ASSOCIATION

As we see it...

Must dig in own pockets to raise arena money

Even after last Wednesday night's public meeting to discuss building a new Madoc and district arena, people were wondering where the money is going to come from.

Based on the cost example used during the discussion, local residents will have to raise almost two-fifths of the total cost.

The question how was answered by Madoc Village Councillor Joe Ash. Mr. Ash, who admitted to being only lukewarm to the idea of building a new community complex prior to the closing of the old arena, jumped on the Tom Deline bandwagon and pledged his 1976 salary from council to the building fund.

That is how we will raise the money. Each of us will reach into our wallets, piggy banks, baby bonus nest eggs and shell out. As one man roared to the gathering, "we've just got to take the bull by the horns and go ahead and do it."

Centre Hastings principal Bob Henderson put it another way in his quietly determined manner: "To say this project cannot be done shows both a lack of concern for younger people and older and a lack of courage."

Tom Deline and the Madoc and District Recreation Committee must be commended. They brought the whole matter right back to the three municipal councils involved and managed to wring from them a commitment that will enable a group to go ahead and get precise cost figures and plans.

The commitment is so cleverly worded that even after we know what the facility will look like, where it will be located and how much it's going to cost to build and maintain, the municipalities are not left without an escape route.

Construction is not to be undertaken until financial arrangements to cover the cost of the building are completed.

The municipalities are even told the maximum they will pay. Anything above that figure and the commitment is no longer binding.

Mr. Deline told the gathering a new sports facility would cost $500,000 to $550,000. With us responsible for two-fifths of the cost - providing of course we get a Wintario grant to cover 50 per cent - and each municipality committed to a maximum $87,500, we have a cushion of approximately $42,600. With construction costs rising eight to 10 per cent annually, we could be faced with a cost next year of more than $600,000. We should have just enough to cover the increase. A delay of another year or longer and all the figures increase again.

The new management board will have to move quickly and without waste.

Favor new arena with Ed Weese

It was good to see more than 150 people on hand at Centre Hastings Secondary School last week to discuss a community arena for Madoc.

A lot of water will flow under the bridge between now and the end of this year and debates no doubt will rage pro and con about the proposal but personally I favor a new building.

Of course some of you will be quick to point out that I do not pay taxes here and therefore the cost will not apply to me. You are absolutely right.

But hopefully I can look at the situation with an unbiased eye. I came to Madoc and The Review as a stranger.

I have no axe to grind with political party, municipal body, service club or religious denomination.

You will find that I will be fair with all concerned but let me add that I did not come to the area to win any popularity awards.

Impressing people is the last thing in the world I care about but I am a proud professional newsman of 27 years.

I am concerned about community attitudes, growth and the general well being of this community. I think all of us should be.

WELL DONE

I was impressed with the words of CHSS principal Bob Henderson when he told the audience "to say we cannot do this shows a lack of concern and courage. It will mean a sacrifice by all of us in the community".

Bob was sincere when he said those words and I could not agree with him more. It will indeed take a lot of hard work and sacrifice

We salute...

RESIDENTS OF MADOC AND MADOC AND HUNTINGDON TOWNSHIPS - who turned out for last Wednesday's night meeting to discuss the future of the Madoc arena and the possibility of building a new complex. Those attending the meeting showed they are concerned about the future of their community.

by everyone if the project is to succeed. The community - in a sense - does not seem to have much choice in the matter. It appears the first major step has been taken towards a new arena of some kind.

Perhaps some of you may never live to see or use such a building but as Bob Henderson says we should be thinking ahead to future generations.

LAND

An uncle of mine in Oceanside, California, worked as manager of the Water Works Department back in 1944.

At that time he told the city to annex more than 50,000 acres and they thought he was crazy. The population of the community at that time was 12,000.

Today it stands at close to 50,000 and city officials are glad they listened to him. The annexation of that land 22 years ago proved to be one of the smartest things the community ever did financially.

Some Madoc residents may not be thinking about an arena now - with the arrival of warmer weather - but what happens when next November rolls around? Let's roll NOW.

The annual meeting of the Industrial Accident Prevention Association was held in Toronto this week.

The topic of alcoholism in industry was one of the major panels held. Eastman Kodak of United States has held meetings of Alcoholics Anonymous within the company since 1940.

Millions of dollars are lost annually in production by firms who still have not recognized that many of their workers are alcoholics.

They still see the park bench derelict as the alcoholic. But the world is fast learning that alcoholism is indeed a disease and only three per cent of the known alcoholics - and there are millions of them - are derelicts.

The others fall into such categories as doctors, lawyers, politicians, ministers, newspaper people, housewives, priests, and blue collar workers.

See you around.

Madoc residents will have chance to quiz council

Madoc residents will have the chance to tear a strip off their council or just ask questions at a public meeting tonight at 8 p.m. at the town hall.

"Council members will be present to answer questions concerning local municipal government other than the question of a new arena," stated Reeve T.C. Barton who called the meeting last week.

Mr. Barton agreed the announcement of this meeting was timed just prior to last Wednesday night's public discussion of the building of a new arena as a precautionary measure.

"We didn't want people getting side-tracked from the arena," Reeve Barton told The Review.

"This will give them an opportunity to discuss other matters."

Name Jack Ellis deputy party whip

Hastings MP Jack Ellis was named deputy party whip last week by Progressive Conservative leader Joe Clark.

Mr. Ellis succeeds Steve Paproski of Edmonton Centre who takes over as chief Opposition whip.

The 47-year-old member will organize meetings of the national caucus in different parts of Canada.

The hairy mammoth, a beast about one-third larger than a modern elephant, lived in the Canadian Arctic before the last ice age. A mammoth tusk eight feet long and 150 pounds in weight was discovered on the Kugaluk River in 1971.

Madoc Councillor Tom Deline (at podium) opened the public meeting last Wednesday night to discuss the proposal to build a new arena. Close to 200 people turned out on a cold, wet night to the auditorium of Centre

Hastings Secondary School and gave unanimous support to the proposal. (staff)

List of concerns show Canadian unease about changing lives

Mrs. Sheila Morton of RR 6, Lindsay, encloses a letter to this newspaper pointing out a list of "concerns" among Canadian people.

The list, included below, brings into sharp focus the vague unease among Canadians in the way their lives are changing.

Mrs. Morton says, "we have all allowed it to happen through apathy, carelessness or just plain unconcerned, uniformed attitudes."

"CONCERN: Tax money spent for undeserved and unnecessary services which reduce the self-sufficiency and initiative of Canadians.

CONCERN: Threats of even greater government intervention in the private sector, making it increasingly difficult for our small businessmen to wade through the already overwhelming government forms and regulations.

CONCERN: Our fuzzy and drifting foreign policy which no longer distinguishes between our tried and true friends and those whose system of government are totally opposed to our own.

CONCERN: Lack of support for our traditional defence of freedom and democracy as demonstrated by our decreased and half-hearted commitment to Nato.

CONCERN: Our misguided and ill-conceived Bail Reform Act, resulting in a higher crime rate...not necessarily more criminals, but repeat crimes by those out on the new "revolving door" system of bail.

CONCERN: Frequent references to restructuring our traditional society into a vaguely defined "New Society".

Concerned? You're darn right I am. I don't want a "New Society". Just bring back our truly Canadian code of honour and ethics under which generations have grown up morally, spiritually and physically strong:

AN HONEST DAY'S WORK FOR A FAIR WAGE: - Respect and reward older Canadians who built our nation, the courageous veterans who saved it and look after the genuinely needy. Give the freeloaders the old heave-ho. The ever-shrinking taxpaying public cannot afford 3 billion dollars a year in Unemployment Insurance, 2 billion dollars for a sneaky "Guaranteed Annual Wage" in the form of Family Allowances, or the untold millions in LIP, OFY and Canada Council Grants. These last three are making it difficult for our young people to learn to stand on their own two feet. Nor will they ever know the true meaning and fulfillment of the words "volunteer work" when they are paid $120.00 a week to work for the benefit of their community.

THE LEAST GOVERNMENT IS THE BEST GOVERNMENT: - Any independent Canadian businessman will agree with this old adage, particularly if he has been forced to spend many non-productive hours each week filling out an avalanche of government forms. Decrease government intervention and increase productivity in our free enterprise system, and the resultant competition will enable us to offer reasonably priced, quality goods to the national and international markets.

MAKE NEW FRIENDS, BUT CHERISH THE OLD: - Sound economics dictate that we look for new trade links. But do this with loyalty and dignity. Flamboyant, loudmouthed speeches, whining and swining against our friends and best customers in the USA won't open any iron-clad doors for us. Many Canadian fingers would be caught if the Americans closed their door on us.

A PROMISE MADE IS A DEBT UNPAID: - We must honor our original NATO commitment. This was a firm and binding agreement. We have brought dishonor and ridicule to Canada by reneging on our promise. This is a most basic tenet and must apply throughout all facets of Canadian life...from the home to the highest levels of government, especially in our dealings with friendly foreign nations.

Meet in Marmora

Eight members of the Lake Ontario Regional Library System met in Marmora for a meeting last Saturday in the Marmora Library.

SPARE THE ROD AND SPOIL THE CHILD: - I hesitate to reintroduce this old rule. The advocates of "non-violence" comprising a majority of our teaching profession might hit me with their picket sticks. Our children need and deserve all the love and understanding we can give them, combined with the discipline to help them cope with today's fast-moving society.

A MAN'S HOME IS HIS CASTLE: - Basically, this hasn't changed much...yet. But certain sections of Bill C-83 dealing with some admittedly needed gun controls can quickly change this status. If this Bill is passed as is, gone will be the days when our husbands can say, "Think I'll go shoot a few groundhogs in the back forty". Under this same Bill, our phones can be tapped without our knowledge. The diluted and deluded sections in Bill C-84 on Capital Punishment may require us all to turn our "castles" into armed fortresses. Read them both and weep...or start yelling to your nearest MP.

These are but a few of the time-honoured and proven rules which helped build our country on a firm and honorable foundation. We must return to them quickly.

Otherwise, most middle-aged Canadians will get all misty-eyed when they hear O Canada... "Hey, Honey, they're playing our song".

Board of Education Budget
The Hastings County Board of Education has budgeted for a maximum average salary increase of ten percent for its teaching personnel despite a total budget increase of only 9.67 percent this year.

Director of Education Eric Runacres would neither confirm or deny this, but did say that the Board's current budget includes average salary increases for all employees that are within the federal guidelines. Under the wage and price controls, teachers could have salary increases as high as 12 percent depending on interpretation of the regulations.

The Board's total salary costs in 1975 were about $24 million, out of a total budget of $31.37 million. The Board's new 1976 tentative budget has been set at $35.08 million or an increase of only $3.21 million or 0.67 percent.

If all salaries were to rise an average of ten percent this would mean that there would be only $800,100 left in the budget for non-salary items such as supplies and equipment.

Ministry of

I've never seen such a road - Wilkes

"The boundary road is a disgrace. In all my years I never saw such a road" exclaimed Deputy-reeve John Wilkes at Saturday's meeting of Marmora and Lake Townships Council.

"I had three calls within a few minutes one night about people getting stuck," Mr. Wilkes said, shaking his head in dismay at the condition the road had been left in when construction ceased last December.

"I called Lloyd Nugent in Kingston (ministry of transportation engineer) but he is too busy to come right now," explained Mr. Wilkes. "When he comes we may be able to get some gravel on."

*Council has had no indication from the

Should take advantage

Marmora and Lake Townships should take advantage of a student make-work program offered by the ministry of culture and recreation if it can be used to hire one of the staff for the swimming program at Legion Beach, Councillor Ted Bonter has suggested.

The Experience '76 program will pay $3.75 per hour or up to $150. per week per student, Mr. Bonter noted, adding that if it can be arranged would result in a saving to the municipality. He is to confer with the recreation committee on the possibility.

Council could think of no other project that would give a student employment for the whole summer. Application has to be made by April 14.

Deputy-reeve John Wilkes announced that the Crowe Valley Conservation Authority had been given a grant of $30,000 to hire 10-12 students for summer work.

Festival of Praise set May 3 to 6

The 26th annual Stirling Festival of Sacred Praise will be held this year from May 3rd to 6th in St. Paul's United Church.

The committee responsible for planning the Festival has secured the services of Dawson Woodburn of Toronto to be the adjudicator for the vocal, choir, piano, organ, bands and instrumental music classes. Murray Irwin will adjudicate the Scripture classes.

A few interested groups and public spirited citizens made the Stirling Festival of Sacred Praise possible, when it was instituted in 1951. Down through the years they have endeavoured to promote more interest for sacred praise and learning of the Scriptures, especially among young people.

Anyone wishing to make a contribution of this very worthwhile endeavour, may do so by sending their donation to treasurer Mrs. Gerald Russett, RR 5, Stirling, Ont. K0K 3N0.

A number of Marmora church choirs and school groups have entered the Festival over a number of years and have attained quite high marks.

Many people to get awards

A number of area people will be presented with awards by the Marmora Branch of the Canadian Red Cross Society on Thursday evening at St. Andrew's Christian Education Hall for the lengthy or outstanding service they have contributed to the work of Red Cross.

A number of officials from headquarters in Toronto are expected to be on hand: Mrs. Betty Spry, Regional Vice-president, Miss Jane Moon, Co-ordinator of Community Services, and Henry Gates, Public Relations Director; also Mrs. E. Marsh of Belleville who will shortly be taking over as regional vice-president from Mrs. Spry.

Also expected to attend are Murray Workman, president of the Belleville Branch, and Mrs. Workman; Jarred Campbell, President of Bancroft Branch, and Mrs. Campbell.

The dinner will get underway at 6:30 p.m., followed by a few speeches and the presentation of awards.

Mr. Gates has offered to show slides of a trip he took recently to Africa in connection with his work as public relations director.

ministry as to whether the funds will be available to get some gravel on."

Council has had no indication from the ministry as to whether the funds will be available to finish the road this year.

A culvert placed at the site of one of the two bridges across Deer River has caused the flood water to back up across the road.

Some of the residents here tried to tell the construction company the culvert wasn't big enough to take all the water there but they wouldn't listen," Mrs. Carl McMillen, a resident of the area, said in an interview Sunday. "We are getting through now by taking it easy but for a while Percy Ellis was pulling people through with his tractor."

Relief

Councillor Bert Gray expressed relief at Monday night's Marmora Village Council meeting that the village's filtration plant hadn't been lost in the present flood situation.

"We would be in bad shape if it had gone," Mr. Gray remarked.

Gets tentative approval, park

David Mocon has been given tentative approval by Marmora and Lake Townships Council for the establishment of a tent and trailer park on his property at the west part of Lot 2, Concession 3.

Starting with 30 units, it will be a two or three year project, Mr. Mocon said, depending on how fast the business grows. The project is still in the planning and development stage, with an application for re-zoning of the property to resort commercial before the Hastings County Planning Board.

Mr. Mocon said he had been in touch with the County Health Unit, the Ministry of Transportation and Ministry of Tourism with his plans and had now come to Council for their approval.

He assured Council the area is not flooded now and he intends to keep the units well back from the river frontage. He explained that his licence has to be renewed every year and Council could close him up if he doesn't conform to regulations.

Five applications

Five applications for wolf bounties were approved Saturday by Marmora and Lake Townships Council.

Payment of $20. was authorized for Harold Carman, John Hewitt, John Wilson (2) and Terry Clemens.

$700 requisition

Marmora and Lake Townships Council has accepted a $700. requisition for its share of Marmora Public Library operating expenses.

Reeve Ritchie Wells noted that the budget figure was the same as last year's.

All wells and water should be disinfected

The Hastings and Prince Edward Health Unit says it is advisable that after the flood recedes, all the wells and water systems in the area be disinfected, after which samples of the water should be submitted for bacteriological examination.

Ellis asked to approach judges

Hastings MP Jack Ellis disclosed in Belleville last week that he has had requests to approach judges.

Attending a meeting of the Belleville Progressive Conservative Association Mr. Ellis said, "It's only happened twice in four years. It's the only time I've ever had to turn anyone down."

The Hastings member was critical of the federal government's handling of allegations of cabinet ministers' contacting judges over court proceedings.

Mr. Ellis said the entire issue is completely against Canada's tradition of judicial ethics. He is concerned about the reaction of the government's front bench to the allegations.

Such was the attitude that he had "a very strong suspicion that it is so common an occurrence that the government hasn't even deemed it to be wrong".

We salute...

IVAN LAVENDER - a former Marmora man who has been appointed to a senior post in the federal government. Mr. Lavender, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. William Lavender, has been named manager of Government Master Construction Specification.

MARMORA BUSINESSMAN JACK GOLDEN - who was recently elected president of the Fiddler Glen Property Owners Association.

MARMORA RED CROSS - for raising close to $1,000 during the 1976 annual campaign. Campaign chairman Mary Jane Goodchild reported the total could be revised because money is still being collected.

MEMBERS OF THE BANTAM HOCKEY CLUB - who will represent the community in the all Ontario finals. The Herald wishes them good luck.

Sorry....

Due to space limitations and a large amount of news copy, several items had to be held out of this week's edition. Those stories will appear in next week's paper. We apologize for the inconvenience.

with Karen Jones

To date I have received only the one contribution to this column which was published two weeks ago.

I have had a couple of people who are going to submit items of interest in the near future, but with the exception of these people, I've received no response.

This column will not succeed without your support!

There must be lots of readers, especially senior citizens, who can think back a few years and comment on numerous things. For instance, our arena had been closed - is there one of our readers who remembers when it was built and the events connected with it? If so - jot them down and send it in.

Speaking of "Looking Back" brings me to another subject.

The new book, "Way Back When", is off the press and is presently at the binding company. It is expected that the book, published by the Madoc Review Limited, will be on the shelves for sale in two weeks.

"Way Back When" was compiled and written by two area youths, Ardith McKinnon and Garnet Pigden. The contents deal with the history of Madoc and Madoc Township. In all, there are 512 pages of history and pictures from the beginning to the present. There are even some stories of the good old days as told to the authors by area residents (sound familiar to paragraph four above?).

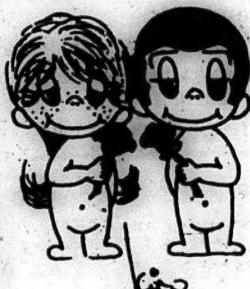

Believe me, it was a pleasure to share in the printing of this book - it's worth its weight in gold!

CHSS not as bad off as was first feared

Centre Hastings Secondary School in Madoc is "a little better off than expected" principal Bob Henderson said of the Hastings school board budget passed Monday night.

"We're cutting $100 per student," said Mr. Henderson.

He said the school's key programs and current teaching staff will be retained and there is a little more than $5,000 for a "make-do" intra-school sports program.

There are no funds for professional development of the school's teachers, the equipment budget is reduced by 75 per cent, the supplies and services budget is 55 per cent less than last year and the school could lose its resource people and para-professionals.

Five are charged in accidents

Five people have been charged in connection with five accidents investigated last week by the Madoc Detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police. Damage amounted to $2,090.

Cpl. J.B. Mitchell said 10 people were charged under the Liquor Licence Act and one accidental death was investigated.

Eight people were charged with impaired driving and there were three reports of forged cheques. There were eight reports of theft, nine of breaking and entering and six reports of wilful damage.

The budgets set at the individual schools are flexible, said Mr. Henderson.

"Last year we were assigned $3,000 for professional development and we used a little more from the supplies and services budget."

This year there will be very little of that borrowing flexibility.

"Supplies and services is the largest single item on the budget," stated the principal. "It includes everything connected with instruction. We may have to cut it even more next year."

The reduced equipment budget postpones repairs to typewriters and other classroom equipment.

"We will make do for a year but inevitably something will have to be done," said Mr. Henderson. "It could become acute."

Field trips and class excursions have not been eliminated entirely from the curriculum but subsidies from the school will be drastically cut, meaning the parents will have to assume a greater portion of their costs.

The $35.8 million budget sets aside $50,000 for the county's intra-school sports program and cuts $50,000 from the professional development leaving no funds for this year plus another cut of $180,000 from the schools maintenance budget.

"Yes, it is a little better than I had expected," said Mr. Henderson.

"The board has worked very hard to cut to the bone and prepare this budget."

If your kids complain of sore backs...chances are their beds are tired too! If your kids are more than 5 years old, you should check the mattress for lumps or pokey springs, then lie right down on it to test firmness of the box spring. Must stop Tory bungling

SMITH MEETS SMITH

SMITH FIRM:

Must produce food to survive

By MICHAEL LEA

Canada must become one of the major food producers for the world in the years ahead if its economy is to survive, provincial Liberal leader, Stuart Smith, told a meeting of riding followers in Marmora last week.

"We have a manufacturing industry that is not able to compete in the world, it's not able to export very much," Mr. Smith said, "and it seems to me that it's going to become terribly important that we have something that Canada becomes known for - that Canada can export - and the more I look at that, the more it seems to me that the only thing we're possibly going to be able to export in order to survive in the world of economy...is food."

He said it is essential the country have a viable farming industry, something which would, however, probably mean paying higher prices for food and would see more government intervention to make sure the food processing industry is sufficiently regulated.

"We also have to have a process by which growth is de-centralized so that instead of everybody just crowding more and more into Toronto hoping to pick up a job there, instead of large businesses and big machinery being the way we try and produce jobs in our province, we're going to have to support small business, we're going to have to support businesses that don't use a lot of machinery, that hire people because jobs are going to be scarce in the next few years."

He promised to have a series of regional policy discussions and called for help from the people in making policies which would de-centralize the province.

Mr. Smith said the closing of hospitals in small towns was indicative of a government in which "the right hand doesn't know or care what the left hand is doing."

"The Ministry of Health looks at an area on the map and says 'well, there are too many hospital beds in that area, so we'll just draw an X through one of them'."

Hobson says industry must be deflected here

Dave Hobson, a 40-year-old teacher at North Hastings Secondary School in Bancroft and a resident of Apsley was named Liberal standard bearer for Hastings-Peterborough riding at a provincial nomination convention in Madoc last Thursday.

A candidate in the last provincial election Mr. Hobson defeated Mrs. Lillian O'Connor, of Marmora, on the first ballot to win the nomination.

The candidate told more than 600 people at the convention "government and industry must be deflected into Eastern Ontario and this includes Hastings-Peterborough."

Mr. Hobson is expected to be opposed by incumbent Tory member Clarke Rollins. The Conservatives nomination convention is slated for Madoc April 21.

"The agricultural community must enjoy the prosperity as much as the rest of society", Mr. Hobson told a predominately rural audience.

Viewing the election issues as mainly

He cited the shut-downs as a major blow against de-centralization since often the hospitals are the primary employers and

MARRIED

A history teacher by profession Mr. Hobson has been employed in the North Hastings High School for 11 years. He is married and has three children.

Don Mullan of Marmora, president of the Hastings-Peterborough Association, announced six delegates were elected to represent the riding at the annual meeting of the Liberal Party in Ontario in Toronto later this month.

They are Wilma Brady, association secretary, of Marmora, chief financial officer Ernie Carswell, of Bancroft, Richard Rashotte, association treasurer, of Tweed, association executive vice-president Gordon Hoard of Rawdon, Ted Courneyea president of the Tweed and District Liberal Association and Lillian O'Connor, president of the Marmora and District Liberal Association.

Ontario Liberal leader addresses crowd at nomination

"We have to stop the bureaucratic bungling of the Tory party" Ontario Liberal leader Dr. Stuart Smith told a provincial nomination convention of the Hastings-Peterborough Liberal Association in Madoc last Thursday night.

Speaking to more than 600 people at Centre Hastings Secondary School Dr. Smith said "industry must be awakened to the advantages of locating in the rural hinterland".

"Government has a responsibility to lure industry away from the Golden Horseshoe (Toronto area). When industry goes, so will housing and services, leaving our climatically favored prime farmland for what it does best - grow food", said the Liberal leader.

Knowing his audience was made up of many rural people Dr. Smith said, "preservation of farmland must be coupled with decentralization of growth. As long as the jobs focus on the Golden Horseshoe, so will growth. That growth devours our prime farmland."

Terming the Tory government "incompetent", the Liberal leader said "it is urgent that we preserve farmland, not just talk about preserving it."

"Preservation of farmland must go hand-in-hand with compensation for down-zoning and a farm insurance program".

DECENT

"The best way to keep farmland in production is to have farmers making a decent living. The Conservatives are still callously insensitive to the need for compensation."

"Its only progressive step in its 33 years in power was its promise of an income stabilization program. Then it took a full year, yes a full year for the government to realize it needed legislation to do this", he said.

Dr. Smith emphasized small business also plays a key role in decentralization. He called for more incentives to attract small business to eastern and northern Ontario. "By its nature, small business decentralizes. Big business centralizes, said the Liberal leader.

Dr. Smith said government must spur decentralization by giving significant industrial incentive grant to development-hungry areas; by developing new land-servicing techniques to make it easier and less costly to service rough land and by building more provincial government buildings away from major urban areas.

The 37-year-old Liberal leader was introduced by Quinte MPP Hugh O'Neill and thanked by Stephanie Foster, of St. Oia.

Dave Hobson

Supporters cheer as Dave Hobson wins Liberal party nomination to contest Hastings-Peterborough in the next provincial election.

Hees one of first to receive free permit

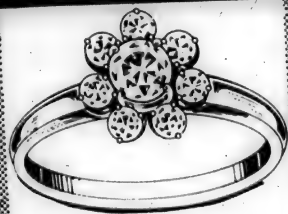

George Hees, Progressive Conservative MP for Prince Edward-Hastings is one of four members of parliament to become the first Canadian senior citizens to receive free National Park motor vehicle permits.

The permits, presented by Judd Buchanan, Minister of Indian and Northern Affairs, are available to any Canadian over 65 years of age and will allow entry to any of Parks Canada's 28 National Parks.

The other three MPs selected to represent Canada's senior citizens are: Charles-Eugene Dionne, Social Credit, Kamouraska; Stanley Knowles, New Democratic Party, Winnipeg North Centre, and Victor Railton, Liberal, Welland.

"The heritage which we are trying to preserve now and for the future, has, to a large extent, been developed by our senior citizens," said Mr. Buchanan. "We believe that those who have helped to make Canada the rich and beautiful country that it is should be encouraged to enjoy our National Parks."

Senior citizens will be able to obtain an annual permit for their vehicle free of charge at any National Park where vehicle fees are collected with proof of age such as a Department of National Health and Welfare senior citizens card and vehicle registration.

Throughout his varied career in education, Mr. Neville has always exhibited a deep concern for the individual.

Recreational building gets OK'ed

PETERBOROUGH - Conditional approval of a $985,000 grant toward a recreational building for Trent University has been received from the provincial ministry of culture and recreation.

The grant, to come from Wintario lottery funds, is offered on the condition that Trent raise, from private sources, an amount equal to at least half the grant.

President Tom Nind of Trent, in announcing the grant, said the university was delighted with the news and added that the funds would go a long way to make the university's first recreation building a reality. Trent is the only Canadian university without a permanent athletic facility.

The building will be used extensively by the Peterborough community, said Mr. Nind. Community memberships will be available and the city of Peterborough has approved in principle a use and cost-sharing proposal for the swimming pool. It is also expected that schools, community clubs and organizations will use the facilities.

Mr. Nind said he expected the university would call tenders almost immediately and that construction would begin this spring. Cost of the project is estimated at $2.8 million, of which $1.8 million is available in government grants (including Wintario funds). Of the remaining $1 million, more than $400,000 in pledges to Trent's Second Decade Fund has been earmarked for the building.

The president added that the fund-raising drive has the recreation facility as one of the variety of projects and programs among its objectives. A total of $3.5 million is being sought nationally and locally.

The building will incorporate these features: a 25-meter swimming pool, a gymnasium with seating for about 500, four squash courts, multi-purpose and exercise rooms, locker and shower rooms.

The building will rise near the site of Trent's "bubble", an inflatable air structure that has served for six years as the university's winter athletic facility.

Must have gun law sufficiently flexible

GUNS

Mr. Smith said the current peace and security bill, covering a wide range of topics, "is a way of trying to defuse the capital punishment issue."

He felt the public interest would be better served if the various topics of the bill were discussed individually.

He said he was not sure that the gun control aspects of the bill would accomplish what they set out to do.

"I don't think you can keep guns out of the criminal class. But I do think it's possible to keep guns out of the hands of the guy who gets, maybe, a little bit drunk or a little bit angry and reaches for a gun and shoots somebody and thinks about it later."

He suggested a law whereby people would keep guns at hunting sports clubs, to be used only when needed, "so that it (a gun) at least wasn't right there on hand."

"I'm sure that would cut the number of murders within families and the majority of murders are still within families."

"Now, in the country, it's different because there are many people who have a very legitimate reason for having a gun on the premises...and I think we have to have a law that's sufficiently flexible so that guns are kept by people who need them."

He also called for a more flexible policy on the killing of wolves which would be particular as to what time and place a bounty applies.

"It seems to me we have to return to some system whereby we can monitor what the wolf population is doing; we can actually inspect and see where the kills are occurring and when that happens we ought to be able to give local permission to, in fact, collect bounties for a certain period of time on the wolf population."

Cancer campaign this month

April is designated Cancer Month, the month in which the Canadian Cancer Society raises the funds to support its activities throughout the year.

These activities, now fairly well known, are described as:

Research - to improve the detection, treatment and cure of cancer

Education - to inform everyone of the latest developments in the prevention, detection and treatment of cancer.

Service to Patients - an effort to make available to all the treatment and facilities to combat cancer.

Last year, the Marmora Branch contributed over $1,500 to the work of the Society. This contribution does not include "in memoriam funds" which are kept in a separate account, although used for the same purpose.

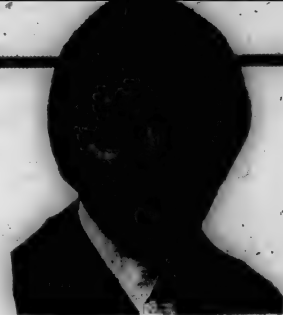

Our local branch is now providing service to 19 cancer patients and has assisted in transportation over 10,000 miles in the last twelve months.

The work of the Cancer Society is of increasing importance in the Marmora district and it is hoped that contributions will again be generous this year.

The canvass will be made during the week of April 12-17.

Mul-lan it over...

with Don Mullan

BARRING a major change in circumstances, we can forget about an Ontario provincial election until at least next Spring.

Stuart Smith, leader of the provincial Liberal party, holds the key - if he joins with the NDP in any vote of non-confidence in the minority Conservative Government of Premier William Davis, the government will fall and an election will result.

But Mr. Smith, dining with the writer last Thursday, made it clear - his party intends to give the Davis government a full opportunity.

The Liberals, he contended, will keep the government in office until at least next Spring.

The move, of course, is a gamble on Mr. Smith's part.

Smith can use the time to become better known throughout the province, and his newly elected MPP's can use the time to cement their positions in their own ridings. As well, party coffers could be strengthened.

But it can also give Premier William Davis time to mend his broken down fences and send him into the election as a popular free enterprise party against what the Tories will term the hoards of the NDP socialists.

And if it boils down to a straight two-party fight, Smith, and the Grits, could well end up 'dead' for many decades to come.

On the other hand, Davis could continue to be plagued by troubles, and give Smith the excellent opportunity he's looking for to end 33-years of Tory government in this province.

HUGH O'NEIL, the Liberal MPP from Quinte, gave us a beautifully colored 96-page booklet on Ontario Angling - Facts and Figures.

Produced by the Ministry of Natural Resources, the booklet features the results of two separate surveys as to where residents and non-residents fish in the province.

As the Hon. Leo Bernier, minister of the department puts it, "This publication will be invaluable to resource managers and planners at many levels of government."

We hope so. It cost the taxpayers enough. The government had 9,906 copies printed at a total cost of $24,711.72.

MILT JOHNSTON, the program director of CJBQ radio, wrote us the other day in regards to our recent comments on the station's cutting off of the NHL hockey broadcast in the dying minute of play.

He admits the station staff 'goofed' under the pressure of numerous things going wrong, and apologizes for it.

But, he notes, it isn't easy on staff when split decisions have to be made, and we agree.

Mistakes can be made, and we all make 'em. After all, we're only humans.

Thanks for the note, Milt...and keep up the good work. We trust we'll hear 'all' of the hockey games from now on, including the dying seconds.

FLOOD WATERS are really causing trouble these days, as many area residents sleep with their clothes on because they may have to flee their homes in the middle of the night.

A twenty-four hour watch is being kept on the Marmora Dam, for instance, where it is feared an ice-breakup on Crowe Lake could send massive ice flows down the Crowe River and up against the concrete dam itself.

Should the dam give way, as it is feared it might, a good portion of the south-west part of the village would be flooded.

Many volunteers are helping keep track of the situation, and bagging sand, and everyone is appreciative of their efforts.

A continuation of the colder type weather will help - and may prevent a situation none of us would like to see develop.

Cooking...

I can assure you that you will rate compliments from your family and friends when you serve "Carrot Gold Cake" with the "Cream Cheese Frosting". This recipe makes a very large cake. I usually bake mine in two layer tins and there is enough batter left over for 8 cup cakes. It takes a considerable amount of time to grate the carrots, but think the final result is well worth the effort. The addition of the crushed pineapple makes the cake exceptionally moist.

CARROT GOLD CAKE

2 cups sifted all purpose flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 1/2 teaspoons baking soda
1 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons cinnamon
2 cups sugar
1 1/2 cups salad oil
4 eggs
2 cups finely grated carrots
1 can crushed pineapple, drained (8 ounces)
1/2 cup finely chopped nuts
1/2 cup coconut (optional)
Sift the first five dry ingredients together then add sugar, oil and eggs and mix well. Blend in thoroughly the carrots, pineapple, nuts and coconut. This makes 3 greased and floured 9 inch round layer tins. Bake at 350 F for 35 minutes.
When cool spread with:
1/4 cup butter

1 8 ounce package cream cheese, softened
1 pound confectioners sugar, sifted
2 teaspoons vanilla.

Cream together in order given. If necessary add milk to make of spreading consistency.

This corner has never hesitated to take pot shots at the Consumers Association.

In the last 10 years, One Foot in the Furrow has taken the side of the agricultural sector 99 per cent of the time. Not long ago, one of the persons who came under fire was Ruth Jackson, president of the Ontario section of the consumers association.

Mrs. Jackson is well-educated, highly intelligent and articulate. She is, above all, honest. When she has something to say, she doesn't hesitate no matter whose toes might get tropped. She has been accused of having a conflict of interest because she serves on the Ontario Farm Products Marketing Council and is also a director of J.M. Schneider Ltd., the Kitchener-based meat-packing firm.

Because of her directness and her integrity, I have no fears that she will let one position affect the other. Not long ago, she was one of the speakers in a lecture series in her home city of Kitchener. Her topic: Women as Consumers.

She told the audience that, although the price of food has increased in the past couple of years, food prices will continue to increase. That is an interesting statement coming from a representative of a consumers organization.

Statistics prove that food prices in the last 10 years have increased 100 per cent but the cost of living has increased 120 per cent. In other words, food is still a bargain.

"It's time consumers realized that food is not expensive in comparison to the hours needed to earn it," she said.

The price of good farmland in most parts of Ontario has increased beyond the scope of many young farmers. There are fewer farms in food production and those that are in production must earn enough from the sale of foodstuffs to pay their expenses, she said.

She might have added that farmers wouldn't mind a little — just a little — profit, too, in the sale of their goods.

In that same speech, she criticized "the manipulation of consumers" by chain stores, a topic which has been discussed by this corner on a number of occasions.

Canadians, she said, are living in a golden age of food production but it is not going to last much longer. Although the western world has food surpluses, these are shrinking as food aid is being sent to Third World countries.

"We are going to have to find a way to protect our ability to produce food, whether by land use quotas or whatever, for soon, there won't be any surpluses left," she said.

Canada should give trade concessions to developing countries, even if this means that the standard of living in this country is lowered and even if it means a confrontation with the large corporations who want tariffs to protect their products.

Those are strong words, especially coming from Mrs. Jackson. I admire her courage and forthrightness. She may get drummed out of the consumers association for reciting such heresy though she is the president of the Ontario section. They got rid of Richard M. Nixon, didn't they?

As mentioned before, I have disagreed publicly with many stands taken by the consumers association. No doubt many of them have red faces and maybe egg on their faces after those hearings recently where their statistics were weighed and found wanting by the Canadian Egg Marketing Agency.

But here is one person who knows what she is talking about and has the guts to say it.

Right on, Ruth, baby.

Keep up the good work.

"GREEN THUMB"

What to look for when buying fertilizer

By IAN D.W. SMITH
Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food

Vineyard station - Fertilization is an important and usually necessary practice in growing nearly all vegetables, fruits and ornamentals in the home garden. Unless your soil is very fertile, it will probably require fertilizer every year, but the amount needed and the analysis may vary. The right amount of the right kind, applied properly at the right time, will give the best results.

There are many different fertilizer analyses and brands available today. Most are identified by a three-number sequence such as 6-12-12, 7-7-7, etc. Remember that the first figure in the analysis is always the percentage of nitrogen in the fertilizer. The second number refers to the phosphorus content, while the last number refers to potassium (as potash). A fertilizer like 16-8-8 is high in nitrogen, while one like 5-10-30 is high in potassium and low in nitrogen.

A high-analysis fertilizer is usually a better buy per pound of plant nutrients than one with a lower analysis. For example, 15-15-15 contains 45 per cent plant nutrients, while 10-10-10 contains only 30 per cent of the same nutrients in the same ratio. Even though you will pay more for the higher analysis fertilizer, you would, in this example, apply one-third less to the same area of garden soil.

Whether to buy organic or inorganic fertilizer is a matter of personal choice. Both forms can be equally good. Organic materials are first broken down by bacteria into inorganic, water-soluble forms. Plants cannot tell if the nutrient elements entered the soil solution from organic matter, inorganic fertilizer, or the weathering of soil. Organic fertilizers will cause less burning of plants than inorganic (chemical) fertilizers when used in large applications.

The organic materials are more slowly available to plants, which means they are available to the plant for a longer time, and are less likely to be lost from the soil. However, they are more expensive than inorganic types, and most are quite low in plant nutrients. Their nutrients are in an insoluble form and are only made available to plants as the material decays in the soil.

AMOUNTS

The nutrients in inorganic (synthetic) fertilizers are in soluble form - quickly available to plants rather than long-lasting. Their nutrient content is usually quite high, thus a smaller amount is needed to provide the needed nutrients. Also, the inorganic fertilizers are usually more economical to buy. A disadvantage is that most gardeners tend to apply too much fertilizer, which is caustic to growing

Spring activities - just around the corner!

MAPLE SYRUP TIME

Elmira festival is one of largest

In many parts of eastern Canada, the first sign of spring is the trickling of sap from thousands of maple trees.

Farmers from Ontario, Quebec, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick head for the sugar bush to reap their special harvest - more than 1,500,000 gallons of maple syrup.

Usually following on their heels are thousands of sweet-toothed visitors hoping to sample some of the delicious maple syrup and sugar products and buy more for use at home.

Many farmers hold informal public parties from mid-March to late April, the usual maple syrup season. Some sugar-bush owners serve visitors hearty dishes like fried ham, omelettes, baked beans, mashed potatoes and pancakes, all dripping in syrup.

Essential to most parties is "la tite." To make it, some of the sap is boiled past the syrup stage, then poured hot onto a clean white bank of snow. The cooled taffy-treat is then wound around a stick or fork and eaten as a delicious gooey lollipop.

Dozens of Canadian centers will stage maple syrup festivals or sugaring-off parties this spring. One of the largest is held annually at Elmira, Ontario, a small rural community 12 miles north of Kitchener. It usually attracts about 20,000 visitors from Canada and the United States. This year's date is April 10.

On Maple Syrup Day, the main street is blocked off while flapjacks smothered in amber-colored maple syrup are served to the crowds. Nearby are wagons laden with farm produce, including cooked cheese, sauerkraut, beefwurst, schmeercase, summer sausage and shoofly pie.

Handmade quilts, hooked or braided rugs, cookbooks, place mats, aprons and home baking are also sold. Local artists display their work and an old fashioned soap-making kettle is kept boiling.

Visitors are also invited to tour the surrounding sugar-bush in an open sleigh. A countryside tour stops at the blacksmith's shop, general store, buggy shop and crosses a covered bridge.

WEATHER

Other areas that welcome visitors are Chrysler Farm Battlefield Park, seven miles east of Morrisburg, Ontario; Bruce's Mill Conservation Area, north of Metropolitan Toronto; and Plessisville, in the Eastern Townships region of Quebec.

Dates depend on the weather and usually can't be set long in advance. Ideal weather calls for cold frosty nights followed by sunny days with the temperature climbing to 5-10 degrees Celsius (40 or 50 degrees F).

This usually happens towards the end of March in Ontario and Quebec and a few weeks later in the Atlantic provinces. A good run may last six weeks.

The production of syrup and candy from the boiled sap of the maple tree is exclusively a North American activity. Only two of the 10 varieties of maples in Canada and 13 in the US give sap sweet enough to make syrup - the sugar maple and the black maple. The former is common in Canada.

North American Indians discovered the sweet secret of the maples. Not only did they find the taste pleasing, they found it helped to ward off scurvy (the sap is rich in Vitamin C).

Early explorers and settlers copied the gathering methods and harvested the maple sap, using the boiled product as an inexpensive cane sugar substitute. Today, in some parts of eastern Canada, the production of maple products is a multi-million dollar industry.

plants and will cause injury. Also, because some nutrients in inorganic fertilizers are very soluble, they can be lost from the plant root zone by leaching.

Shop around a bit before buying your fertilizer. Some stores will have lower prices than others. Just remember to compare prices of a similar analysis of fertilizer on the basis of price per pound of plant nutrients. Lawn fertilizers containing weed and grub killers will naturally cost more than fertilizers without these added materials. Be very careful to use these "3-in-1" fertilizers ONLY on lawns. Do not use them in vegetable, fruit and flower gardens, unless the label clearly indicates otherwise.

A soil test will prove you with accurate fertilizer recommendations. But if a soil test is not possible, you cannot go too wrong by applying about 20 to 25 pounds of 15-15-15 fertilizer, or similar analysis, per 1,000 square feet of garden soil. For lawns, use about 12 to 15 pounds of 7-7-7 or similar analysis, per 1,000 square feet, applied two or three times during the year.

IN MEMORIAMs

WATSON - In loving memory of a dear husband, father, and grandfather, Trevor Francis (Ted), who passed away April 10th, 1974. He little thought when leaving home. He would no more return. That he in death so soon would sleep, And leave us here to mourn. We do not know what pain he bore. We did not see him die, We only know he passed away, And never said goodbye. Sadly missed by wife, Maude, sons, daughters-in-law and grandchildren.

WHITEMAN - In loving memory of a dear husband, father and grandfather, Harry C. Whiteman who passed away April 11, 1975.

God looked around his garden,
And found an empty space,
He then looked upon the earth,
And saw your tired face.
He put His arms around you,
And lifted you to rest,
God's garden must be beautiful,
He took one of the best.
He knew that you were suffering,
And He knew that you were in pain,
He knew that you would never,
Get well upon this earth again,
He saw the road was getting rough,
And the hills were hard to climb,
So he closed your weary eyelids,
It broke our hearts to lose you,
But you did not go alone,
For part of us went with you,
The day God called you home,
Forever loved and missed by wife Mary,
daughters, sons, sons-in-law, daughters-in-law and grandchildren.

TODAY'S CHILD

BY HELEN ALLEN

Kenny is a pleasant, shy 13-year-old with a friendly smile to go with dark eyes, brown hair and fair, freckled skin. Anglo-Saxon in descent, he is small for his age but husky and in good health.

Kenny wants a family of his own. He knows that at 13 it's not easy for a boy to find a mother and father and he worries about growing up with the feeling he doesn't belong anywhere.

Outdoor activities such as camping and hiking, skating and snowmobiling appeal to Kenny. He enjoys sports and plays hockey and baseball.

Kenny is fond of animals and interested in motors and anything mechanical. He is in Grade eight, receiving remedial help in academic subjects. Next year he will start a vocational course leading towards his goal of becoming a truck driver.

A co-operative lad, Kenny is good company for adults once he feels comfortable with them. He has a temper but is learning to control it.

Parents who will want to spend a lot of time with Kenny and who can convince him he is really wanted will find him a rewarding son. It will be best if he is the youngest or the only child in his adoption home.

To inquire about adopting Kenny, please write to Today's Child, Ministry of Community & Social Services, Box 888, Station K, Toronto M4P 2H2. In your letter tell something of your present family and your way of life.

For general adoption information, contact your local Children's Aid Society.

Tompkins Sopha dies in hospital in 62nd year

The sudden death of Marshal Tompkins Sopha of RR 2, Marmora early Sunday came as a shock to Marmora people who have known the Sopha family for many years.

Mr. Sopha died at Belleville General Hospital. He was in his 62nd year.

The funeral will be held at Howden Funeral Home, Marmora on Wednesday, March 31, 1976, at 1:30 p.m. with Rev. John Peters officiating. Cremation will follow the service.

Bearers will be six men from the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment.

Son of the late Philip Sopha and the late former Cynthia Tompkins, he was born and educated in Marmora.

Mr. Sopha was employed with the Marmoraton Mining Company for the past 19 years.

He served overseas with Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment from 1939 to 1945.

Surviving are his wife, the former Norma Langridge; a daughter, Patricia, Mrs. John May of Toronto, and a son Philip of Kitimat, B.C.; also two step-sons, Roy Chapman of Detroit, Mich. and Robert Chapman of Napoleon, Ohio. There are 11 grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

He also leaves one sister, Mrs. Edward (Florence) Stevens of Peterborough and one brother Norman of Marmora.

Ohio man makes suggestion for mine pit

A new Knoxville Ohio man has written The Herald to suggest the Marmoraton Mine site be turned into a Provincial Park. The mine pit, after closing, could be stocked with fish, the writer suggests. He also suggests the waste material could be used to create islands in Crowe and Rice Lakes.

War buddies renewing friendships

A Marmora township man and an Second World War army buddy, who haven't seen each other for 31 years have been renewing their friendship in the past few days.

As Bill Morgan, of New Westminster, B.C. descended the steps of a bus on Sunday, following a surprise phone call last Wednesday to the home of Tom O'Connor, of R.R.1, Marmora, the two men recognized each other instantly, although they haven't seen each other since they were discharged from the army.

Mr. O'Connor reports that he and Mr. Morgan sat up until 2:00 a.m. Monday morning reliving their army days and looking at photographs of buddies whom they were able, between them, to identify.

The two men met during training at Camp Borden and became friends. Mr. O'Connor asked for and received a transfer from the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment to Mr. Morgan's outfit, the New Westminster Regiment. Overseas, they served together for five and a half years in Holland, France, Germany, Italy and North Africa.

Back in Canada after the war was over, Bill Morgan, a policeman on the New Westminster police force, and Tom O'Connor, a Marmora Township farmer, kept in touch with an occasional letter. About two years ago when he hadn't heard from his friend for some time because Mr. O'Connor's letters kept coming back to him, Mr. Morgan arranged through his own local police and the Ontario Provincial Police to establish contact again.

When Bill Morgan left on Tuesday after a busy round of visits with Tom and Mary O'Connor and their family of seven, he was planning to visit another old friend, Jack Jimson, of the Rhythm Pals, on the Tommy Hunter Show. Mrs. Morgan had remained in Toronto where she was visiting their daughter and son-in-law.

Marmora resident charged with failure to yield

A Marmora resident was charged with failure to yield following a two-car collision on Forsythe St., last Wednesday, at 12:40 p.m.

Charged is Ivar Lowe, 65, of Marmora. Mr. Lowe was pulling into the southbound lane from a parked position on the west side of the street when he was in collision with a southbound car driven by John Lees, 39, of Ottawa. Mr. Lees was pulling back into the southbound lane after passing another vehicle parallel parked on the street.

The 1972 model Lees car received $150 damage and the 1969 model Lowe vehicle $25.

No one was injured in the accident investigated by Madoc OPP Constable Gerry Rollins.

OUR ANCESTORS

"We had a wonderful Sunday drive! Only two detours, three flat tires, and stuck in the mud just once!"

LAFF of the WEEK

"YOU'VE BEEN FLOSSING MUCH TOO HARD!"

Jesus Tempted By The Pharisees

The Pharisees also with the Saducees came, and tempting desired him that he would shew them a sign from heaven.

He answered and said unto them, When it is evening, ye say, It will be fair weather; for the sky is red.

And in the morning, It will be foul weather today; for the sky is red and lowering. O ye hypocrites, ye can discern the face of the sky; but can ye not discern the signs of the times?

A wicked and adulterous generation seeketh after a sign; and there shall be no sign given unto it, but the sign of the prophet Jonas. And he left them, and departed.

TURN ON

Samantha READS YOUR STARS

ARIES (3/21-4/19): A full moon on the 14th may make you restless. It could be your night to howl with someone special, Aries. This is a better time to complete than it is to plan, savvy? Finance, more amour, and chance of a tiff complete your week with see-saw possibilities.

TAURUS (4/20-5/20): You're bright-eyed and bushy-tailed, Taurus. Springtime beckons; snatch a few minutes to be outdoors. You may be the voice of reason; hope you're not crying in the wilderness. Lots of work and unpredictable types. Later, love alights. Sun enters Taurus; more next week.

GEMINI (5/21-6/20): A young person with a problem seeks your ear, Twin. Wisdom lies in objectivity and in offering choices. Over-reaction sets in around work/project. Where's your even keel, Gem? Then, romantic smorgasbord.

MOONCHILD (6/21-7/22): Do homework early so you can be ready for... anything! Stick socially with people you know; strangers, however friendly, could prove a real bummer.

LEO (7/23-8/22): Expect confusion and some turmoil around your den, Leo. A certain situation is unstable — this week it could either fall apart or become rock of Gibraltar. You may well be deciding factor. Easter bunny brings basketful of romance. Week hops away.

VIRGO (8/23-9/22): A final payment eases your mind and a letter from afar brings lots of news. A learning situation arises. You can either expand your mind or have it blown, Virgo dear. Love sparkles and so do you.

LIBRA (9/23-10/23): You come to a decision, Lib; Sam's proud of you! Hold on to purse; if you lose now, it could be a biggie. Print a 'T' for talent, time, tact, and telephone. Week whirls away on winds of fortune.

SCORPIO (10/24-11/22): You know what they say about two great minds? 'Tain't necessarily so this week. In fact, a head-on crash between you and that other great mind is a good bet. Mull this over: The great philosopher Samantha once said, 'he who listens learns more than he who talks.'

SAGITTARIUS (11/23-12/21): Skeletons in closet may rattle their bones. If you stray from straight and narrow, you should be willing to have people find out — 'cause they will. Sorry about that. Good luck trying to beat the aspects!

CAPRICORN (12/22-1/19): A stumbling start picks up to come on strong with romantic and social highlights. Look for the sudden and unexpected from lover and friends. It's a feast or famine week. Have bi-carb on hand, Cap.

AQUARIUS (1/20-2/19): The bunny has more tricks than Halloween for you this year. It's a busy week; disputes to settle and answers to find. Extremes in emotions and in relationships are possible. Week ends with hope, Aquarius.

PISCES (2/20-3/20): Romance does what comes naturally, and it's a humdinger! Try to keep outside influences out of love life. Someone may try to snare you; tell 'em winter's over. Later, egg roll turns out to be friends bobbing up all over.

For And About Teenagers

THIS WEEK'S LETTER: I'm 14 years old and I do most of the housework plus I babysit all the time. My mother doesn't work but she's always complaining about how much housework I do. There are five kids in the family, and my grandmother stays with us a lot—making eight people in the house altogether. My sisters and brothers are all younger than me and none of them do many chores. We live in a seven-room house and it's hard doing housework, cooking, and babysitting all the time. Please give me your good advice.

OUR REPLY: Tough as it sounds, you've got to accept the way things are in your house. Your parents make the rules, and as you learn to accept more responsibility, the rules will probably change. Do the best you can with your workload. Communicate to your mother and your brothers and sisters how hard you feel your job is and ask for their help. Try and enjoy being with the kids that are younger than you are. It won't be long before you're gone and these times will turn out to be fond memories.

(Because of the volume of mail, requests for personal replies cannot be accommodated. Editorial panel selects for weekly use, letter which best represents questions and/or comments from readers. FOR AND ABOUT TEENAGERS, BOX 630, FRANKFORT, KY. 40601.)

Gas, lunch bar opens in Madoc

The new Windmill Gas and Lunch Bar opened on Saturday, April 3rd. The business, located next to the L.C.B.O. on Russel Street, is owned and operated by Bill and Diny Willemson and family.

The lunch bar is completely re-decorated and new features and equipment added. The gas bar also houses a car wash.

The lunch bar is open from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m. and the gas bar is open from 6 a.m. to 9 p.m. daily.

Congratulations to Bill and Diny on their new endeavour.

Church group may adopt Koren girl

The April meeting of St. John the Baptist ACW was held April 6 at the home of Mrs. Betty Ross.

The meeting was opened with prayers for the sick and the shut-ins.

Plans were discussed for fostering a child from Korea, a 4-year-old girl.

The Diocese ACW annual will be held April 27 in Kingston, the ladies were told. The dedication of the New Anglican Parish Hall will be held April 29 by Bishop Henry Hill, Bishop of Ontario.

The speaker for the evening, Mrs. Evelyn French, was introduced by Mrs. Kay Thompson.

Mrs. French had just returned from a holiday in which she spent time in the Holy Land and gave a talk, along with photos, on the places she had seen.

Mrs. French remarked she was very touched when she realized that, after reading the scriptures and after her Sunday School days, she was standing in the actual places to which the Bible referred.

She said she was glad to have made the trip, but felt a person should make the journey before one reaches 70 years of age.

Mrs. French was thanked for the talk and was asked questions over a lunch served by the hostess.

The meeting closed with prayers led by Kay Thompson.

The next meeting will be held May 4 at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. E. Brownson.

The guest speaker will be Delta, the Florist, who will discuss flower arrangements and will demonstrate centre pieces.

Madoc man faces charges

An 18-year-old Madoc area man was slated to appear in court Tuesday charged with three counts of break, enter and theft.

Warren Dale Monkman, 18, of R.R. 5, Madoc, was arrested and charged last Thursday in connection with three break-ins in the village in late March.

A total of $87 in cash was taken in the three thefts, all of which occurred at night. Madoc OPP Constables D. C. Bush and Walter Brown, who are investigating, said no money has been recovered.

Fifty dollars was taken from the petty cash box at Hulin's Garage and Farm Supplies on St. Lawrence Street West, $25 from the cash register at the Madoc Bowling Alley and another $12 from the Madoc COPE Centre.

Minor damage but no injuries

A collision involving a car and a deer on Highway 62, 15 miles north of Madoc last Wednesday evening resulted in minor damage but no injuries.

Howard Norman Parks, 26, of Foxboro, was southbound when he collided with a deer on the road. The Parks vehicle received $50 damage and the deer ran off unharmed.

Madoc OPP Constable Derrick Travis investigated.

Two pick-up trucks hit on highway

Two pick-up trucks collided on highway No. 7 two miles west of Madoc Sunday afternoon, resulting in $400 damage.

Steven Johnston, 18, of 188 St. Lawrence Street West, Madoc, was turning right from the westbound lane when he was hit by a second westbound truck attempting to pass on the right shoulder of the road. That vehicle was driven by William Frederick, 41, of R.R. 1, Cavan.

No one was injured and Mr. Frederick was charged with passing on the shoulder by investigating OPP Constable Bill Reid.

Antique chairs stolen from home

Two antique chairs valued at $50 were stolen from the RR 2, Maribank home of Frank Wilson some time between 5 p.m. April 3 and 9:30 a.m. April 4, Madoc provincial police have reported.

Mr. Wilson resides in Tutney, Vermont, and the theft was reported by area resident Vince Fleming.

The door of the home had been forced open, police reported.

Police charge area man

Madoc provincial police have charged an Asinolite man in connection with the break, enter and theft at the Schneiders School of Fine Arts at RR 3, Tweed.

The owners of the school told police the theft had occurred some time between March 20 and April 4 while they were absent. The stolen articles included an antique wooden chair, two coal oil lamps, and a movie projector, with a total value of $165.

Constables Bob Bonter and Dennis Bush investigated the incident.

Many break-ins Moira Lake cottages

Provincial police in Madoc last week reported receiving a rash of calls regarding break-ins at 16 different cottages on the south shore of Moira Lake, south of Madoc.

Constables D.C. Bush and Walter Brown, the investigating officers, said two juveniles were apprehended about 9 p.m. April 7 and a number of stolen goods recovered.

The 16 cottages received damages in the amount of approximately $400 to windows which had been broken to gain entry.

Included in the articles stolen was fishing equipment, four pellet guns and a rifle, with a total value of $200.

Police report most of the owners of the cottages have been notified of the thefts.

Darcy Carmen Grant dies

Born in Belleville, he is survived by brothers and sisters: Curtis, Shawna, Charlene and Carmel, all at home.

Services were held March 27 from the Free Methodist Church, Vennachar with Rev. Raymond Klatt and pastor Mrs. H. Smith officiating.

Funeral arrangements were made by the McConnell Funeral Home, Tweed.

Huntingdon names 3

Huntingdon Township Councillors Ted Pollock and Glenn Franks and resident Douglas Wood were elected last week to represent that Township on the new Madoc and District arena management board.

The appointments bring the Board to its full complement of nine members.

Madoc Village and Madoc Township announced their representatives to the Board following council meetings last Monday night. They are Councillor Ross Moorcroft and residents Raeborn Robinson and David Franks from the Township and Councillors Joe Ash and Tom Deline and Centre Hastings Secondary School Principal Bob Henderson from the Village.

By mutual agreement, construction on a new arena will not commence until all financial arrangements are complete and on the condition the total cost to the three participating municipalities does not exceed $87,000.

The new board and resolution to pursue further the possibility of building a new arena in the village came out of a public meeting held in Madoc on March 31st.

The cost of building a new arena on the Madoc and District Agricultural Society fairgrounds has been estimated at $500,000 to $550,000.

A Wintario grant from the Provincial government is expected to cover the major portion of the cost.

The arena used by the area for the past 47 years was ordered closed to the public early last month following an inspection by an engineer from the Ministry of Labour in Toronto.

Disappointment at budget

Expressing disappointment at the regressive nature of the recent Ontario budget, Walter Miller, Vice-president of the National Farmers Union, said it included the continued attack by the government on the Ontario Health Insurance program, with higher premiums, while making no attempt to get needed revenue from large industrial, financial and commercial interests.

He said it is "ironic" that some of the poorer provinces, with smaller populations and natural resources, can provide health insurance at much lower premiums and continue to expand health care, while Ontario with all its wealth continues to reduce its services, at increased premiums.

Mr. Miller said the budget reflects the results of bad management in the past, and an arrogant attitude toward the public.

He said instead of hoisting such premium increases on the public the Ontario government should at least have implemented measures to correct abuses constantly reported about laboratories, dentists and doctors taking the public purse for excessive amounts of money.

Mr. Miller said the people of Ontario have every right to demand a much better accounting of OHIP funds from the Ontario government.

"The irregularities of some have been too lightly fluffed-off, while the charge of increased medical costs are levelled at the public", he said.

IN MEMORIAM

WHITEMAN - In loving memory of a dear husband, father and grandfather,
Harry C. Whiteman who passed away
April 11, 1975.

God looked around his garden,
And found an empty space,
He then looked upon the earth,
And saw your tired face,
He put His arms around you,
And lifted you to rest,
God's garden must be beautiful,
He took one of the best,
He knew that you were suffering,
And he knew that you were in pain,
He knew that you would never,
Get well upon this earth again,
He saw the road was getting rough,
And the hills were hard to climb,
So he closed your weary eyelids,
And whispered "Peace be thine,"
It broke our hearts to lose you,
But you did not go alone,
For part of us went with you,
The day God called you home.

Forever loved and missed by wife Mary, daughters, sons, sons-in-law, daughters-in-law and grandchildren.

Voice of the people

Moving too fast?

At a meeting on April 7, 1976, we endeavoured to give the electorate an opportunity to learn the mechanics of municipal budgeting and planning.

We were pleased to see so many present at the meeting on March 31, 1976, and not have too many objectors to the new arena.
We have been accused of moving too quickly towards this arena. Is it moving too fast to plan ahead five years and be prepared financially for the inevitable? Is it moving too fast to have an organization ready to move and have a lot of the foot work done for presentation to the public, in spite of the fact since 1972 it had taken three new arena committees to succeed? Is it moving too fast to build a Senior Citizen Unit and apply for another 14 units and have the facilities to satisfy the Rules Committee? Is it moving too fast to have whole town engineered and the preliminary surveying done so we can have water and sewer in 95 per cent of the village?

Is it moving too fast to complete three streets on the budget price of one, because we had acted as contractors to our own project? Is it moving too fast to have a good ball park and swimming facilities with little hardship on the taxpayers? Was it moving too fast to see the need of the Medical Centre? Was it moving too fast to see the need of the Nursing Home? Was it moving too fast to have artificial ice even when one of the Councillors stood up at the council meeting (one of his first) and wanted to go on record that he was against it? There again he made a lot of shot rocks while curling for several years. Constructive criticism is welcome, hoping each side can gain valuable suggestions with one or the other yielding and adjusting to the better way.

It was interesting to listen to one of the ratepayers at the April 7 meeting discuss the new rink although this meeting was called to receive other complaints. He mentioned that his road was not plowed as wide as Joe Ash's. The other suggestion was the Recreation Committee, although he had spent a good deal of time with our Clerk Treasurer reviewing the books, he suggested we give the Recreation Committee three or four mills and let them handle their own business. For a few years we have been letting the Recreation Committee set their own budget and if there were adjustments it was mutually agreed to cut or add.

In closing, I would like to say since 1972 many times I have been asked "when is Madoc going to get a new arena?" My answer has always been "when the people of Madoc and district want a new arena." I felt that five years was a good time interval. The powers that be had different ideas when they closed the arena and put the new Arena Committee in high gear.
There is no stopping if this committee is given the support it deserves.

Was it moving too fast to acquire a decent fire hall before there was a catastrophe in the old hall?

If this is a "snow job", I hope we have many more. This being election year, you can exercise your franchise some time in December.

Yours truly,
T.C. Barton, Reeve of Madoc.

Budget 19% pay hike for B. of E. secretaries

The Hastings County Board of Education has approved and budgeted a 19 per cent salary increase for its 148 secretaries this year after the anti-inflation guidelines were introduced October 14th.

In its 1976 budget of $35.08 million, trustees budgeted $113,000 more for secretarial salaries, from $584,643 to $697,200. The Board hires the equivalent of 148 full-time secretaries in its schools and central offices.

Trenton trustee John Forbes, Chairman of the Board's business staff relations committee, said the actual salary agreement was closer to 17 per cent. "We (the committee) took a look at the market place in local industry and surrounding Boards and thought the increase was fair and just", he said.

The Board has a secretary turnover of about 35 per cent a year and Mr. Forbes said the committee was aware of this problem arriving at a fair settlement. The teachers last year got an average salary increase of 26 per cent six months before the guidelines were introduced.

The Board's secretaries are not represented by a union or other federation, but rather they deal directly with School Board officials.

The 1975 salary range is $99 to $175 per week. The salary range in 1974 was $79 to $150. The majority of secretaries are closer to the maximum.

Mr. Forbes said the committee began talks with the secretaries in October but an agreement was not reached until November when the Board passed the increase in closed session. The federal anti-inflation guidelines came into effect October 14th and the Board made the agreement conditional on AIB approval.

Mr. Forbes said to date the AIB has not ruled on the salary increase. He also said trustees supported the increase because salaries would be more in line with other industries.

Marj Prewer, a spokesman for the secretaries, said the increase, if approved by the AIB, "will place us more into the market place with other secretaries". Mrs. Prewer also said the agreement was sent to the AIB in early January but that the results have not been received.

"The federal guidelines caught us right in the middle of talks", said Mrs. Prewer. Mr. Forbes said the agreement was designed "to bring things up in line" with the secretaries.

The custodian workers, represented by the Canadian Union Of Public Employees, settled for an average increase of 12 per cent in March. That agreement is currently in the hands of the AIB. Contract talks with teachers are currently underway in the county.

Recreation Trail heads to new era

The Quinte-Hastings Recreational Trail (QHRT) is heading into a new era of greater public awareness - and usage, believes its new President.

The comments came last week as Fred Bemis, Belleville's economic development commissioner, took over, as new head of QHRT's Board of Directors.

The Directors form the voluntary association which has kept the big multi-purpose trail in being for the past five years.

Mr. Bemis' election begins a new era of consolidation for the QHRT.

He takes over as President from James Staveley, one of the trail's initiators and the man who headed the original volunteers through its past five formative years - when at times it appeared the facility was received with little, if any, recognition.

Since then, the provincial government has moved to recognize a need for such outdoors facilities in Ontario. The once loosely-organized QHRT itself - which often scrambled for helping participants - has now become incorporated, with its own charter. It has its own agreement drafted for property owners and liability insurance to back it up.

Mr. Staveley said last Monday, "It was a very ambitious program - probably years ahead of its time. But the concept is now proving itself".

With the basic mechanisms of a working organization in place, Mr. Bemis looks to "more active participation"

To the Members of Council, Inhabitants and Ratepayers of the Corporation of the Township of Tudor & Cashel.

We have examined the 1975 financial statements of the Corporation of the Township of Tudor & Cashel. Our examination included a general review of the accounting procedures and such tests of accounting records and other supporting evidence as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

Queen's Park Report

1976 budget reflects two significant themes

By Clarke Rollins, MPP, Hastings-Peterborough

Before launching into my first report to you about the 1976 Ontario budget, I want to express my deep appreciation to the editors of all the local weeklies in Hastings-Peterborough for providing me with the space to present this report. I hope that it proves both informative and interesting in terms of legislation and issues at Queen's Park and my own activities in the riding.

I believe that the 1976 budget reflects two significant themes in preserving our existing standard of living and making certain that our present economic recovery continues. For the first time in many years the Provincial treasurer Darcy McKeough has reversed the flow of public spending and brought forward a fiscally responsible budget. The second theme concerns the urgent necessity to help small businesses improve productivity through tax incentives (which the budget establishes). Small business forms the back bone of employment in Ontario.

A lot of my constituents ask me about the specific proposals for carrying out our restraint program and for attempting to bring inflation under some reasonable degree of control. We have accomplished these goals through:

- a 10.4 per cent limit in total government spending;
- reducing the total number of civil servants in 1975 by some 3,241 positions, with a further planned reduction of 1,000 positions by the end of the 1976-77 fiscal year;
- freezing the salaries of all senior civil servants in 1976;
- the introduction of tighter spending controls in all government ministries;
- ensuring that Ontario Hydro's borrowings were reduced by some $500 million over the next three years (that meant the cancellation or slowing down of certain generating stations);
- In getting these measures into effect, I think that we have set a good example and established strong leadership for all citizens of this fine province.

The vast majority of our citizens are doing their best to cope with inflation. They

Ladies Softball under way

A few weeks of preparation by the teams is all that is required now to get the Belleville and District Ladies Softball under way for another season.

At the executive level, everything seems to be geared for another season of activity, with league openers set for May 24th.

The league has branched out this time around, embracing an entry from Kingston, to go with the four Belleville city squads and the Purinaettes, a club based here in Madoc.

The Purinaettes will play their home games in Madoc again this year. The Belleville Yardmen Benefit Fund, Mobil Chemical, Belleville Broadloom, the Independents and the Kingston group round out the six-team league.

Because of the travelling distance between Madoc and Kingston, games between those two will be four-pointers, with each team visiting the other once.

Games in Belleville will be played at Centennial and Alemite Park, as usual. Kingston's home diamond is at Optimist Park on Bagot Street in the city.

Richard Chapman will be coaching the Purinaettes again this season. Coaches of the remaining teams are: Belleville Broadloom, Ken Genereaux, with Manager Bill Fyke; Independents, Bob Quinn and Bob Dafoe; Kingston All-stars, Joe O'Meara and Ron Murray; Mobil Chemical, George Gilchrist and Bill Cole, with Manager Bill Sinclair; and Belleville Yardmen Benefit Fund, Doug Lucas with Manager Donna Lucas.

Bill Fyke, Manager of the Broadloom team, also serves as League President, while Mrs. Lucas is doing double duty as well. She's the loop's secretary. Finishing out the executive are Vice-president Pam Smith and Treasurer Bernice Ryan.

expect governments to do the same. It is not an easy task because reductions in government spending must be completed without damaging the fine level of public services available to our people.

A Jack-the-Ripper approach to budget making is intolerable. It requires the delicate care of a top flight surgeon.

So often the statement is made that our budget limits are "cutbacks". I have to keep asking myself: how can a limit on the rate of public spending be termed a "cutback"? Personally, a cutback would mean less money for any particular ministry that was available last year. That simply is not the case. In most cases there is a limited increase.

If your government did not restrain public spending, then the rate of double-digit inflation would continue as before. And that is a frightening prospect nobody wants.

In future reports I want to outline our reasons for increasing the costs of certain services and for helping small businesses.

Meet the professionals...

Mul-lan it over...

with Don Mullan

PREMIER WILLIAM DAVIS makes a welcome visit into our part of the province next week as he comes to Centre Hastings Secondary School, Madoc, to address a nomination convention of the Hastings-Peterborough Provincial Progressive Conservative Association.

Clarke T. Rollins, the incumbent Tory who has held the area for the party at Queen's Park for the past 16 to 17 years, is seeking re-election and will unlikely be seriously opposed.

But rumors have it a resident of Marmora, Bud Loveless, former owner of the LGM Food Store, is considering taking a run at it.

Unlike the recent Liberal convention, where everyone buying a membership card could cast a ballot, the Tories restrict voting to delegates elected or appointed by municipal associations.

If no serious race for the nomination develops, the Davis speech will be the highlight of the evening, and it will be interesting to hear what he says.

HOPEFULLY, among other things, he will give us the answers to the following questions most area residents would like factual information on:

- 1- How is the government going to help the area when the Marmoraton Mines, at Marmora, close around 1980, and some 300 people are out of work?
- 2- Is the government prepared to assist us in locating secondary industry along the Highway 7 corridor in Norwood, Havelock, Marmora and Madoc, and just off the highway in Tweed, Stirling, Hastings and Campbellford?
- 3- Since the government has declared us to be a tourist area, is it prepared to help locate a major tourist attraction in the area - and or do far more in future to help us promote the natural resources tourist attraction we already have?
- 4- Since several arenas in the area have been closed, or are about to be closed, is the province prepared to help finance new or reconstructed arenas at a rate of provincial participation over and above the usual grants?

Hopefully the premier will answer these questions: and perhaps fill us in on any other plans he and his government may have for this area.

We have a right to know where he, and his colleagues, stand on these important local issues.

TEACHERS PLAY an important role in society - the preparing of our young people to take over the leadership roles in our country of tomorrow.

How sad, then, that so many thousands of Quebec teachers would vote to defy government legislation banning strikes and walk-outs for a period of 80 days.

If the teachers themselves would deliberately disobey a government order, how can we expect them to teach our young that law and order is a bulwark to the freedoms we as Canadians enjoy.

When law and order go, anarchy results, and our country would quickly head down the road into the status of some of today's banana belt republics.

SHAME, SHAME, you teachers of Quebec.

If you persist in such antics, you should get into some other profession.

Thank God the teachers of our province, and in this county in particular, are not so easily led.

Yes, we may have strikes in the profession - but when the government steps in, and orders teachers back to work, they go...like it or not.

It's a fine example for our youth.

When we in a democratic society disagree with our governments, we can actively work against them by lawful means, and elect a new government come the next election.

And this we should do.

But open defiance of our laws - never.

Anyone who deliberately breaks laws should have the 'book' thrown at them, just as we'd get if we were caught exceeding the speed limit, assaulting a neighbor or robbing the neighborhood store.

A law breaker is a law breaker and should be punished.

"YOU'RE RIGHT...IT HAS DROPPED!"

CAPITAL REPORT

Who will tell Trudeau its time for him to go?

By DOUGLAS FISHER

OTTAWA - The Gallup Poll for March confirmed what we all sensed: a government on the toboggan with its leader steadily losing favor to an available and moderately-credible alternative.

If one reads the situation as I do, that never again can Pierre Trudeau win a majority government from the Canadian electorate, then one gets to the big questions. Who tells the prime minister he must go or that he should go for the good of the Liberal Party.

Of course, it isn't or won't be that simple. Despite the fact that one can find many Liberal politicians in Ottawa, particularly members of the senate, who will talk about the prime minister stepping down well before the next election, due in the normal course in June, 1978, there are many difficult, perhaps unsolvable, problems in the way.

Will Mr. Trudeau go? Whom do the Liberals turn to as replacement?

If the prime minister insists on staying on, we can be sure that the Liberal Party (that is, the senior people of the ministry and caucus) is most unlikely to go through a self-immolation process just to lever him out.

Another point about a replacement seems sensible. The transition would have to be done neatly and quickly. The overwhelming preference would be to carry it off when Parliament is in recess. It is almost impossible to imagine Mr. Trudeau functioning in the Commons as a "lame duck". Further, he is closely linked to the Government and the prime issue of national politics, at least for the next year.

Whether he would go and how it could be managed is hard enough. Certainly, these are specific problems. A vaguer one is whom to get to replace him. Here one gets into a bog. Only two members of the present ministry are worth any consideration at all: Otto Lang and Donald MacDonald. The first one has the ambition (one thinks); with the other, it is less certain.

When I say "worth consideration", I simply means that these are the two men with the brains and drive who stand out in the cabinet, who have done some things and still clearly have lots of energy left. Neither is a naturally lovable politician. Neither is distinguished for flexibility, dexterity and persuasiveness.

The obvious alternative, John Turner, has a large constituency in the country, a much smaller one (comparatively-speaking) in the parliamentary caucus. By resigning his seat, taking a host of directorships in corporations, and by indicating his disagreement with recent economic policies of the government, Turner has almost cut himself out of any running for the leadership, if such a contest is to come fairly soon and be done with dispatch.

Perhaps the chief reasons why Pierre Trudeau is likely to continue as prime minister and party leader until 1978 and the election have little to do with a lack of men to suggest that he go or to the scarcity of strong replacements. These reasons are found in the main component of liberal parliamentary strength, the Quebec caucus. It represents 60 of the 140 odd seats held by the government.

While all Liberal MPs seem concerned about the drooping popularity of the government and the prime minister, the really wretched worry-warts are largely those who represent English Canada outside Quebec.

I find that the Quebec MPs have a concern which overshadows any fretting about the prime minister. It is the political situation in provincial politics. They see the PQ coming on strongly and the Bourassa Government, supposedly their ally, in deep trouble. Beyond their attitude that Bourassa is a heavy-handed opportunist who is bungling badly is a conviction that the federalist options ride with him and he is neither true to them nor able enough to sustain them. So most of the Quebec MPs are desperately anxious to get rid of Bourassa, much more so than they are about getting rid of Trudeau.

While there are a dozen to a score of Anglophone MPs and senators who would be ready and willing to suggest to the prime minister that he should go, it is also clear that if the main thrust came only from them, the consequences of such an intervention could be disastrous. Ideally the suggestion and the arguments for his departure should come from Quebecers, and given their preoccupation with Bourassa, this seems unlikely. Perhaps a group of Quebec business and professional men who have supported the federal Liberals strongly might take on the unenviable task but one doubts it.

In any case, all the talk about a Trudeau retirement is likely to continue just as talk until subsequent gallups and some by-elections next fall or winter prove that the party hasn't a hope of retaining power with Trudeau at the helm.

Further explanation of gun control act

By ANNE McINTYRE

The continuing public discussion of the legislation proposed under the federal government's Peace and Security Program has prompted the Department of Justice and the office of the Solicitor General of Canada to further explain itself.

The gun control legislation is contained in Bill C-83, "an act - for the better protection of Canadian society against perpetrators of violent and other crime". It is now before the House of Commons for second reading.

Copies of the bill and two booklets of explanatory notes and questions and answers were recently received by this newspaper.

"Second reading involves discussion of the principle of the bill only," states the introduction to one booklet. "It is then sent to a committee - in this case the Standing Committee on Justice and Legal Affairs - for the hearing of witnesses and detailed clause by clause, word for word examination. After this, it is referred to the House for further consideration of any changes made in committee and then given third and final reading. The same process is repeated in the Senate."

The government claims that "a reduction in the level of firearms violence cannot be obtained simply by punishing severely those who are responsible for firearms incidents." It states a concern for prevention of gun misuse.

"This can be partly accomplished by screening all current and potential possessors of firearms to weed out those whose past history suggests they might be irresponsible with a gun."

The government also states it must try to reduce gun availability.

FEWER

"Unrestricted access to a means of destruction which a gun represents cannot continue. The fewer weapons that exist in society, the fewer incidents that will confront us. And those that do remain must be kept beyond the reach of spur of the moment venting of frustration or anger."

The government says the police power to seize guns is far from arbitrary and that in the case of rifles and shotguns it proposes to licence the owners rather than register the guns.

The licensing scheme will be phased in over a three-year period and is to be self-financing.

The government does not expect everyone to turn in their guns in its proposed campaign of voluntary turn-in. Of the weapons turned over to police some will go to the RCMP firearms laboratory, some to museums for their historical value and the remainder destroyed.

Ellis suggests some changes in proposed redistribution

Stirling and Rawdon Township should rejoin the federal riding of Northumberland and Huntingdon and Hungerford townships and Tweed should comprise part of a new riding Hastings MP Jack Ellis recommended to the House of Commons last week.

Mr. Ellis made the suggestion during discussion of the objections to a commission report on the Electoral Boundaries Readjustment Act affecting Ontario.

"Each time the boundaries have been changed, there has been a disruption of traditional communities of interest," he stated.

"Now we are again faced with a severance which will put aside these regional interests. This time there seems to be an opportunity, at least partially, to correct the situation without unduly disturbing any other boundaries."

CHANGES

Mr. Ellis said his proposed changes are supported by George Hees, MP, Prince Edward-Hastings. He claimed his proposal distributes the area's population more evenly.

"I suggest that the township of Rawdon, with a population of 2,115, and the village of Stirling, with a population of 1,500, should be rejoined to the riding of Northumberland, making a new population for that constituency of 67,901. Let the two townships of Huntingdon, with a population of 1,635, and Hungerford with a population of 2,292, and the village of Tweed with a population of 1,738, be rejoined to the area to the south to be called Prince Edward, which will increase that constituency to 72,394.

On checking the arithmetic this will leave the proposed riding of Hastings-Frontenac with a population of 65,436. Very quickly we will see that this leaves a population in the area spread much more evenly than would be the case under the proposal now put forward by the commission."

One foot in the furrow'

Would you believe some farmers know how to write? Only last week, this corner suggested many agriculturalists have forgotten how because so few put their thoughts on paper. Yet, six letters — count 'em, Mr. Editor — six letters arrived this week and five of them were in support of the column written last week explaining why farmers should support marketing boards.

One from the Stratford area said I should have explained just what the Ontario Farm Products Marketing Board is so that consumers have an idea that farm marketing boards are not a power unto themselves.

Another from the Kincardine area, up in Bruce County, and a third from the Marmora area in eastern Ontario, said I should have explained that only five boards in Ontario are subject to any quota system of production limits.

Too many consumers, said these letters, have an idea that these farm marketing boards set production quotas which, in turn, keep prices at an artificially high level. But, said the writers, only five boards have this power and those boards found it necessary to establish a quota system to keep a steady stream of quality products getting to the consumers.

Milk, for instance, falls into this category along with tobacco, eggs and broiler chickens. And nobody could possibly suggest that the Ontario Milk Marketing Board has not brought order out of chaos in the dairy business.

"Now," said a Drayton letter, "it is up to the federal government to come up with a long-term dairy policy so that we can plan properly for two or three years."

And a cash crop farmer from the Dresden area simply scribbled "thanks" on a piece of paper, signed it, and mailed it.

Finally, a beef farmer from the Brighton area south of Highway 401 down near Bowmanville said: "I'll be strung up by my thumbs if you mention my name but I think the beef industry would surely benefit if a marketing board were organized for us."

He was, of course, referring to the fact that beef farmers across Ontario have vehemently opposed the formation of a marketing board through the Ontario Cattlemen's Association.

The Ontario Farm Products Marketing Board, then, is the policing agent for more than 40 marketing boards within this province. All boards are subject to legislation. None of them is allowed to operate outside the law. Their actions are carefully monitored by this agency of the government. Members include senior civil servants, three farmers and the chairperson of the Ontario chapter of the Canadian Consumers Association.

To quote big Jim Boynton, manager of the Ontario Commodity Council: A farmer should be able to anticipate a reasonable return on his capital investment for the risks he takes. If this return is not provided then the drift from the farm and into industry or commerce will likely accelerate.

"Without an internal food production and processing system, Ontario — and Canadian — consumers will be denied the benefits of price competition between domestic and imported products," says Mr. Boynton. "As world food supplies continue to decline, the prices demanded may well become a secondary situation."

"Farm products marketing boards provide a measure of protection for Ontario producers and directly benefit the consumer both in short term and the long."

Of course, you say, Jim Boynton will say such things. He's hired by the Ontario Commodity Council to make these statements.

It doesn't matter where the statements come from if they are true. Ontario people need a viable agricultural community more than the agricultural community needs them. Without successful farmers, more than 40 per cent of the gross national product in this country would disappear.

When a commodity cannot be produced in Ontario — such as coffee — or when an industry is allowed to die — such as the sugarbeet industry — look what happens to the prices of those products. Somebody else calls the tune and we all know what is happening to the price of coffee and what happened a few months ago to the price of sugar.

Who, in his right mind, would want the same thing to happen to all farm products?

More Wintario grants

Grants amounting to $40,483 for five Hastings County projects have been approved from the proceeds of the Ontario Lottery it was announced this week by the Ministry of Culture and Recreation.

The village of Frankford will receive a $37,500 grant to help finance major renovations to its community centre.

The Sweet Adelines Inc., Bay of Quinte Chapter in Belleville, will receive $1,133, to help pay for uniforms and music and a $1,000 grant will be made to the Carlow Township Senior Citizens Committee in Bancroft to assist in the publication of a book on the history of Carlow Township. A $600 grant will go to the Huron Park Minor Hockey Association in Exeter to purchase hockey equipment and the Belleville Amateur Baseball Association will use a $250 grant to help purchase uniforms.

Culture and Recreation Minister Robert Welch said the grants are part of the ongoing Share Wintario program to support cultural and recreational activities.

Mr. Welch said to date the ministry has allocated $27 million to more than 1,000 groups and projects across the province.

Died suddenly as the result of a drowning accident April 11, 1974.

Two years have past since that fatal day God called our dear son away,

He left us quietly

His thoughts unknown,

We are proud to own,

So treasure him Lord

In your garden of rest,

For when on earth

He was one of the best.

Name of game - hanging on to power!

By Peter Ward

OTTAWA — SF — So we're finally going to have a by-election in the riding of St. John's West. There'll be plenty of time for a campaign, because the election won't be held until Oct. 18, which happens to be Prime Minister Trudeau's birthday, a fact of which he reminded us.

The law states that a by-election must be called within six months of a Parliamentary seat being declared vacant. Walter Carter resigned the St. John's West seat to run for the Provincial Newfoundland Tories last September, and Mr. Trudeau waited until the last possible day before announcing the date of the by-election. He also broke accepted practice by failing to call a by-election in Ottawa Carleton riding, the seat let vacant by John Turner's resignation.

Yet when Gerard Pelletier resigned from cabinet and the House of Commons, a by-election was called in his Hochelaga riding, and the election held six weeks after the seat was declared vacant.

The difference, of course, is that St. John's West, is traditionally a Tory seat; and the Liberals are in real danger in Ottawa Carleton.

Hochelaga, on the other hand, was considered a safe Liberal seat — although Pierre Juneau got clobbered by the Tories in the by-election. Mr. Trudeau himself admitted that it was party politics which made him decide to hold off on the other two by-elections as long as possible.

There is absolutely no precedent for waiting so long to call by-elections in vacant House of Commons seats, except when a general election is expected soon. Our next general election, unfortunately, isn't due until 1978 or possibly 1979.

Meanwhile it matters not to the Trudeau government that the people of St. John's West must go without Parliamentary representation until Oct. 18 — a total of 13 months unrepresented; or that the people of Ottawa Carleton must wait in limbo, not knowing how long they must wait before being granted the right to vote for and elect a new Parliamentary representative.

The name of the game, in Mr. Trudeau's terms, is hanging onto power, and to blazes with the rights of anyone who might get in the way.

(Suburban Features)

In 1897, William Wakeham, the veteran commander of the fisheries patrol in the Gulf of the St. Lawrence, sailed to Cumberland South in Baffin Island where he hoisted the Union Jack and proclaimed Canadian sovereignty over the Arctic Islands.

Commercial flying to Canada's north began in 1920 producing a remarkable crop of daring bush pilots. One of these, W.R. "Wop" May, in bitter cold January weather, carried diphtheria antitoxin 500 miles north from Edmonton to Fort Vermilion in the open cockpit of an Avro Avion.

It was a Western Canada airways plane, piloted by W. Leigh Brintnell, that took Gilbert Labine north on the journey which resulted in the discovery of uranium at Great Bear Lake.

SADIE ARMSTRONG

AT Hotel Dieu Hospital Kingston, on Sunday April 4, 1976 Sadie Armstrong of Madoc in her 41st. yr. beloved wife of Edward R. Armstrong dear daughter of the late Allan and Ottilie Smith dear mother of James of Madoc and the late Allan, dear grandmother of Edward A. Armstrong and Troy S. Armstrong.

A total of 7,800 summer jobs will be available for students this year through Ontario Experience '76 - the provincial government's summer employment program for students.

Application deadlines to the various ministries involved are April 12th for post-secondary students and April 30th for secondary students, reports a representative Hugh O'Neil, MPP Quinte.

The following outlines information on ministries and jobs available. Further details are available from Ontario Experience '76, Queen's Park, Toronto, Ontario M7A 1A2, or from the ministries responsible.

Agriculture and food

Young people are needed to assist in the development of Ontario's Agricultural Museum at Milton, through research, cataloguing, restoration of agricultural artifacts. First-year university students may apply for work on a program to aid development of pest management for horticultural crops through collection and recording of weather and pest data. Post-secondary school students, enrolled in engineering, technical and agricultural courses are needed (10 positions) for topographical surveying and the design of tile drainage systems on agricultural lands.

Civil Service Commission

Secondary school students taking clerical or business options may apply for 175 positions involving re-organization and consolidation of personnel files.

Colleges and Universities

Senior secondary school or post-secondary students may obtain interest-free loans to a maximum of $1,000 to own and operate their own summer business under the venture capital program. Applications are evaluated by the local Chamber of Commerce and passed to a provincial board for consideration. Another program co-ordinated through the Junior Achievement organization of Canada encourages students to develop and operate low-risk businesses with guidance from trained staff, with some initial capitalization. For native secondary school students only, there are positions on university or college campuses in academic or administrative departments, to encourage native secondary students to continue their education.

Community and Social Services

There are 121 positions for post-secondary students with an interest in the human services field - to work in ministry district offices, assisting social workers, protective service workers, vocational rehabilitation counsellors.

Culture and Recreation

There are several programs under this Ministry's jurisdiction. Positions are available on projects to develop useful community cultural and recreational programs for all ages, and cataloguing work in museums. Some 220 positions are available, obtaining "internship" experience in technical, performance and administrative activities in the performing arts, also in provincial art galleries.

Education

There are 772 opportunities under a program operated in co-operation with local school boards to undertake a wide variety of projects of an educational nature, also providing a direct benefit to the community. Requirements will vary according to individual board projects and the exact locations of these opportunities will not be announced until the end of April.

Environment

A variety of opportunities in environment-related projects operated both within the ministry and in co-operation with universities, community colleges and recognized environmental groups - mostly for post-secondary students.

Health

First and second-year medical students may apply for 30 positions as ambulance driver attendants to supplement ambulance services during the peak summer period throughout Ontario, especially the Wasaga and Crystal Beach area. Secondary and post-secondary students may apply for 167 positions in one of the provincial psychiatric hospitals, motivating better patient participation in social, recreational and therapeutic activities.

Housing

Some 80 positions for secondary students. An opportunity to develop leadership qualities through on-job training in recreation programs of various Ontario Housing projects throughout the province. Also, for senior post-secondary students, work with municipalities on community renewal programs - requires strong background in planning, urban studies, community development and related disciplines.

Industry and Tourism

Employment with the 12 provincial travel associations as information and travel counsellors. Also 12 positions as marketing assistants for senior and post-secondary students enrolled in a marketing program.

Labour

A province-wide construction industry survey. Applicants must be over 18 and have access to car. Post-secondary student, preferably in business, commerce and finance, may also apply to work in industry personnel offices - including recruitment, compensation, employee benefits. There are also ten positions for post-secondary students in the field of social services, working on a project to highlight the community and education work of the Ontario Human Rights Commission. A further ten positions for similar students are available on job market research in Toronto, and at a Resource Centre, also in Toronto.

Natural Resources

Secondary and post-secondary students may apply for work with conservation authorities - manual, clerical and technical positions. Also district offices of the Ministry have some 1,288 positions in the field of resource management.

Correctional Services

Secondary, post-secondary and law students may apply for 51 opportunities to be exposed to the day-to-day operations of police forces. Students will not engage in actual police work, but will, depending on training and experience and type of positions available, be employed in clerical or support type functions. Some positions may require working shifts.

keep noise down

Industry was recently warned that unless noise levels are kept within safe limits, compensation costs for hearing loss "will sooner or later exceed the cost of all other occupational diseases combined."

The warning came from technical consultant Stan Webb during the recent annual safety conference of the Industrial Accident Prevention Association in Toronto.

"Noise induced hearing loss is irreversible and may become the greatest compensation problem of the times," stated Mr. Webb.

He added that unduly high noise levels lower productivity, have adverse psychological effects and lower attention and alertness all of which are potential accident causes he added.

Hearing loss was classed as a compensable industrial disease in 1947. By 1975 the number of incidents of hearing loss climbed to 1,519 from 14 during the first nine years.

Industry was also warned not to expect employees to correct accident causing errors unless efforts are made to control unsafe working conditions.

Edward Dafoe dies in hospital

Mr. Dafoe had been employed at the Canadian General Electric Company in Peterborough until failing health had forced him to retire in 1965. He had been a former resident of Havelock, having moved to Peterborough 33 years ago.

He is survived by his wife, the former Eva Kelly, one daughter Mrs. Ronald Tyndall (Shirley) and two sons, Jack and Grenville, all of Peterborough; his mother, Mrs. Myrtle Dafoe of Havelock; four sisters, Mrs. Madeline Mack, Mrs. Archie McArthur (Rhoda), Mrs. Herman Wheeler (Geraldine), all of Havelock, Mrs. Evelyn Davis of Nipigon; two brothers, Lloyd of Havelock and Harry of Campbellford; and six grandchildren.

His father, Howard, and one brother, Harold, predeceased him.

The service was held at the Brett Funeral Chapel, Havelock, with Rev. T.B. Asbell officiating. Temporary entombment was at the Havelock Rotary vault. Burial will be at the Maple Grove Cemetery.

Havelock man taken to hospital

An RR 2, Havelock man was taken to Campbellford Memorial Hospital with cuts and bruises Sunday afternoon after his car collided with a second vehicle on County Road 36, two miles west of Highway 30.

The driver of the second car, William T. Thompson, of Havelock escaped injury.

getting our tongue between our teeth so how can you expect a production worker to do 10 or 20,000 operations a day and never make a mistake?" safety consultant Don Campbell asked the conference.

"A good machine guarding program can be profitable, because it reduces downtime and losses. "We have a moral obligation to our people, and a legal responsibility under the Industrial Safety Act, which states that if a machine or piece of equipment has an exposed moving part that may be hazardous, it must be equipped with a guard or device to prevent access to the moving part."

said disgraceful

The prison situation in Canada is disgraceful and its courts are without proper facilities and working conditions the president of the International Criminal Police Organization (Interpol) stated recently.

William L. Higgit, a law enforcement officer with the RCMP for 36 years and president of the Canada Safety Council as well as heading Interpol said inhuman treatment and harsh repressive measures against prisoners is not appropriate in this country and must never be permitted.

He also said that Canadian courts have not been provided with proper facilities or working conditions and that the long delays between offence and trial should be reduced.

Mr. Higgit's remarks were made to the annual safety conference of the Industrial Accident Prevention Association in Toronto.

Two contesting union presidency

The 250 hourly-rated employees of the Marmoraton Mining Company vote on Tuesday of this week to decide who will be president of Local 4854, United Steelworkers of America, for the next three years.

Contesting the election against incumbent Bill Jones is Roy Frost, a former president who resigned in September 1974 during his second term of office.

Mr. Jones is completing his first term as president although he has served on the executive in other capacities as well.

At the time of his resignation, Mr. Frost claimed that he was doing so because of internal pressures from within the national organization.

Whichever man is chosen, they face a great responsibility in that it will be up to him to lead a fight to obtain the best possible terms for their fellow workers as the mine heads into the final years of operation. It is expected closure will come in or about 1980.

The position of vice president is also up for election, between Wilfred Terrior, who has held the post, and Tom Lindale.

Carl McCoy will be opposing Nick Price in his bid for the job of treasurer.

A four-man grievance and negotiating committee will be elected from among the six contenders: Cec Bell, Roy Frost, Carl McCoy, Bill Jones, Tom Lindale and Wilf Terrior.

Voting began with the 4-12 shift Monday evening and concluded with the day shift Tuesday at 4 p.m. at the trailer booth parked at the gate of the mine. The results will be announced by auditors John Van Heukelom, Everett Barrons and Bernard Doyle at Tuesday night's union meeting.

Start wheels to realize $245,000 for new arena

The wheels have been set in motion to get the new Community Centre off and rolling. Donations and pledges are starting to be received by the chairman of the finance committee for the project, said Tom Deline, Madoc councillor.

Money has been received from the Ladies Auxiliary for Minor Sports and from the Madoc and District Minor Sports Association, said Mr. Deline. There has also been pledges from several individuals totalling over $1,000 who wish to remain anonymous, he said.

To help raise money for the project, two community events have been planned to date. The Kiwanis Club is sponsoring a dinner and with the Ian Tyson Show as entertainment to be held May 29.

Tickets for the dinner and show will be available from Madoc Kiwanis members, said Mr. Deline. The price of the ticket has not as yet been confirmed.

If you have the right ticket, you may be the winner of half a beef. A draw to be held monthly until September will give one lucky person a fair portion of steaks, hamburger and assorted cuts. The first draw is scheduled for May 29.

Body of 36-year-old found by OPP divers

The body of a 36-year-old Stouffville man was found Saturday by divers of the Belleville detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police.

Pronounced dead by drowning is Peder Christensen of RR 3, Stouffville.

The Madoc detachment said Mr. Christensen was in a four-man canoeing trip on the Skootamatta River about 11 miles north-east of Tweed which began Friday, April 16.

The drowning occurred when one of the two canoes turned over in rough water. Otta Hansen, 23, of Burlington, the other occupant in the canoe, held on and drifted to shore, police said. A rescue attempt by Kaarle Iloa and Jim Dedersen, also on the trip, was unsuccessful.

The divers from the Belleville detachment began their search Friday night.

Provincial road projects for year include nine miles of Madoc resurfacing Provincial road projects for the year in Hastings County include nine miles of resurfacing in the Madoc area.

In a year of restraint, the longest project in the county is a 16-mile paving job on Highway 60 in North Hastings.

The details are shown in the 1976-77 construction program released by the Minister of Transportation and Communications, James Snow. Freeway development maintains a prominent position in this year's priorities.

The $362.1 million program proposes work on a total of 659 miles of highways - with most of the work on two-lane roadways.

Financial restrictions have resulted in only the most essential work being considered, said Mr. Snow.

Each project was selected on need, subject to budgeting.

The biggest local project is the repaving of Highway 127 from Lake St. Peter north to Highway 60 near Whitney. Highway 62 will be resurfaced for 9.6 miles from Madoc to Bannockburn.

Other work includes clearing along 10 miles of Highway 37 between Roslin and Tweed and clearing 6.5 miles of Highway 14 from Springbrook to Marmora.

Also included is current work to electrical and mechanical repairs on the swing span on the Bay Bridge between Belleville and Rossmore. More than a mile of Brighton's main street on Highway 2 was scheduled for reconstruction work.

A section of Highway 36 from South Junction Secondary Buckhorn easterly to Highway 28, about eight miles, is also scheduled for clearing, according to MPP Clarke Rollins.

Highway 507 will have three projects for grading, drainage and granular base, reported the Hastings-Peterborough MPP. All of the projects are north of the junction with Highway 36, starting 4.4 miles north, but not extending 6.6 miles north.

Roslin man in stable condition

A 27-year-old Roslin man is reported in stable condition at Kingston General Hospital following a motorcycle accident one mile north of Roslin last week.

Driver of the motorcycle was Bill Bailey, provincial police report.

Police said Mr. Bailey was northbound when he apparently lost control of his motorcycle and landed in the east ditch. He was taken to the Belleville General Hospital and later transferred to the Kingston hospital.

Damage to the motorcycle was estimated by police at $500.

Limit hike

The council for the Townships of Tudor and Cashel will not honor any board of education request for funds exceeding eight per cent above the 1975 requisition.

At their April 9 meeting, council based its decision upon adhering to the restraint guidelines of the provincial government.

If the increased education requisition is accepted, it would "place a great financial burden on all municipalities," states the council motion.

A copy of the resolution will be forwarded to local members at Queen's Park and to the Minister of Education.

Two building permits were issued in April for construction in Deloro Village.

Asks Ministry to review plans for Marmora dam

The water control committee of the Crowe Valley Conservation Authority has asked the Ministry of the Environment to review the engineering plans prepared by Kilborne Engineering Co. for the proposed repair of the Marmora dam and to submit a full report within a month.

The Kilborne plans were studied at a meeting Wednesday, April 14, between the water control committee and ministry engineers and several changes in the plans were recommended.

The committee felt a full review was warranted because of the changes to be made and placed a time limit on it in view of the urgency to get the project underway.

"We need that report as soon as possible so we can get moving on the repairs before winter sets in next fall," authority chairman John Wilkes explained.

Marmora Village's representative on the Authority, Ralph Neal, disclosed last week that if plans for the repair of the Marmora dam proposed by one engineering company are accepted it will mean an expenditure of $4,000,000.

The Authority included $100,000. in this year's budget in case they found themselves in a position to begin replacing the present dam or make necessary repairs.

Deloro backs county resolution

Deloro Village Council has endorsed a resolution proposed by Hastings County Council that would demand that the school board's requisitions be held to an eight-per-cent increase. Copies of Deloro's endorsement will be sent to Education Director Eric Runacres and Clarke T. Rollins, Hastings-Peterborough MPP.

The population of Deloro is 243 persons, not 400 as was listed in a Marmora Herald article on the different levies local municipalities will pay.

Seek amendments to allow bounties

Letters will be sent from both the Hastings County council and the Lennox and Addington County councils endorsing that amendments to allow bounties be made to existing legislation over predatory animals.

In a letter dated April 7, Carl Bateman, Hastings clerk-treasurer, wrote that the county, "has written the minister of natural resources asking that it (bounties) be re-instituted." The decision to endorse the motion was made during the last session of Hastings County Council.

The Lennox and Addington Council endorsed the letter. It was moved by Camden Reeve, Duane Williams and seconded by Bath Village Reeve Clarence Hezadorn.

Mr. Bateman in the letter stated that no legislative authority exists for the payments of bounties.

The question of bounties was raised by Ray Black, a local trapper who presented a brief concerning predatory animals to Hastings County council. Mr. Black said in his brief he is mainly familiar with the area north half of Marmora Township and the south half of Lake Township. He said he realized, "some of these problems do not exist elsewhere in the county."

milestone as poems come off presses

Last Wednesday marked an important milestone in the life of Queensboro resident, Mrs. Edith (Gibbie) Holmes. Her book of poems was off the presses and ready for sale. Entitled, My Memory Book of Poems, the book features a collection of poetry written over the years since she was in her late teens.

Many reflect on special events in her family's history, social events in her neighborhood, and clubs and organizations which she has been involved throughout her life. Always having an interest in the art of writing, Mrs. Holmes, who has also written a few short stories, had had these published in the Tweed News in earlier years, and some of her poems have appeared in The Madoc Review.

She has been correspondent for The Madoc Review since the late twenties, starting out corresponding for the North Scotch Settlement. She dropped the job for a while and then started up again years ago.

Mrs. Holmes was active in all phases of the community life, and was the first leader for the Girl's 4-H Homemaking Club, which started in 1946. Her poems reflect on various positions she has held in church work, and with the Women's Institute.

Mrs. Holmes' disappointments in life have been few. She says she wanted to go to high school, but only passed Senior 4 (grade eight). At one time she wanted to be a ballet dancer, but the opportunity just wasn't there. She also wished to take music lessons. Even without lessons she is a good piano player, playing by ear.

"I have at last achieved one of my ambitions - to have some of my compositions compiled in a book," said Mrs. Holmes. "In late years, I have a new ambition, that of making quilts from my own original patterns, of which I have made three. I have started on some more but I don't know when I'll get another one done."

Mrs. Holmes is a mother of two and grandmother of 12 and great grandmother of five. She has resided in the village of Queensboro since 1946. She and her husband farmed in the Cooper area when they were first married. During the forties, Mrs. Holmes enjoyed doing home nursing in the community.

Copies of this collection of poetry recollecting a lifetime of hardships and enjoyment is now available for the public. Copies are available from the author or from The Madoc Review Ltd. at $5 each. There is a limited quantity available.

at authorities meet

A public meeting was held in Cannifton on Friday between government representatives, members of the Moira River and Crowe Valley Conservation Authorities and a lot of angry residents whose homes were involved in the recent flooding.

"It was an opportunity for a lot of people to get their frustrations aired," Crowe Authority chairman John Wilkes observed.

Accompanying Mr. Wilkes to the meeting was Reeve Jack Reynolds of Marmora Village, Reeve Ritchie Wells of Marmora and Lake Townships, Ralph Neal, the village's representative and Mrs. Betty Freyborg, secretary-treasurer of the Authority.

"Many of the ratepayers were angry, claiming they didn't get the flood warning soon enough," Mr. Wilkes explained.

The local delegation, for the most part, were onlookers at a meeting where the main topic was the flooding of the Moira water system, and the resulting damage to property and homes in the low lying Foxboro area.

Clarke T. Rollins, MPP for Hastings-Peterborough, announced that the provincial government had agreed to pay $25,000 towards a cost-benefit study on the effects of six privately owned dams on the Moira watercourse. The Authority will have to subscribe another $10,000 towards the total cost of the study.

Harold Thompson, MRCA chairman, said he believed the Authority would raise the remaining money because the "study must be done". The Authority itself has control over two dams in the system. The others, privately owned, one dating from 1927, were never intended as flood control mechanisms.

Historically Moira floods have been caused by ice jamming the dams and causing backup but this year unpredictable warm temperatures and rain melting ice in the northern township created the unforeseen problem.

Receive $210 grant from QH Committee

The Canada Manpower Centre for Students (CMCS) has received a $210 grant from the Quinte-Hastings Committee for Employment (QHCE) for its poster and essay contest this year, says Peter Fleming, CMCS student placement officer.

This is the second year QHCE has sponsored the competition which was operated as just a poster contest for the first time in 1975 but which has been expanded to include essays this year.

Open to all high school students, the competition will be conducted in seven secondary schools in Hastings County, including Centre Hastings Secondary School in Madoc. Other schools involved are five in Belleville, and the North Hastings Secondary School in Bancroft.

There will be two prizes of $20 each in each school for the best poster and best essay. Deadline for entries is April 30.

The essay topic is Why Hire A Student, while format will be open for the posters.

Mr. Fleming said the best posters, not just the winning ones, will be displayed both in the community and in CMCS when it opens officially May 1.

He noted objectives of the competition are to encourage the students to start thinking about summer employment; to encourage students to take an active part in CMCS; and to promote student employment to employees in the community in general.

Present brief on Deloro water services

A brief regarding the new well and water services to be supplied for Deloro residents was presented by Reeve Doug Lynch at a meeting last week between Deloro Village Council and C.E. McIntyre of Kingston, Regional Director and John Tooley, of Belleville, area manager, of the ministry of the environment.

The brief was favorably received by the ministry representatives.

Council has had a new well drilled and is now prepared to go ahead with test pumping, etc. required before the well goes into public service. The new well will act as an auxiliary to the present one and should prevent any future shortage of water as was experienced this past year.

No charge for pulling teeth

with Karen Jones

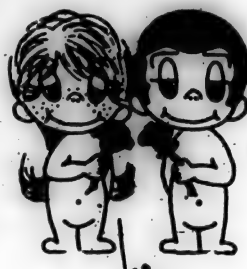

I received this week a few words, of old news from Mrs. Florence Bateman.

"In 1882, a dentist in Madoc charged the following for his services - finishing teeth, 60 cents; extraction, free; and filling, 35 cents."

Malaria fever was very common in Madoc in 1882. They believed it was caused by high water.

A dam was built on Deer Creek from Rollins Mill (presently Co-op) and measured 50 yards wide and .25 miles long. This dam, built in 1882, caused exceptionally high water in the mill pond which stretched down to Stoklosars'.

In 1880, three barrels of frog legs from Mill Pond were shipped from Marmora and in 1892, 1,000 pounds of frog meat from the pond were shipped from Campbellford to Albany, N.Y., at 39 cents a pound.

...a rose for giving
...and forgiving.

for Madoc area men

A group in Madoc and the surrounding area are forming a "slow-pitch" softball league which they hope will consist of four to six teams.

Competition is to be minimal with the emphasis on fun. The group hopes that 80 men, 18 years of age or over, from Madoc Township, Madoc Village, Elzevir and Huntingdon Townships will sign up for a couple of nights a week for a small fee. Games will probably be played two or three nights a week, starting at 8:30 p.m.. No previous experience is necessary.

Anyone interested is asked to leave their name and phone number at Kramp's BP in Madoc.

The schedule is to begin when the spring crops are in. Any funds remaining at the end of the season will go to the Community Centre project.

AUDITORS' REPORT

TO THE SUPPORTERS OF THE HASTINGS COUNTY BOARD OF EDUCATION

We have examined the Balance Sheet of The Hastings County Board of Education as at December 31, 1975, the Revenue Fund Statement of Operations and the Capital Fund Statement of Operations for the year then ended. Our examination included a general review of the accounting procedures and such tests of accounting records and other supporting evidence as we considered necessary in the circumstances. In our opinion these Financial Statements present fairly the financial position of the board as at December 31, 1975 and the results of its operations for the year then ended, in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted for Ontario school boards applied on a basis consistent with that of the preceding year except for the change in accounting for fixed assets as described in note 1(c).

1. ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Those accounting policies deemed to be significant are as follows:

(a) Accrual Accounting

The accrual method for reporting revenue and expenditure has been used with the exception of reporting of charges for net long term liabilities: Principal and interest charges on debentures outstanding are not accrued from the due date of the last payment to the end of the year.

Expenditure is reported in the period in which goods were received, or the services rendered. Goods received during the period are charged directly to the appropriate expense accounts and no inventories of goods and supplies remaining on hand at the end of the period are reflected.

(b) Expenditure - Trainable Retarded

All data with respect to the operation of schools for the trainable retarded are incorporated in the financial statements for secondary schools.

(c) Fixed Assets

Fixed assets are charged to current expenditure unless financed by long term debt. Principal and interest charges on net long term liabilities are included in expenditure for the period due. Fixed assets are included in the Capital Fund Balance Sheet only to the extent of the balances of the related net long term liabilities outstanding and of the related temporary financing at the end of the fiscal year.

For 1974 and prior years, fixed assets were reported at cost.

(d) Net Long Term Liabilities

Debentures are recorded as unmatured debenture debt in the year of sale.

(e) Sick Leave Benefits

Under the sick leave benefit plan, unused sick leave accumulates to a maximum of 300 days for academic staff and to 240 days for other staff. Employees are only entitled to a cash payment upon retirement and it is the Board's accounting policy not to provide a liability for future retirement payments. Payments to retiring employees are recorded in the year an employee retires.

(f) Revenue and Capital Fund Balance Sheets

The assets and liabilities of the elementary and secondary schools are combined and presented as one statement of position at the end of the year. An exception to this is the separate disclosure of the under- and over-requisition position of municipalities with respect to each panel.

2. DEBT CHARGES AND CAPITAL LOAN INTEREST

Open drive for funds

September, a new freezer will be given away along with the beef, said Mr. Deline. The price of the tickets are $1 a piece. The draws are handled by the Madoc and District Minor Sports Association.

Within the next week, said Mr. Deline, a letter will be mailed to local residents to explain the facts about the new centre.

The decision to build a new centre was made Monday, April 5, at the monthly meeting of the Madoc Village and Madoc Township councils. The project is being taken on by the tri-municipalities of Huntingdon Township, the Village of Madoc and Madoc Townships.

At the April 5 meeting, Lorne Williams of the Ministry of Culture and Recreation said local residents would be faced with raising $187,000 of a $500,000 cost estimate.

The site for the centre is set for the fairgrounds, will provide no cost for acquisition, and provide adequate parking, said a recreation committee member.

The people and the organizations which have donated money to the building of the new community centre to date are: The Ladies Auxiliary for Minor Hockey $1,500, and the Madoc and District Minor Sports Association $500. There was a previous bank balance of $1,024.38.

CONSERVE

Don't waste a drop!

After the furnace, the water heater is the biggest user of energy in your home. Waste hot water, and you're wasting valuable energy.

That's a good reason for getting full value from your water heater in every way you can. By fixing leaky faucets. By insulating long runs of hot water pipe. By waiting until you have a full load before you switch on the clothes or dishwasher. By using cold or cool water when it will do the job. By taking shorter showers or shallower baths. By making sure that all the hot water that eventually goes down the drain works hard for you before it goes.

The Cascade electric water heater gives you a dependable supply of hot water and it makes good use of all the energy it consumes. But it's up to you to use hot water wisely. Don't waste a drop.

Mul-lan it over... with Don Mullan

SOME PEOPLE say Attorney-General Roy McMurtry is sticking his nose into big league hockey just to make a name for himself.

Could be! After all, many people think Mr. McMurtry is becoming the heir apparent to King Billy himself...Darcy McKeough, of course, being a solid objector on this theory.

Publicity????...it sure isn't going to hurt him.

But whether McMurtry is looking ahead to the throne, or not, really doesn't matter at this point.

What does matter is that he is actually trying to do something about violence in hockey.

And on this count, we are solidly behind him.

WE DON'T NEED violence in hockey to sell the game in Canadian arenas.

We don't need violence in hockey to sell the game on TV.

We don't need violence in hockey to attract players to the game - professionally or locally. In fact, violence sometimes persuades good players to get the heck out while they are still in one piece.

And we don't want our youngsters watching same on the 'boob tube', and then trying to reenact what they've seen in the local arena.

Why, then, permit it to run wild as was the case in the NHL playoff between Toronto Maple Leafs and Philadelphia Flyers last Thursday?

McMURTRY, AS OUR MAN in charge of law and order in this province, says the NHL and other hockey leagues, should be able to police themselves.

And if they would, there would be no reason for McMurtry, Toronto's finest, or anybody else, to get involved.

But the NHL doesn't want to police itself any further than tokenism permits - a game's suspension here, a few dollars there!

But real stiff penalties - never!

CLARENCE CAMPBELL, King Billy's NHL counterpart, is asleep at the switch. And perhaps on purpose.

He doesn't want to get involved in the curbing of violence in hockey, because some people say it is needed to sell tickets in U.S.A. cities.

We really don't believe it.

All we need is some good ole fashioned hockey the way the game used to be played, and we'd have sold out signs everywhere.

Sure, there was violence in last Thursday's Leaf-Flyer game. But there wasn't any in the Saturday re-match.

And yet, that Saturday game was one of the most exciting of the season - good solid two-way hockey that over the years have made the game Canada's national past-time.

VIOLENCE DOESN'T even make good players.

Take Borje Salming, the all-star defenceman with the Toronto Maple Leafs, for example.

Nobody can say he hasn't got guts - he has to have more than his share to drop down in front of those blistering pucks each game, preventing hundreds of shots on goal each season.

Nobody can say he isn't a good two-way man, and one of the best skaters in the league.

But he doesn't like violence. He doesn't believe it is necessary.

And the tangle he had with Flyers' Mel Bridgman in that Thursday game was his first fight in three seasons in the National Hockey League. Bridgman was charged with assault causing bodily harm for his part in the fracas - two others Flyers were also charged.

McMURTRY SAID if hockey didn't act, he would.

And now that three Flyers have been charged, and will appear in an Ontario court some time this summer, he has fulfilled his promise to continue taking what action he deems necessary to clean up the game in this province.

The NHL, the WHA, the OHA and yes, even the OMHA, should follow the attorney-general's cue and start properly policing things themselves.

Then, violence will be curbed, and hockey - as most Canadians like it - will be restored.

Veteran diplomat says:

Growth rate may create problems in 10 years time

TORONTO - The race between economic development and population growth may create real problems in 10 years, a veteran British diplomat told the Annual Banquet of the Industrial Accident Prevention Association here recently.

Sir Maurice Dorman, a retired British diplomat and Chief Commander, St. John Ambulance Association and Brigade, said "This is the age of violence. Life grows daily more dangerous."

Referring to the Rhodesian problem, Sir Maurice said the real problem still lies ahead in that country.

"Fifty per cent of the African population is under the age of 18. This means in 10 years the economy must provide employment for another one million people. There is a race between development of the economy and population growth."

"Time is running out and Rhodesia cannot survive both the external and the internal pressures of racialism."

"The Commonwealth comprises almost one thousand million people, a quarter of the human race, a community of 35 nations. He pointed out that one in every four United Nations States is a Commonwealth country.

"I believe the Commonwealth will meet the challenges ahead. We belong together. We have a common language, common aspirations for individual freedom and press independence."

Sir Maurice, who served Britain throughout the world in the diplomatic service and was Governor General of Sierra Leone and Malta, saw no conflict in the regional interests of Commonwealth countries.

"Britain's involvement in the European Economic Market; Canada's ties with the North American community; and African unity - these forms of regionalism are bound to develop with modern transportation and communications. But that doesn't mean that the countries involved are turning their backs on the Commonwealth, he said.

"I believe that the Commonwealth will hold together and that its influence will continue to be felt in the world," Sir Maurice concluded.

Physicians ready to assist

The physicians of Ontario are ready to assist in any required immunization procedure for the proposed swine flu prevention program, Dr. D.C. MacNeill, president of the Ontario Medical Association said this week.

He noted there are only 43 public health units in the province and that millions of doses of vaccine would have to be provided.

Dr. MacNeill said, "A co-operative endeavour involving the medical officers of health and the local branch societies of the Ontario Medical Association would be the most effective approach to the problem." He declined to comment on the medical fees for such a program indicating they would not be a factor in setting up this important undertaking.

"Our prime goal is to meet the health needs of the people of this province and physicians in Ontario have a long established tradition in their responsible

Law penalizes citizens

By Peter Ward

OTTAWA - (SF) - There's something drastically wrong with the thinking of a government which proposes laws which will penalize law abiding citizens. For six weeks I've been doing my best - without success - not to get steamed up about what the government wants to do to all those who own guns. Not hand guns, mind you, but shotguns and rifles.

First, I'm suspicious as blazes about the move to register firearms. Registry itself would be fine, but how long do you think it would be before all rifle and shotgun owners were also required to buy a yearly license? Yes, there would eventually be an annual fee for ownership of a hunting gun, and that would rapidly become another revenue producer for the government.

Registry and licensing would be fine if there were no fee - so would tests to ensure the knowledge of owners.

Provisions allowing police to seize hunting weapons without showing due legal cause go too far. So do the proposals to make gun owners legally responsible for damage done if their guns are stolen. What does the government mean when it says gun owners should not be guilty of careless handling or storage? Any sensible gun owner keeps weapons and ammunition separate. But should hunters really be required to keep their weapons under lock and key at all times? Should they, as the law will require, be subject to up to five years in jail if their weapons are stolen? Should they also be responsible for legal damages done with the weapon in the hands of any thief who steals it?

Obviously the boys in the cabinet aren't people who enjoy a duck blind in November, or a tramp through the bush for partridge after the first big frost.

The object of the exercise is to arouse public opinion against those who do enjoy hunting, or target shooting, and to drastically reduce the numbers of Canadians who will ever take an interest in sport shooting.

It's one more erosion of personal liberty attempted by the Trudeau government, which seems to follow a philosophy of trying to pass a law governing everything, instead of encouraging responsible, self-thinking, citizenship.

How banks serve the public a business column by Fraser Robertson

Once every ten years, the federal charters that permit our banks to operate come up for renewal by Parliament. Preparations now are being made for that event, when, next year, Parliament will examine what banks do, why and how they do it.

Canadians probably make more use of banking services than do the people of any other nation, yet for the most part they take those services for granted. Indeed, it is remarkable how little most of us know about bank operations, although what banks do has come about in response to public needs.

Since the early 1800s, banks in Canada have had two main functions. One is to facilitate the exchange of goods and services between individuals by the transfer of money. The other is to facilitate government control of the size and distribution of the national supply of money, a basic economic exercise.

The second of those functions is peculiar to the chartered banks and may be regarded as a responsibility. Most of the services provided by banks to individuals -- persons or corporations -- are offered in competition with other groups, each of which is, to some extent, specialized in its activities by law, by tradition or by choice.

Some of those who already compete with the banks want Parliament to extend to them some functions now reserved to banks. Equally, the banks would like permission to do some things now forbidden them. Parliament must decide and what it decides could be of great importance to all of us.

If we, the people, had a better understanding of what banks do, of how they do it and why, we might be better able to ensure that, whatever Parliament's decisions, they will be reached for sound reasons, not reflect whim or prejudice or the pressure of special interests.

It is not too late for us to gain that improved understanding, nor too late to ensure that as younger people grow up, they will be better informed. Neither is it very difficult, for there is an easy-to-use educative instrument to hand. It is a reasonably brief dissertation on what banks do and how they do it, recently presented to the Royal Commission on Corporate Concentration.

This document is simple in its language, and readily could be used for self-education as well as for class studies in schools. While the Royal Bank, which prepared it, describes its own operations, the document fairly describes the activities of other banks.

Sometimes our banks are described as monopolies and it is supposed we would do better with numerous small independent banks such as prevail in the United States. But in fact, branch banks in Canada now have about as much autonomy as have small U.S. banks. And they have certain advantages when the needs of customers exceed the local banker's supply of money or specialized knowledge.

A branch bank in Canada has a right of ready access to all the parent bank's resources of money and expertise. In the U.S., access to a larger bank's resources is an uncertain privilege for both the banker and his customer.

These "economies of scale", as the Royal Bank describes them, are equally available to all Canadians, whether they want banking service at home or abroad, for personal or for business purposes. They include specialized services which range from consumer and mortgage loans, transfers of money by cheques or other means, to arrangements of huge projects involving not only Canadian and foreign companies, but, on occasion, Canadian and foreign governments and international agencies.

Indeed, the range of specialized services supplied by our banks is amazing. They have corps of experts in agriculture, natural resources, manufacturing, exporting and importing -- you name it. Through their foreign or international divisions, they extend this service network right around the world. And, be it noted, their foreign divisions are self-supporting in that they operate on money raised abroad, not on money supplied by depositors in Canada.

These international operations are very important to Canada. As a people who are out in the world, not isolated, Canadians buy and sell goods and services everywhere. Our banks provide Canadians with a wide range of services they otherwise would have to buy from foreigners. Our banks also sell Canadian services to foreigners.

Banking is one industry that does not need to be told to free itself of foreign control or to get out and compete. Revisions to the Bank Act should ensure that banking in Canada remains Canadian and they should carefully avoid discouraging the existing strong spirit of competition.

At the annual spring meeting of the Ladies' Section of the Oakland Greens Golf Club, it was announced this year's events promise to emphasize more socialization with more golf.

The Tuesday morning league will commence on May 18, at 9 a.m. Entry fee is still $3.00 with lunch to follow play, once-a-month. There will be more golfing days as opposed to the "fun days" of previous years.

The Wednesday Evening League will begin on Wednesday, May 19, at 5.45 p.m. Eleanor Ferguson is the new captain for this league.

An added event this year will be the Nine-Hole Tournament to be held on the last Wednesday evening of the season. It is limited to those girls who hold a 30 to 36 handicap.

The Lex Robson Memorial Trophy, to be presented at the Husband and Wife Tournament, will be held this year on Sunday, June 20, at 4 p.m.

Parents hear need for playground

NORWOOD - During Education Week at St. Paul's Separate School, Sister Eileen Gahagan, principal at St. Alphonsus Separate School in Peterborough, spoke to the parents on the need for a creative playground.

In her presentation, Sister Eileen stressed the need for a creative-playground so that children may develop their physical skills. These activities will aid in the learning in the classroom, she said.

A creative playground helps to develop special skills such as balance, eye-hand co-ordination, eye-foot co-ordination and greater body awareness.

Following her talk all the parents were in agreement that there was a need for more physical education and that they would help set up a playground at St. Paul's school yard.

Guest of honor at two parties

Miss Helen Rodgers, of Norwood, was guest of honor at two birthday parties April 13, one given by Mrs. Rodger Bullock and Mrs. Jack Rose Jr., of Norwood at latter's home. Fourteen ladies from the Pentecostal Church gathered to wish Helen good wishes with gifts and a luncheon. In the evening Mr. and Mrs. Art Davey were hosts for an evening of music and presentations. Mr. and Mrs. Rodger Bullock were co-hosts. Others attending were Mr. and Mrs. Alex Lockhart of Warkworth, Mr. and Mrs. James Moore, Mrs. M. Little, Mrs. J. Bitten and Mr. Wm. Golloher, all of Norwood.

AROUND NORWOOD

A good old fashioned "Working Bee" by neighbours, friends, relatives and Lion members took place on Monday afternoon to aid in spring farm work for Bill Buck who is presently a patient in Civic Hospital in Peterborough.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Stevenson, of Norwood, and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Waters, of Hastings, were on a bus tour of Nashville, Tenn., and attended a Grand Old Opry performance over weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kendall of Barrie were weekend visitors with parents Mr. and Mrs. Lionel Althouse of Norwood and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Kendall, of RR 2, Norwood.

Mrs. Heather Williams, and Tammy, were holiday visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Martin and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Williams, both of Norwood.

Bill Smiley It's a rip-off

By BILL SMILEY

HAVE you had the feeling in the last couple of years that everybody and his brother, and sister, is trying to rip you off? I have. And I don't like it.

Perhaps it's because of inflation, but I don't recall any period in my life in this country in which so many people were pursuing the buck so avidly, with an almost complete disregard for what they produce in return for that buck.

Result is a steady deterioration in service, courtesy and integrity in the business world. Perhaps it's just a reflection, but the same disintegration seems to be taking place in the social world.

Insolence and indifference are becoming the trademarks of the business world. Bad manners and worse language have become almost obligatory in the social world.

I haven't the space to deal with both aspects in one column, so I'll just catalogue a few typical examples of the kind of rip-off and shabby treatment that are merely the tip of the iceberg.

My wife ordered two pairs of infant pyjamas from one of our huge, national department stores. The catalogue priced them at $2.25 a pair. Now the catalogue did state that prices quoted were only guaranteed until a certain date.

The parcel arrived a few days after that date. The goods were satisfactory. Each pair was encased in the manufacturer's plastic package, clearly labeled $2.25. But the bill from the department store was for $2.50 a pair.

These had obviously been bought to sell at a good profit for $2.25. Probably 100 per cent mark-up. Suddenly they cost $2.50. Chickenfeed, you say? More like chicanery, if you add up all those quarters on a national basis, and multiply it by all the other items boosted in price for no reason at all except that the department store can probably get away with it.

My wife ordered a caftan from some outfit, which advertised satisfaction guaranteed or your money refunded. She ordered one down to her calves and received one down to her navel. She sent it back and asked for her money back. Two weeks later, a form letter said the company would be happy to fill her order for the right size. Sometime. Only $14, but they have the money and she doesn't have the dress, and I know what the outcome will be.

They will stiff-arm her with form letters, in response to her angry, passionate, or pleading inquiries, until she gives up. Some day, the shoddy thing will arrive, designed for a lady midget or a professional basketball player.

Went to the city for winter break. Stayed at a hotel we'd frequented for years. Didn't bother to get a reservation, after reading articles about city hotels operating at a little over 50 per cent capacity.

"What? You want a room without a reservation?"

"Yes."

"Well! How do you intend to pay?"

Getting a little browned off, I ticked the item marked "by cheque." That's how I've paid for years.

"Oh, we don't accept cheques."

"Well, what the hell's it on the registration card for?"

"Oh, we have a new policy. That'll be cash. In advance."

By now, steam was coming out my ears. Here I was, an old customer. Obviously not a dead-beat. The hotel was about one-third full. If I'd been alone, I'd have told them what to do with the entire operation, sideways. But my wife was sitting there on the luggage. I paid, muttering. Plus $2 key deposit, another item in the new policy.

Went to our room, ordered some ice. I went out for a paper. My wife signed for the ice, standard procedure. A few moments after I got back, a flustered waiter was at the door, waving a bill. I was an "Advance" and had to pay cash. The sum was $1. He was embarrassed, I was furious.

Things weren't good. The room was rather shabby. Breakfast arrived, borne by a surly waiter, half an hour late. The handle on the coffee pot was broken, the wheat cakes were cold.

Nothing improved. To top the whole performance, they tried to over-charge me when I checked out. It was only $1.15, but by this time I'd have taken it to the Supreme Court. I hollered, and I got my pittance.

It's no wonder city hotels are less than half filled.

I know what you're saying. "Smiley had his dignity hurt, because he was treated like a transient."

Not at all. My dignity, what's left of it, can't be hurt by such trivia.

There's nothing wrong with cash on the barrel-head. But there is something wrong when customers are treated with insolence, indifference and bad manners. And ripped off into the bargain, unless they fight like tigers.

Result of "returns" Can now identify name and salary of "executives"

By DOUGLAS FISHER

OTTAWA - In the late 1950's when official or bureaucratic Ottawa was tiny, compared to today, the annual public accounts used to list by name and salary all those who made over $6,000 a year plus their expense accounts. Then, in order to make the printing job and the bulk of the accounts manageable in size, this practice was ended. Undoubtedly, this took a lot of fun and interest out of the public accounts for the officials themselves. There was no longer a yearly check on what anyone else of substance was getting.

In the past few months, and particularly as a result of "returns" filed last week in answer to written questions by MPs it's possible to identify name and salary range of almost every "executive" in the departments and agencies of the federal government. The welter of materials was largely drawn by questions asked by Tories Joe Clark and Steve Paproski, and New Democrats David Orlow and Lorne Nystrom.

I haven't had enough time with the material to spot many of the anomalies - for example, why some departments have so many more senior executives than others with comparable numbers of employees. However, some of the data on those of "DM" (Deputy Minister) ranking is interesting and easily presented.

There are three salary ranges for DM: DM-1 - $41,000 to $54,000; DM-2 - $47,500 to $60,500; DM-3 - $54,000 to $66,000.

There are four categories of "SXs" - i.e. senior executives. Most of these of assistant-deputy-minister rank are SXs, SX-1 - $27,500 to $36,500; SX-2 - $31,500 to $41,500; SX-3 - $35,500 to $47,500; SX-4 - $41,000 to $54,000.

The salary ranges at these levels were approved by the cabinet last July. That is, new increases were approved and the order authorizing the increases to be paid for SXs was signed in early September. The order authorizing those for DMs and others of equivalent rank who are also known as "governor-in-council" appointments was signed on October 9th just a week before the clamps of the anti-inflation program went into effect.

Please note that this date on DMs and SXs does not cover executives of such crown corporations as the CNR, Air Canada, and the CBC. It does include boards such as the National Energy Board, commissions such as the CTC and the CRTC, and councils such as the Economic Council of Canada.

Only nine men fit into the DM-3 category, i.e. making between $54,000 and $66,000. They are: Marshall Crowe, chairman of the NEBN, Basil Robinson, Under Secretary of State for External Affairs; Tommy Shoyama, Deputy-Minister of Finance; Don Thorson, Deputy-Minister of Justice; Michael Pitfield, Clerk of the Privy Council (and mandarin No.1); Albert Ritchie, special advisor to the PCO; Edgar Benson, President, CTC; Gordon Osbaldeston, Secretary of Treasury Board and Gordon Robertson, Secretary of the Cabinet for Federal-Provincial Relations (and ex-mandarin No.1).

Traditionally, the most important departments or agencies in Ottawa have been finance, justice, external affairs and privy council (i.e., the office which organizes the Cabinet). The simple point is that the tradition is being maintained and Treasury Board, a relatively new department also has the highest status.

There are 38 DM-2s and 42 DM-1s. In total then, there were 89 DMs last October, earning between $41,000 and $66,000. Of course, one must remember that there were literally dozens of SX-3s and SX-4s who were (and are) making over $41,000 a year.

Only two women are in the DM category, Sylvia Ostry, Deputy-Minister of Consumer and Corporate Affairs is a DM-2, Miss H. Lebel, a vice-chairman of the Canada Labour Relations Board is a DM-1. (Mrs. Ostry's husband, Bernard, is a DM-1 as Secretary-General of the National Museums.)

I have not yet been able to get an exact total of all the DMs and SXs combined in the federal government but it is somewhere close to 1,300 persons.

What is the quality of this large group of federal executives?

The only such record I have found is in the fourth report of the advisory group on executive compensation in the public service, issued in April, 1975. It showed that the performance of SXs of all categories was "fully satisfactory" or "superior" or "outstanding" in the case of some 96 per cent. That is, only around four per cent of the 1,200 plus SXs were rated as merely "acceptable" or "marginal".

The DMs were not rated quite as highly. About 10 per cent of them were only "marginal" or "acceptable."

At least on the basis of records, we have a large number of very good and very well-paid executives in the federal government.

Local areas open to moose hunting

Parts of Hastings, Lennox and Addington, Peterborough and Frontenac counties, north of No. 7 highway, will be open to moose hunting this year Natural Resources Minister Leo Bernier has announced.

Mr. Bernier said moose hunting seasons for 1976 will open on the same dates as those in 1975.

Hunting pressure on the moose herd will again be moderated by seasons placed between the rut and snowfall, the Ministry said.

Most seasons will open on a Monday this year. Hunters may wish to use the weekend to considerable advantage by scouting their prospective hunting areas and planning their hunt.

The Territorial District of Parry Sound, Provisional County of Haliburton, District Municipality of Muskoka, County of Renfrew and parts of the counties of Frontenac, Hastings, Lennox and Addington and Peterborough north of Highway 7 will be open to moose hunting this year.

"These additional hunting opportunities should be welcomed by Ontario's resident moose hunters," Mr. Bernier said.

The primitive weapons season on the Aulneau Peninsula will be opened to non-resident moose hunters this year.

In much of the far north (Albany River area), where access is limited and hunting pressure is low, seasons will open between September 15 and September 27 for residents and between September 15 and October 4 for non-residents. Seasons close in these areas on December 15 and November 15 for residents and non-residents respectively.

The season in northwestern and north central Ontario will be from October 4 to December 15 for residents and from October 11 to November 15 for non-residents. This season, in which residents will enjoy a week advantage over non-residents, has been extended northward in the Geraldton area.

The area where only residents may hunt will open on October 4 and close on December 15.

OPENING

In the northeast, seasons will open on October 11 in most areas. Exceptions include an October 7 opening in the Hearst-Kapuskasing area and an October 18 opening around Kirkland Lake. The non-resident season will open one week later (October 18) than the resident season in areas between Sudbury and Sault Ste. Marie. Seasons will close two weeks earlier in the Hearst-Kapuskasing and the Temagami-Gogama-Chapleau-Timmins-Cochrane area.

The two-week, residents-only hunt around North Bay has been extended southward to include areas north and east of Algonquin Park.

Seasons will close on October 24 in the Sudbury and North Bay area. In the Hearst-Kapuskasing area, the resident and non-resident seasons will close on November 15. In most other areas of the northeast (except the far north), the seasons for both residents and non-residents will close on October 31.

Construction company resumes operations after shutdown

Armbro Construction Materials Company resumed partial operations last Monday after being shutdown for five and a half months.

One man has been brought back to operate the weigh scales to meet local demand for aggregates.

Beginning next Monday four other employees will return to begin the work of getting the crusher ready to operate. Hopefully, crushing will begin about May 1, timekeeper Tom Hedley reported. At that time it is expected another half dozen men will be rehired or new ones taken on. There has been a considerable cutback in government orders to all quarries, Mr. Hedley explained, but company officials are looking for a good year.

Eugene Whelan and William Newman, the two agriculture ministers with which Ontario farmers are concerned, are in deep trouble.

As this is written, Eugene Whelan has just announced Canada's dairy policy for 1976. The policy was due three weeks ago. Mr. Whelan had great problems getting that policy through Cabinet.

Jim Romahn, one of the most incisive farm writers in this province, has predicted that Mr. Whelan will leave the federal Cabinet soon because he cannot get policy decisions passed by his Cabinet cohorts.

Mr. Whelan was Mr. Romahn's employer at one time so Mr. Romahn may have an inner pipeline to the federal minister. It is not surprising that Cabinet will not stand behind Mr. Whelan's policies. It would be interesting to find out how many of those Cabinet ministers have any idea of the problems being faced by Canadian farmers. Few of them have ever had manure on their boots, I'll wager.

They know nothing about farming and they do not appear to care. Certainly, the prime minister is far from being a farm boy. Few all-rural ridings are left in this country. Farmers make up only about six per cent of the population and who needs to care about satisfying only six per cent of the voting public?

Six per cent is just a pesky minority.

But why can't Cabinet ministers see a little farther than their own political ends? Is it too much for them to realize that a healthy agricultural economy in any country — be it Canada or Bangladesh — is the best assurance for prosperity? Agriculture in Canada accounts for more than 40 per cent of the gross national product. Although only six per cent of the population is directly engaged in tilling the soil or growing food, more jobs depend on agriculture than any other sector of the economy.

A few months ago, this reporter attended a farewell dinner for the former minister of agriculture and food in Ontario, Bill Stewart. At that meeting, an enterprising and attractive widow from Wellesley Township presented William Newman, the new agriculture minister, with the biggest pair of barn boots she could buy.

"You have a big pair of boots to fill," she told Mr. Newman.

Mr. Newman is under fire now for not releasing a report prepared by a branch of his own ministry. The report made it quite clear that farmland in Ontario is disappearing under the developers' hammers at alarming rates.

The report said the disappearance "is almost impossible to keep track of." Somehow, the information in the report was leaked and Mr. Newman found it difficult to defend his actions in not releasing the information.

Opposition Leader Stephen Lewis predictably jumped on him. And maybe he had good cause.

Fatuous trivia, said Mr. Lewis of the province's series of government planning reports that were released and the one dealing with agriculture was "the single-most disturbing document."

"It is one of the emptiest, least-well directed documents we've had dealing with agriculture," said Mr. Lewis of the report that was made public.

The fact that this province has not had the guts to implement a program of land preservation is a "formula of doom," according to the Globe and Mail.

I can only repeat what I said in this corner a few months ago from the pen of Louis A. McLean, one of the foremost agricultural researchers in North America: "It is no accident that societies prospered after the Crusades as they provided tenure systems for farmers, thus creating incentives."

"And it is no accident that the great bulk of men's other advances have occurred in these same societies. It is no accident that health is best and life the easiest in societies that have encouraged a prosperous and respected agriculture."

"It is no accident that garden plots in Russia produce out of all proportion to collectives. And finally, it is not surprising that poor health and hunger walk hand-in-hand in lands where land tenure is difficult, farming considered a second-class occupation and where farmer incentives are lacking."

Why can't politicians understand these statements and these implications and give farmers in Ontario and in Canada the policies needed to keep them happy and producing?

HOME GARDENER

You know it's spring when your plants begin to show new life

Indoor gardeners know that spring will soon be here when their houseplants, which have been resting during the winter months, suddenly start to show new and active growth. A Ministry of Agriculture and Food specialist says this is also a good period to repot those potbound plants.

"New soil and a pot one size larger will help any potbound plant on its way to spring growth," says horticulturist R.A. Fleming. "Repotting also has other benefits. When the soil becomes exhausted or when it turns 'sour', repotting generally improves a plant's thriftiness."

He indicates that while repotting should be done whenever it's needed, the best time is in the spring. Use a fertile, coarse-textured potting soil containing adequate organic material. The horticulturist says that a soil mixture of equal parts of good garden loam, coarse, sharp sand and leaf mold or peat moss is quite acceptable for all houseplants, and has the ability to drain off excess moisture quickly.

Mr. Fleming recommends that when repotting, gardeners should use a pot only one size up from the present one. Too large a pot for the root system of the plant can result in cold wet soil conditions which can only hinder, rather than help, new root growth.

A major cause of the slowdown in growth is attributable to the fact that there has been a declining growth of high-quality labor supply. During a rapid period of industrialization, such as occurred in the majority of industrialized countries following World War II, rapid manpower adjustments had to be made. Over time, a highly developed educational and training system was put in place, assisted by manpower adjustment and information systems. But when this system has been operating for years, it substantially achieves its basic objective of allocating human resources in an efficient manner. After this stage has been reached, there are few quick, large, and easy gains to be made.

As just one example of this, we might refer to the enrollment trend in post-secondary educational institutions. In 1965, in Ontario for example, 12 per cent of the 18-24 year-old population was enrolled in some form of post-secondary education, and in the five-year period culminating in 1970, this percentage jumped to 19 per cent. But since then this rate seems to have stabilized at 20 per cent. Now this may not represent any natural or proper rate of post-secondary enrollment, but on the other hand, it does strongly suggest that

A dessert you'll light - - Peach omelette flambe

By Jean-Paul Fagot

Pastry Chef

Four Seasons Sheraton Hotel, Toronto

Cooks are often faced with the dilemma at their dinner parties of wanting to spend time with their guests and simultaneously provide them with some real taste treats.

Peach Omelette Flambe satisfies on both counts, for it is easy and quick to prepare, and also provides spectacular eye and taste appeal.

It offers another bonus through the use of Ontario freestone peaches from last year's abundant and juicy crop.

Serves 6

14 oz can, drained, Ontario freestone peaches
3 tbsps butter
8 eggs

1 tsp salt
2 tbsps sugar
2 oz rum

Drain peaches well and slice into sections. Heat 1 tbsp butter in a medium size frying pan and fry peaches for 5 or 6 minutes.

Whip eggs with salt. Melt the remaining butter, add eggs and cook like an omelette. Place peach slices on one-half of the omelette, fold in half and slide onto a warmed, ovenproof saucer-like plate. Sprinkle with sugar. Heat rum (stand glass of rum in container of hot water for a minute or two) and pour over omelette. Set alight. If possible, flambe the omelette at the table and bask in the compliments!

Jean-Paul Fagot, pastry chef of Toronto's Four Seasons Sheraton Hotel, adds the rum to Peach Omelette Flambe, an easily-made dessert that provides spectacular eye appeal. Ontario freestone peaches are used for a delicious filling.

OTTAWA and Small Business

Needed: metrics debate

By KENNETH McDONALD

Popular opposition to metrification has caused the British Government to postpone debate on its Weights and Measures Bill. Ottawa doesn't even have a bill. Bureaucrats are pushing Canadians into metric conversion without parliamentary debate, let alone approval.

Typically, there have been no estimates of cost. In the U.S., conversion cost estimates range from $40 to $100 billion. At the usual one-tenth differential that means between $4 and $10 billion for Canada.

"Let the costs lie where they fall" say the bureaucrats. They're not in business, of course. They don't have to buy new scales, or new tools, or new labels.

Much of the pressure comes from multi-national corporations. As part of a world-scale process of rationalization, they are concerned with transferring standardized manufacturing to metric-using, low wage countries. Canadian jobs will be lost as a result.

Canadian-owned companies will be forced to convert tool and die equipment, lathes, punches, drills and presses. In many instances, when equipment has to be completely replaced, experienced foreign manufacturers of metric equipment can be expected to replace domestic suppliers.

Claims by Metric Commission officials that conversion will increase exports must be taken with a grain of salt.

Canada's rush to convert speeds, distances, temperature and pressure and household measures merely confuses and irritates the public. In the U.S., conversion is more gradual and selective; each move must pass the test of benefits exceeding costs.

However, with the U.S. committed to conversion, Canada has no choice but to follow suit.

The Canadian Federation of Independent Business, in testimony before a parliamentary committee, made recommendations to provide a measure of relief for the two groups most severely affected: the small business community and employees who finance their own metric tools.

The chartered banks should be authorized to extend government guaranteed loans to finance conversion costs. A once-only income tax credit should be made against purchase of new measurement-sensitive tools by individuals.

It is urgent that Ottawa put all these matters before Parliament in a formal bill, where they can be exposed to public debate by elected representatives. The bureaucrats have gained a headstart but it's not too late to call a halt while MPs determine the pace and the extent of the whole program.

Crowe Lake Authority should start making plans for reservoir

The Crowe Lake Conservation Authority has been advised by the Eastern Ontario supervisor that they should start making plans for a reservoir, Ralph Neal, Marmora Village's representative on the Authority has told the Village council.

Council assured Mr. Neal that there should be no problem in providing the Authority with more land if more is needed for the reconstruction of the dam.

The water intake pipe and filtration plant that supplies the village with water would probably have to be raised if the proposed engineering plans are accepted, Mr. Neal explained. He added that a planned seawall to the north-east side of the dam would provide a nice approach to the dam.

"The government grant system is going to be changed and the Authority is anxious to make a start in order to get in on the old grant system," Mr. Neal revealed.

Deputy-reeve proposes tenders

Deputy-reeve Grant Airhart has proposed that Marmora Village ask for tenders for supplying the municipality's gas needs. He noted the bill for the month of March was $235.

Donation request turned down

A request for a donation from the St. John Ambulance has been turned down by Marmora Village Council on the grounds that the organization does not carry out much of its work locally.

Camping Family Style

BY ANGELA AND FORD BOTHWELL

Q. How can you take a young child camping, who always seems to be catching poison ivy?

A. By teaching him to recognize and identify the poison plants (ivy, sumac and oak) and explaining to him the great itching, swelling and pain they can cause. If you can't identify them yourself, buy a nature book and let the whole family learn together. Teach your child to know them - and leave them alone. Just in case, keep one of the commercial treatments for poison plants in your first aid kit, along with a bar of strong laundry soap for washing if exposed.

Q. Is hunting permitted in national parks?

A. No. You can hunt animals with a camera, even track the less dangerous ones, but no firearms.

Q. Should you brake if your RV's tires start to hydroplane (float on road surface water)?

A. No. Rolling tires regain traction quicker than locked ones.

Now is the time to look over your plum and cherry trees in the home garden for black knot disease, and to cut it out before spring gets here.

"Black knot is found on European-type plums, prunes and damsons as well as wild plums," says Professor C.B. Kelly, of the Department of Environmental Biology, Ontario Agricultural College. "Japanese plum varieties usually escape infection. Sour cherries are sometimes affected but wild choke cherries are frequently covered with the knots. The disease does not spread from plums to cherries and vice versa, because the plum strain of the fungus is adapted to plums and the cherry strain specializes in cherries. Ornamental plums and cherries also may be attacked."

The knots are hard, rough, black swellings on twigs and limbs. Often they have been attacked by boring insects, as can be seen by the gum and castings oozing out of the knots. Sometimes a white coating of a second fungus is found feeding on the knots. Small twigs are often crooked

Havelock man injured in accident at mine

A Havelock man received a compound fracture of the left hand in an accident at Marmaraton Mining Company about 2:30 Friday afternoon.

Stewart Barrons, age 62, received the injury to his hand when struck by a rock. He was taken to Belleville General Hospital, then sent on the Kingston General Hospital where surgery was performed Friday night. He was released afterwards and is now at his home.

Mr. Barrons has been a foreman at Marmaraton Mining Company for 24 years.

The company has the proud record of never having had a fatal employee accident during its 25 years of operation.

by the knot, which usually develops on one side of the twig. The knot eventually girdles the twig or branch and the growth above it dies. Severe attacks seriously reduce the yield of fruit by killing the bearing wood.

Black knot fungus is perennial in the bark of the twigs and each year spreads up and down from the old knot. The following season the newly invaded part swells up, becomes rough and finally black by winter. Because the fungus spreads beyond the knot it is necessary to cut well below the swelling to remove all of the fungus.

Black knots dropped to the ground or left in the tree produce spores of the black knot fungus in the spring, says Professor Kelly. These are carried away by the wind and if they land on suitable new plum or cherry twigs they will start new infections.

"This is why all the knots should be collected and burned. If there are wild plums near your planting, cut out and burn the knots to protect your trees and your neighbour's. When the disease is so severe that there would be almost no top left on the tree if all knots were removed, it might be simpler to cut the tree down and start with a new one," says Professor Kelly.

Branches bearing knots should be burned or sent out with the garbage so that the black knot fungus cannot spread and cause more infections. Don't store such prunings outside to be used later in the fireplace.

During the summer keep watching for knots that may have been missed and any new knots that have developed. Cut them out and burn them.

The old-fashioned dormant sprays help control black knot, but surgery - cutting out the knot - is most effective. Liquid lime sulfur, which is available under two trade names - Orthorix and Wilson's Lime Sulphur - is useful for spraying to control black knot. If you prefer, spray the trees with bordeaux mixture 5-5-100. Spray thoroughly so that all the bark and buds are covered with the fungicide. These materials are not hazardous to use when you follow the directions.

TURN ON'S

GOOD WORD

But ask now the beasts, and they shall teach thee; and the fowls of the air and they shall tell thee; Or speak to the earth, and it shall teach thee; and the fishes of the sea shall declare unto thee.

Who knoweth not in all these that the hand of the Lord hath wrought this?

In whose hand is the soul of every living thing, and the breath of all mankind.

Job 12: 7-10

FOOD BASKET

Use Wood

When making custard, beat eggs with a wooden spoon. This permits only a small amount of air to be incorporated into the mixture and makes smoother custard.

Right Beet

When shopping for beets, check for firmness, reasonable smoothness and small or medium in size. Large beets tend to be on the tough side.

Avoid Crushing

An almost foolproof method to avoid crushing fruits and vegetables in your shopping cart with heavier grocery items is to put your fruit and vegetable selections last on your shopping list—and stick to the order listed!

On Lamb

Lamb, liver and kidneys are all good sources of B vitamins. Lamb—meat from a sheep less than a year old—is usually marketed fresh, although some is sold frozen or canned. Broil frozen lamb at a low temperature so the surface will not char before the interior thaws.

Too Brown

If a pan is too large for a recipe you're following, the mixture may be spread too thin. That will, in turn, cause it to brown excessively.

For And About Teenagers

THIS WEEK'S LETTER: I'm 17...old enough to take care of myself. My parents won't let me go out on dates. Sometimes they treat me like I'm nothing. My boyfriend, who is 21, is allowed to go out on dates. My parents don't know I'm going with him. He loves me and I love him. I want to go out on dates but they don't seem to understand. Why?

OUR REPLY: Don't worry about "why." People have been trying to figure that out for centuries—and you can look around and judge for yourself the shape the world is in. You can take responsibility for the situation and, hopefully, clean it up. Communicate your feelings with your parents. Have them share with you their specific reasons why they don't want you to go out on dates. Make certain that you all understand clearly what those reasons are. Deal with the specifics, not vague accusations like "they treat me like nothing." How is nothing treated? In the end, you'll have to accept the way things are in your parents' house. They will have rules, and once you accept and obey them you'll get the recognition you deserve—or, you can go make it on your own.

CONSUMER CORNER

Before washing a concrete porch or steps, wet the porous surface well with plain water. Then, scrub it with thick detergent or soap suds—thus avoiding having the concrete absorb the dirty water. Finish by rinsing with plenty of clean water. A good hosing off is best.

Madoc teacher to officiate at Olympics

A Madoc secondary school teacher has come to a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity... to officiate at the Montreal Olympics this summer.

Les Decsi, a drafting teacher at Centre Hastings Secondary School, lost his left leg in an auto accident four years ago and at that time decided it would not ruin his interest in sports, being an avid sailor. The auto accident occurred during a routine driver training session with a student. After that, sailing became impossible for the 41-year-old teacher. So he took up a new sport - handguns. He quickly worked his way up the ranks to the point where he will serve as an official in the handgun events at the Olympics as well as being a spare for the four-man Canadian team.

Mr. Decsi, who left his native Hungary in 1957 during their revolution, says he never touched a handgun before the accident. One day he bought one and with crutches and in two feet of snow he did his first shooting. He has since joined the Trenton handgun club, which operates in Frankford, and then moved into competitive shooting, where he has attained a master rank, one step below the top ranking pistol shooters.

"I needed something to do with my spare time," explained Mr. Decsi, who now owns five handguns valued at $3,000. He is not a hunter and uses the guns only for the competitive sport of marksmanship.

Mr. Decsi will spend at least a week at the Olympics with the main events taking place in early August. Another Hastings County marksman, Bev Holdaway from Belleville, will also serve as an official at the Olympics.

For competitive shooting, Mr. Decsi usually uses a 22 calibre or 32 calibre pistol, specially designed for his hand. He insists pistol shooting is an excellent sport that requires dedication, hours of practice and a steady hand to perform. He is also a member of the Madoc Sunset Handgun Club, as well as a member of the Shooting Federation of Canada, located near Ottawa.

Asked about the danger of the sport, Mr. Decsi said that safety with handguns is imperative. He said he is teaching his children to use the guns on the range. This will teach a healthy respect for the sport.

"Highly successful"

Termed "highly successful", the opening of the Madoc Hotel on Saturday and Sunday evenings drew people from near and far for dining in the new "Blue" room.

Saturday evening, Reeve Thomas C. Barton was on hand to cut the ribbon and officially open the Hotel. A special menu featuring steaks and filet mignon served up gourmet style was the main attraction. Punch was served to the guests. Many of the ladies came in long gowns to blend with the dressy atmosphere of the occasion.

Clarke T. Rollins, M.P.P., and his wife, Bev, and Jack Ellis, M.P. and his wife were among those who came to offer their congratulations to the new owners.

On Sunday evening, Senator George White and Mrs. White and Manager of the Toronto-Dominion Bank, Mr. Ross Clarke and Mrs. Clarke, were among those who made it a busy time for the staff.

New owners, Robert Bancroft and Ron Way, both from Tweed, took over ownership of the Hotel March 1. Since then, they have done extensive renovations to the entire building, concentrating on the dining room, renamed "Blue" room. This is in recognition of a former owner, Lloyd Blue, who was in attendance at the grand opening Saturday evening.

Madoc Reeve T. C. Barton, Councillor Clayton Smith and Clerk-Treasurer Tom Burnside receive a cheque for $40,000 from

MPP Clarke Rollins for a water and sewer project in Madoc. The cheque was presented on stage at last week's PC nomination convention.

Reeve praises Rollins for help in grants

Reeve T. C. Barton of Madoc has praised Clarke Rollins, MPP, for his involvement in obtaining a grant of $40,013.97 for the village. The grant was presented to the Reeve at the Progressive Conservative nomination convention April 21 in Madoc.

"On behalf of the Council and the citizens of Madoc, I would like to thank Clarke for interceding on our behalf", said Mr. Barton.

He said that the grant was obtained for the village "on the extra effort put forth by C. T. Rollins, MPP."

During the early summer of last year, an official of the Ministry of the Environment promised a 75 per cent subsidy for water and sewer projects. In the interim, a provincial election changed officials at the Ministry, Mr. Barton said.

Upon presentations of Village vouchers,

Mr. Rollins, said Mr. Barton, did the groundwork between the former Ministry official and John Rhodes, present Minister of the Environment.

"It was a real challenge for Mr. Rollins", said Mr. Barton.

At the convention, Mr. Barton said, when he received the cheque, "If you don't think that doesn't take an awful lot of strain off of us people here, you've got another think coming."

There were few mistakes, here and there in the planning stages, he said to the convention, but "Clarke got them all straightened out, and we got our money, and we're very happy".

Careless driving

A 63-year-old Belleville woman has been charged with careless driving following a one-car accident Sunday, April 25th, Madoc Detachment of Provincial Police report.

Charged is Eldora May Cope of 21 Howard Street, Belleville.

Police said the accident occurred two miles east of the junction of Highways 7

Teen charged over accident

A 19-year-old Stirling resident has been charged with careless driving, Madoc Detachment of Provincial Police report.

Charged is William Robert Pollock of R.R. 2, Stirling.

The accident occurred on Highway 62 when the northbound car went off the road and entered the ditch, police said, just north of the Huntingdon and Thurlow Township lines.

Damage to the car is estimated by police at $300.

The car was westbound on Highway 7, when it lost control, entered the ditch on the south side and hit five guard rails, said police.

The police estimate damage to the car will be $1,000 and $50 for the guard rails. There were no injuries.

Serious condition following accident

A 28-year-old Madoc farmer is listed in serious condition in Belleville General Hospital following a mishap Sunday, April 25th.

Harry Bruce Dennis, of R.R. 4, Madoc, was driving a tractor scraping some top soil when it rolled over an edge of an embankment and pinned him underneath. He is reported to have suffered fractured ribs.

Constable W. Brown of the Madoc Detachment, Ontario Provincial Police, is investigating.

Authority sets aside $100,000 for Marmora

An expenditure figure in the story entitled Expect Full Report Within a Month, on the front page of last week's edition of The Marmora Herald was wrong. Attributed to Ralph Neal, representative to the Crowe Valley Conservation Authority for Marmora Village, the figure should have been $400,000. This figure would be the cost if the plans for the repair of the Marmora dam by one engineering company are accepted. The report was being conducted by the Ministry of the Environment to review the engineering plans prepared by Kilborne Engineering Co. for the proposed repairs of the Marmora dam. The report is expected to be tabled at the next meeting of the Authority in May. The Authority has set aside $100,000 of its budget if repairs or replacement of the dam became opportune.

Voice of the people

Dear Editor,

If any Marmora area residents were hoping for federal aid because of the recent flood damage, then hope no more.

The following conditions must be met to qualify for federal disaster relief:

1) Damage must exceed an amount higher than $1 per inhabitant of the province. Therefore in Ontario, the damage must exceed eight million dollars for any one disaster while Prince Edward Island would qualify if someone's barn burned down.

2) The federal government will only give fractional aid to the amount that exceeds $1 per inhabitant of the province. If damage were eight million and one dollar, then fractional aid would be given on the basis of the $1, roughly coming out to 75 cents.

3) The request for aid must come from the municipal government to the MPP to the provincial government to the federal Minister of the Environment.

This is simply another example of how the largest province in Canada is being drained by the smaller provinces.

Norwood, Ont.

Hospital Insurance Plan fees hiked

Increases in Ontario Hospital Insurance Plan (OHIP) payments and fees for private and semi-private hospital care were announced last week by Treasurer Darcy McKeough.

We salute

SHEILA MATCHETT - who is the Girl Guides Commissioner for the Hastings District, and was partially responsible for the reinstitution of the Brownie and Girl guide organization in this area.

HILDA MCGOWAN - who recently retired from the Madoc Branch of the Toronto Dominion Bank. Mrs. McGowan, who worked in the bank for 20.5 years, will make her home in Peterborough.

CLARKE ROLLINS - the incumbent member of provincial parliament for being re-elected April 21 in Madoc as candidate for the next provincial election.

I just want to point out one thing which will be a standard feature over the next few months. You may notice lower on this page a thermometer and list of coming events. The objective of this will be to inform you, the readers, how the battle is going for the New Community Centre.

The impetus for such a venture is the brainchild of councillor Tom Deline. Since I first started my new position here Monday, April 19, Tom and I have had many conversations concerning the new Centre.

We agree that a project of this type and calibre is just one of the biggest undertakings which a community can endeavour upon.

To accomplish such a task will take many hours, probably many frustrating hours, in the process.

Around the town with

Ron Hiuser

I would like to offer my help to the new centre. Though a new-comer to this area, I feel the Review has a responsibility, not only to inform but to aid such a project. The community centre deserves none less.

I make an open invitation for residents if they have any plans to raise funds for the project to contact the Review, and I'll see they get passed on to Mr. Deline.

Allow me to make a suggestion to the younger set. With the warmer weather now here, penny carnivals could be organized with the proceeds to go to the centre.

The goal is $225,000 and every penny will be useful to obtain the objective - your new community centre.

The Treasurer announced in his 1976-77 budget that effective May 1st, monthly OHIP premiums for individuals will be increased by $5 to $16 and for families by $10 to $32.

Daily fees for semi-private hospital care will be increased to $11 from $7.50 and for private care to $22 from $12.

Mr. McKeough said effective immediately, OHIP coverage will be extended to single persons with taxable incomes of $1,534 a year or less and to families with taxable incomes of $2,000 a year or less.

Current monthly OHIP premiums of $11 for individuals and $22 for families accounted for revenues of only $68 per capita in 1975-76 while costs were more than $300 per capita.

The increase will bring per capita costs more realistically in line, Mr. McKeough said.

He added that the increase will provide an additional $228 million in OHIP revenue in 1976-77.

The new premium scale is expected to provide about 28 per cent of the expected $2.755 billion cost of OHIP this fiscal year.

Per capita costs during 1971 for OHIP were $162 and premiums accounted for $81 per capita - about 50 per cent. Current premiums provide about 23 per cent of cost.

Mr. McKeough said the additional costs to most working families and individuals will be modest because employers now pay 88 per cent of group premiums.

"I estimate that $164 million will be paid by employers, $22 million by employees and $42 million by pay-direct subscribers such as professionals, businessmen and the self-employed".

The Treasurer said increased fees for hospital care are designed to strengthen the link between utilization and cost of care and will raise an additional $20 million which will be retained by hospitals and used to offset approved operating budgets.

The decision to extend free OHIP benefits will bring the total number of families and individuals benefitting to 1,702,000 - an increase of 296,000.

Mr. McKeough also announced that half-premium rates will be available to single persons with taxable incomes between $1,534 a year and $2,000 a year and to families with taxable incomes between $2,000 and $3,000.

This would benefit an additional 67,000 families and individuals.

The cost of the expanded premium assistance plan will be at least $279 million during 1976-77.

Total health spending in 1976-77 will be $3,343,000,000 compared with $2,993,000,000 in the last fiscal year.

Recent attempts by the province to reduce health expenditures this fiscal year included the closing of public medical laboratories, psychiatric hospitals and ten general hospitals. The government also ordered beds closed and operating budgets of hospitals reduced.

Leo Simpson leads quiet life

Leo Simpson is a recent recipient of a Canada Council grant of $15,000. The Madoc resident is shown here working as a Writer-in-Residence, at the University of Ottawa, 1973-74.

Canada Council grant aiding Madoc writer with invisible man

Whatever the public image of writers, it is a dull life, said Leo Simpson, recently awarded a Canada Council grant to complete a novel.

"It's not like a race car driver. You spend a lot of time at home alone," said Mr. Simpson.

A Madoc resident for the last ten years, Mr. Simpson said the $15,000 grant will allow him to take the time to finish his latest novel, The Adventures of Invisible Jack.

The story, he said, is about an invisible man who haunts a climate-controlled centre much like the Quinte Mall.

After working on the novel for over two years, Mr. Simpson said he expects it to be completed within six months.

He is also the author of two other novels, Arkwright and The Peacock Papers. Included in his past works are book reviews in the Toronto Globe and Mail, as well as numerous works for radio and television in Canada and the United States.

A collection of short stories will soon be released entitled, The Lady and Travelling Salesman.

"I like to work on novels and nothing else," said Mr. Simpson, who categorizes himself as a stylist.

Though the work is fiction, it does not mean that there is no work in doing researching. When you have a character in a book, he said, it is a lot easier to take a real person. If you try to create a person, it will turn out to be a Frankenstein.

Mr. Simpson came to Canada in 1961 via England from his native Ireland. He said a Canadian in England encouraged him to visit. Upon arrival, he said he enjoyed the country so much he decided to stay. "I love Canada. It is the best country in the world."

Mr. Simpson will receive the first part of his grant in early May, with the balance to be coming in July and October. To obtain the grant, Mr. Simpson had to have three referees for arts council namely, Margaret Laurence, Alice Munro and Audrey Thomas. "It was probably the recommendation from Margaret Laurence which got me the grant," he said.

Writers in general in the past have suffered for their art, he said. The Canada Council takes that suffering and eases it by distributing the grants. It's fair.

People are becoming more aware of the growth of Canadian culture. They are doing this by repatriating their writing industry through printing and publishing, said Mr. Simpson. "It's very healthy".

Culture will never pay for itself, Mr. Simpson said. It never has. Of the $36 million budget the Canada Council has, only $500,000 went to writers, he said. The remainder was distributed to theatre groups and other forms of art and culture.

Money was one of his reasons for moving to Madoc, Mr. Simpson said. The quiet, and the tranquility, the chance to have the time to sit, to write, and the beauty of the country beckoned.

Lots of stories in new Madoc book

Do you know the story behind the big Dale mansion on Elgin Street? Or the Morrison home on Davidson Street, the Griffin home on East St. Lawrence Street, or the large Blair house in the Township? The exclusive story is included on these and many more homesteads in 'Way Back When', the newly published book on the history of Madoc and area.

The book, containing over 600 pages, is the result of several long hours of compiling this history into an interesting hard-bound text. It will be ready for sale the first of next week.

'Way Back When' was written by Madoc Township residents, Ardith McKinnon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don McKinnon, and Garnet Pigden, son of Mr. and Mrs. Allan Pigden. The project was partially funded by a provincial government grant under the student summer employment program.

The book traces the history of numerous old homes, farms and pioneer families. Sketches of these by the artistic Miss McKinnon and a collection of old photographs add a great deal to the book. People from the United States and as far away as British Columbia have generously submitted old photographs and other articles to assist in the publication of the book.

Copies of the completed edition will be available at the office of the publisher, the Madoc Review Limited, at the first of next week.

There was a limited number of these books printed, so persons wishing to obtain a copy should not delay as a long list of persons have already reserved a copy. Each book will be $10.00, plus postage (if it is to be mailed).

This is the fourth hard-cover book published by Maurice Goulah, owner of the Madoc Review Limited. Other books include: "Them Were The Days" by Patricia (LeSage) Cockburn, Margaret Rashotte and Baden Vance; "The Oxen and The Axe" by the Pioneers Club of Cloyne, and "Pilgrimage of Faith" by Alma Moorcroft, Blanche Sandford and Alma Blackburn.

They've cleaned up

On Saturday April 24, residents of Cordova got together and cleaned up the winter's accumulation of litter along the roads. They covered the Cordova road, the north road as far as Russel Wiggins, and the Marmora road as far as Carman Hamilton's.

The volunteer garbageman and his helpers made two trips to the dump with his half ton truck piled full.

After the cleanup the 26 workers gathered at the rink for a hotdog roast and a volleyball game. Organizers, the Cordova Recreation Association, say they hope a clean up of this sort can be repeated with more volunteers covering a greater area. The clean-up was done well and gratefully appreciated, said the organizers.

The association is trying hard this year to raise money to put up new boards and new lighting for the Cordova rink which was in

Davis shuns details for directions

"I am not here to deal in detail about government policy ... but ... to try and give you some feeling to the directions we see the government going" William Davis, premier, told Progressive Conservative party delegates Wednesday, April 21.

Speaking at the nomination convention for the riding of Hastings-Peterborough, at Centre Hastings Secondary School, Madoc, Mr. Davis said, the vote last September was not conclusive. This resulted in a minority government, but he stated that he was "making a genuine effort to make minority government work in this province".

"We intend to govern by principle, by Progressive Conservative principle", he said, and if the opposition does not like it, "they know what they can do."

An example of this principle is the government's actions to deal with the problem of the inflation and its restraint. "Some of what we have to do is not pleasant", said the premier. "It is a lot easier to say yes to people than to say no".

It is time for the governments to start setting examples to the rest of the country, said Mr. Davis. This, he pointed out, has not been done by the federal government. "There is one thing I can always say to the public of this province. I have never tried to pass the buck".

All governments have been responsible for the economic situation that exists, said Mr. Davis. "We have partially been involved in building a level of expectation on the part of the public". As Canadians, Mr. Davis said, we have been living beyond our means and government programs which are universal have to be more restrictive.

This has resulted in "some slack, but it is the right course to take", he said.

Mr. Davis mentioned the Minister of Community and Social Services who is under attack from the opposition for expressing a "simple principle", where people on welfare should seek jobs, full-time or part-time, instead of receiving welfare benefits. Asking the question, "What's wrong with that?", the premier received an ovation.

Mr. Davis said there is misunderstanding in the public. While the government believes people should be working, there is "no way ... the government be put in a position of not assisting those in genuine need."

The strength of the party, he said, has been, "we have had a sensitivity ... and a recognition that we have an obligation to help."

One way of maintaining the social systems which are considered necessary is to get people who are willing to take the risks of the business world, he said. "There are no free rides".

Talking on the government's restraint program, Mr. Davis said he can understand the problems that must be faced in the fields of education and medicine. But, he said, even with the restraint program, there is not a better health service throughout the world.

The government has limited its increase of expenditures to 10.4 per cent, whereas the federal government is 16 per cent, he said. The provincial realm has reduced its civil service by 4,000, but has still maintained the level of service.

"If we are to take inflation under control, and if government can't set an example, who else will?" asked the premier.

Dr. Victor Macy

Missionary guest speaker in Madoc

Dr. Victor Macy, lifetime missionary to Africa, will be guest speaker at the Wesleyan and Free Methodist Church, Madoc, on Friday, April 30, at 7:45 p.m.

As Africa Area Secretary, Dr. Macy was counsellor and liaison for all Free Methodist missionaries and churches in Africa south of the Sahara. He was well qualified for this position, having had wide experience in the administrative, educational and ministerial work of the African churches.

Almost anywhere in southern Africa is home to Dr. and Mrs. Macy. During their missionary career, which spanned more than thirty-eight years, they served in African countries of Mozambique, South Africa, Rhodesia and Zaire. During their most recent term, the Macys lived in Zaire.

Dr. Macy has travelled extensively in Asia and Latin America, as well as Africa, to film on location. His latest release concerns an African churchman in Burundi.

A graduate of Seattle Pacific College of Seattle Washington, Dr. Macy was chosen in 1961 for the Alumnus of the Year award. He holds the degree of Master of Sacred Theology from Biblical Seminary in New York City. He also attended the University of Portugal in Coimbra, and Livingston College in London.

The public is invited to hear Dr. Macy speak concerning the development of the church in Africa during this time of political unrest and social upheaval.

Two branch offices open in Marmora

Two new branch offices, one in real estate and the other in land surveying, are opening soon in Marmora.

Barry and Forchuk Real Estate Limited will open for business at 9:00 a.m. on Thursday of this week on McGill Street, two doors north of the Marmora Herald. The company's headquarters is in Trenton, with a second branch office in Belleville.

Discussing his reason for opening a branch office in Marmora, company president Frank Barry said he had noted the challenge given recently by Councillor Dave McLellan to the people of Marmora to "get off their asses and get to work to better their community".

"Personally, I have great faith in this community and believe it is one area that is going to go ahead. That is why we are opening an office here", Mr. Barry commented.

The local office will be staffed by sales representatives Lillian and Breen O'Connor, who are well-known Marmora township residents; and occasionally Rita Peppiatt, a former Marmora woman. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hulsman, of Deloro.

Mr. Barry is also well known in the Marmora area, having a cottage near Glen Alan where he and his family spend as much time as a busy life allows. The other partner in the company is Mrs. Eileen Forchuk.

Next door to the real estate office, Nick Verhoef, Land Surveyor, of Campbellford, expects to begin this weekend setting up a branch office to his company.

Quite a number of PM and PP introduced themselves including the PP from Kapuskasing, husband of the Grand Chaplain.

Visitors and Marmora and Havelock Chapters stood and were welcomed.

Minutes of previous meeting were read and approved. Hazel Mumby gave a Estaral report.

The sunshine committee reported visits and cards sent. They suggested that Susie Thompson, Springbrook, would appreciate cards.

A coffee party is scheduled for June 17. A special church service in Tweed, St. John's United Church, evening of April 25, is also set.

A letter from Grand Chapter stressing the desire of the WGM to purchase a piece of equipment for the Shriners' Hospital was read.

The ways and means committee were asked to consider a booth at the Marmora Fair.

The WGM spoke briefly about her project, thanked the co-hostesses for the dinner and the lunch still to come. She stressed that Easter is a time for sharing.

The WGP enjoyed the dinner and offered thanks for his boutonniere. He asked the "Navigators" to stand and said how grateful they all were for their services in driving the grand officers.

Gifts and money were presented to the Worthy Grand Matron and WG Patron.

The Worthy Matrons wished all a happy and a blessed Easter.

The altar was draped in memory of Irene Robson, a beloved member of Marmora Chapter.

Closing ceremonies and retiring of officers was followed by a lunch served by Havelock Chapter and a time for visiting.

Three residents to hospitals

A single-car accident has sent three village residents to hospitals in Belleville and Kingston, Friday, April 23, Madoc detachment of the provincial police report.

In Belleville General Hospital, listed in satisfactory condition is Larry Holland, 29 of 34 McGill St. Also in Belleville is Mr. Holland's wife, Shirley, 26, listed in fair condition. Their daughter Shelly, 3, was transferred to Kingston General Hospital with injuries to her head and left hand. Police report the accident occurred when the car Mr. Holland was driving went off the road into a ditch on Matthew St. The car rolled four times. Police said that Mr. Holland said an east bound car forced him off the road. The east bound vehicle did not stop a police spokesperson reported. Investigations are being held into the mishap.

Salvation Army Red Shield campaign

The Salvation Army's annual Red Shield Appeal will be held during the month of May in the towns of Marmora and Madoc. Commencing on Monday, May 3, there is every evidence of success again, according to the General Campaign Chairman, Les Rawlings of Tweed.

The objective of $4,000 will make possible the continuance of Salvation Army services in the community for the next year. It is absolutely essential that this amount be realized to meet operating deficit on The Army's social services caring for all kinds of human need, he said.

The campaign theme, "If you don't need our help, we need yours" - makes a direct appeal to every citizen for their support.

Envoy Don Leach expressed confidence in the local citizens, feeling certain they will stand by The Salvation Army in a practical way again this year and help put the campaign over the top.

In Marmora, the Marmora Legion will conduct the canvass during May.

In Madoc, a Blitz Night will be held on Monday evening May 10. The students council of CHSS will conduct the residential campaign and the Madoc Legion will conduct the business district campaign.

It's unanimous -- Clarke Rollins running again!

The sign strung across the stage of the CHSS auditorium last Wednesday night spoke for a packed hall of supporters as the Ontario premier arrived in Madoc for the riding's PC nomination convention.

Traditions, values of growing concern to politicians

Traditions and values of today are a growing concern of politicians, said William Davis, premier, talking to the delegates at the Progressive Conservative Nomination convention, Wednesday, April 21, in Madoc.

Violence is just one of these concerns which "I have been criticised about," he said. "The desire for the people of the province to 'maintain the quality of life is a real thing.'"

Mr. Davis pointed to the neighbors south of the border as an example of how a society would evolve when it becomes too permissive. There, things have become too sophisticated and they say it doesn't matter but, "I still believe they are."

"I'm old fashion enough to believe in the family unit," he said. It is an important part of this society, stated Mr. Davis.

The government has a responsibility to demonstrate a moral leadership, and start asking people just where the society is headed today, he said.

"I think there is too much violence on television, and I make no bones about it," but Mr. Davis refused to make any comment on professional hockey.

He said he is not looking for censorship, but a sense of expression from the people, that values are important.

One of the "great tasks" for the people of this province is to maintain the quality of life that is present, Mr. Davis said.

A lively, spirited playing of O Canada at the beginning of last week's Hastings-Peterborough PC nomination convention

evening with an equally lively version of God Save The Queen.

'Support encouraged me,' says riding MPP

"Support was such, to encourage me to go back," to provincial office, said Clarke Rollins. A 17-year political veteran, Mr. Rollins will carry the Progressive Conservative colors again into the election arena.

At the Hastings-Peterborough riding meeting Wednesday, April 21, in the gymnasium of Centre Hastings Secondary School in Madoc, Mr. Rollins, 64, was given the party banner unopposed. An estimated 1,200 people turned up at the meeting approving the incumbent's nomination.

Reeve William McCrea, of Hungerford Township but he declined. He then congratulated Mr. Rollins on "his bloodless victory," which brought laughter from the crowd.

In his acceptance speech Mr. Rollins said, "It is indeed an honor to have this pleasure of being chosen as your candidate for the next election, whenever it may be called, and I'd like to say to each and everyone of you, how much it means to me to carry on as your representative to the great riding of Hastings-Peterborough."

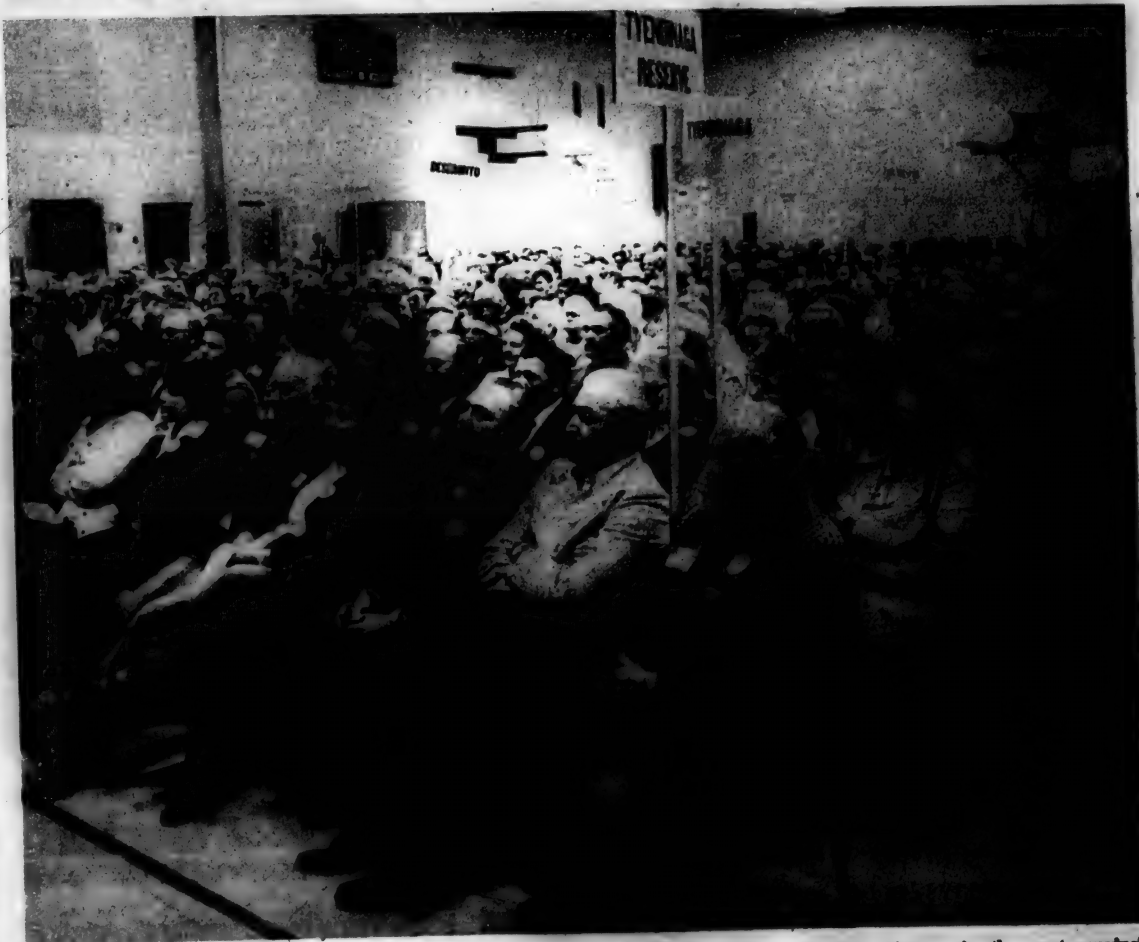

Mr. Rollins went on to say there has been many changes in the 17 years that he has been in the provincial government. "Without your support, and effort, it would have been impossible to do so."

The special guest speaker for the occasion was William Davis, premier of the province. Mr. Rollins said of Mr. Davis that on the occasion when, "it was necessary for me to go to the Honorable William Davis, I have never been turned down on anything that I have asked for."

In closing Mr. Rollins said, "I will endeavour to carry out my responsibilities, to do my best, on your behalf in the provincial government in the months ahead."

There was a nomination from the floor for Representatives from Dummer to Cavendish, from Tyendinaga to Norwood, were present in Madoc Wednesday night to nominate MPP Clarke Rollins as the PC standard bearer in the next provincial election.

Natural harbor main base, Lake Ontario

Its magnificent natural harbor was chosen by Count Frontenac way back in 1673 as the main base for his ships on Lake Ontario.

It was captured by the British in 1758 and the surrounding area was settled mainly by Loyalists from the US who named it King's Town, or Kingston, in 1788.

Shipyards were established at Kingston during the War of 1812 and the town became a supply centre for front-line troops.

Kingston, at that time, was home port for HMS St. Lawrence, the largest battleship anywhere in its day.

Kingston is a city of forts, museums and stately old houses, and would be well worth a visit even without the Olympics.

Yachting has been part of the Olympics since the 1908 London games when races were held on the English Channel and the Firth of Clyde, Scotland.

The six classes entered at Kingston are the single-handed Finn; the 470 and the Flying Dutchmen, two-man centreboard boats; the Tempest and the Soling, a two-man and a three-man boat, both with weighted keels; and the Tornado Catamaran, a multihull class boat with a two-man crew competing in the Olympics for the first time.

These different courses will be laid out on Lake Ontario: one for Solings, Tempests and Flying Dutchmen; one for the slower Finns and 470's; and the other for the Tornados.

Kingston will have its own Olympic Village for athletes and team officials from the 40 countries expected to compete in yachting events.

The village will be on the Queen's University campus, 1.5 kilometres from Portsmouth Harbor, site of the Olympic Yachting Centre.

Olympics coming to Kingston too

The most Olympic city, next to Montreal, is Kingston, site of the 1976 yachting events. The special conditions required for these competitions are not available in Montreal.

This is not an unusual situation. Since the Second World War only once, at Helsinki, Finland, have the yachting events been held at or close to the main Summer Olympics site.

Kingston, situated on Lake Ontario, has hosted several international championship yachting competitions and its facilities have acquired a world-wide reputation.

This historic city of 60,000 nearly 300 kilometres up the St. Lawrence River from Montreal, is known to yachtsmen as one of the best freshwater sailing areas anywhere.

Mul-lan it over...

with Don Mullan

"PARDON ME, SIR. Do you live in the city?"

The question came from a rather short middle-aged man, as I was standing amid the shops of the Four Seasons Hotel, Toronto, over the weekend.

"No," I replied, thinking he probably wanted directions to some place or another. "I'm from out-of-town."

"Oh, you speak English," came the immediate response. "Oh, no offence, sir...you see, I'm from New Brunswick, and I've just arrived in Toronto, and I'm so happy to have found somebody who speaks my language."

Strange, I thought. There are very few people in Metro who can't speak English, so it was rather puzzling to have somebody express such surprise that yes, indeed, I could speak the English language as well as he. Where did he think he was in, Siberia?

"YOU SEE," he continued. "my wife, two children and I have just got off the train."

"I'm to start a new job here on Monday, and well...quite frankly, sir...I'm broke. We don't know anybody here, we have no place to go, and there's no money to even buy the kids something to eat. Do you think you could give me a little something?"

The smell of booze on his breath made it obvious that the gent must have had cash for a bottle, so I wondered why he didn't have the 'bread' for the necessities of life as well.

"There are organizations set up to assist people in need, like yourself," I pointed out, rather skeptic about the whole line he had fed me. "Why don't you try one of those?"

He almost got angry at the suggestion. "It's Saturday," he barked. "The welfare office is closed."

"WHERE ARE your wife and children?" I asked.

"Down at the train station," he replied. "Why aren't they with you?" I quizzed, thinking more and more that the wife and kids probably didn't exist.

"You don't believe me, sir, do you," he said.

"I didn't say that," I replied. "I just thought that if you were new in the city, and had no place to go, they'd be with you."

"Oh, sir...I don't want to drag them all around the city while I try to find some help. They're tired as it is."

"Then let's go to the station and see them," I said.

"You mean you really want to meet them?" he replied.

"Yes," I said. "Let's go." We hadn't gone any further than five steps when he stopped abruptly, and stammered.... "You...mean...you...REAL-ly...want to meet my family."

"Yes," I replied.

"Why," he asked.

"Why not," I responded. "I'd like to talk with them, and perhaps then, I really could give you a hand."

"Oh....." he replied. "Well....I don't think it would be such a good idea for you to meet my wife and kids."

"WHY NOT?"

"Well....my wife....you know....she doesn't know I'm out begging. If she found out, she'd really let me have it."

"Oh, don't worry about that," I replied. "I'll protect you."

(I was feeling pretty brave, about this point. After all, it would be no problem to protect anybody from something that didn't exist.)

"Oh....but you don't know my wife...." came the reply, as the fellow held a hand up over his head. She's a big woman."

It was obvious by now that the man was really lying....no ifs, ands or buts about it. If the kids existed, and he really needed help for them, he'd have taken me to them.

"I GUESS YOU had better look for a handout someplace else," I said, in a rather firm tone.

"OK, sir," he replied, quickly, apparently glad to get away from my probing. And suddenly, he was gone.

Lost in the crowd, I suppose, in search of another sucker.

One, perhaps, who wouldn't ask so many embarrassing questions.

Abattoir break-in near Stirling

A break-in at People's Abattoir, near Stirling, Wednesday, April 21, resulted in about 500 pounds of meat being stolen, report the Madoc detachment of the provincial police.

The slaughter house, located about five miles north of Stirling, reported the break-in at 8:15 p.m. the same evening, police said.

The quantity of meat was made up of beef and pork, said police.

Access to the building was gained when a window was broken enabling the front door to be opened, police report.

Letters are appreciated by Bob Trotter, Elsie Rd., Elmira, Ont. N3B 2C7

It would seem that preservation of good farmland in Ontario is going to be left up to God.

For 10 years, this writer has been harping on the problem. For 10 years, many politicians have jumped on the bandwagon and screamed about the disappearance of farmland.

But nobody seems to want to do anything about it.

Many conflicting figures have been bandied about during those 10 years. The Ontario Federation of Agriculture five or six years ago had statistics to prove that farmland was disappearing in this province at the rate of 26 acres an hour, every hour of every day in the year.

Stephen Lewis used those figures to great advantage in the last provincial election. Obviously, a great many people believed him. He jumped from third party to opposition leader.

Premier Davis consistently denied the 26-acres-an-hour figure. He said, if I remember correctly, that it was about one-third lower. Bill Stewart, the former provincial agriculture minister, stoutly maintained that the province put more land back into agricultural production when it gained control of those thousands of acres around the now-defunct Pickering airport.

Who can you believe?

I think I'll put my money on Douglas Hoffman, director of the centre for resources development at the University of Guelph. He was the author of the report on farmland which the province tried to prevent from being publicized.

Prof. Hoffman maintains that "land is being converted from agriculture to other uses so quickly that keeping an accurate figure of land in agriculture is an almost impossible task."

I'll put a buck or two as well on the Ontario Institute of Agrologists, an organization of professional agricultural specialists. The association warned months ago that legislation "within a year" is essential in Ontario to protect prime foodland and ensure that Ontario will be able to feed itself by the end of the century.

"We must find an ethical relationship to the land," said

Prof. Hoffman in his report, "or else we may waste our heritage and leave little for those that follow."

Research has convinced him that farmland is disappearing. Not only that, he said, it is impossible to recover it, a point this corner has been making for a decade. You cannot reclaim land buried under tons of asphalt, concrete and ticky-tacky houses.

Researchers, for the most part, agree with the federation's and Mr. Lewis's figures: 26 acres an hour.

Prof. Hoffman said an up-to-date study of how much farmland has disappeared and is disappearing probably will never be done. Why?

"Because at the rate it's going, the study would be out-of-date as soon as it appeared."

When questioned a little further, Prof. Hoffman said, "I guess I'm talking about a freeze on agricultural land but a lot of people don't like that phrase. A lot of people think that as long as farmers are still having problems selling what they grow (such as milk, eggs and poultry) there's no need for controls on the land."

"But we should be thinking ahead 25 years or 100 years when it will be impossible to undo what is being done now."

He is talking about the population explosion around the world. He is also talking about the population expected in Ontario which, by the admission of the high-priced planning help engaged by the province, will double in the next 15 years.

Government is obviously not prepared to listen to the recommendations made by its own experts. The report, prepared by the food, land and development branch of the provincial agriculture ministry, is being patently ignored.

In other words, the politicians on the government side are sustaining a myth. They have been paying lip service to the idea that farmland must be preserved but have taken nothing but bland, wishy-washy, fatuous steps in that direction.

If I were Bill Newman — or Eugene Whelan, for that matter — I would make those Cabinet ministers listen to me or resign.

PARLIAMENT HILL

A Canadian president???

By Peter Ward

OTTAWA — (SF) — We've been hearing a lot from the Prime Minister lately about unilaterally bringing the constitution home to Canada. He has even gone to the extent of having an open fight with Quebec Premier Robert Bourassa, and saying publicly that the constitution could be brought home without Quebec's approval.

Personally, I smell a rat — a political rat. It sounds like Mr. Trudeau is beginning early to lay the foundation for the next election campaign, which he wants to fight on his terms. The idea is apparently to create a constitutional smoke-screen which will drive all memories of inequitable price and income controls, Skyshop scandals, and ministers monkeying with judges, out of the minds of the voters.

I've been told that some of Mr. Trudeau's political thinkers are considering the proposal of bringing the constitution home from the United Kingdom unilaterally, and tying the proposal in with proclaiming Canada to be a republic. The suggestion is that the monarchy be abolished, a Canadian president be created, but that we stay as part of the British Commonwealth.

Politically, the ploy would be as brilliant as it would be cynical. Mr. Trudeau and his political strategists know that any suggestion of abolishing the monarchy would rend the Conservative party with division, fracturing the opposition on a stalking horse.

The make-up of Canada has so changed over the past 30 years, that the majority are quite indifferent about the monarchy, although a solid minority — ever diminishing — regards it as a sacred part of our system.

A smaller minority is just as firmly opposed to the monarchy, and regards it as the last vestige of colonialism — a phrase which Mr. Trudeau is beginning to use with a suspicious degree of frequency.

Sure, vote for Mr. Trudeau's new republic, and just see what other dandy little changes in our constitution can be arranged. Hopefully Canadians are politically adult enough to see through such Machiavellian plotting.

Festivals marking the arrival of Spring

All over Canada the arrival of spring is welcomed each year with festivals celebrating the reawakening of nature, and a resurgence of vitality.

Four of the most popular are the Blossom Festival at Niagara Falls, Ontario, May 7-18; the Ottawa Spring Festival, May 16-24; the Guelph (Ontario) Spring Festival April 23-May 9; and the Creston Blossom Festival in British Columbia, May 21-24.

The Niagara Blossom Festival takes place in the fruit belt of southern Ontario. Besides orchards in bloom it features a parade, folk dancing, sports competitions, handicraft exhibitions and sailing.

Multi-cultural dancing and singing groups will present an opening show on May 7 entitled Ethnic Heritage.

During the parade next day, Miss Niagara Hospitality, Miss Canada, Miss USA and Miss Universe will salute the crowd from a special float. Dignitaries, parliamentarians and mayors of neighboring communities will be on hand for the event.

Contestants for Miss Niagara Hospitality will take part in a multi-cultural fashion show Sunday, May 9. A cooking competition, an animal show, boys' and girls' soccer tournament, lacrosse game and grand dance at the Park Motor Hotel on May 15 will round out the program.

The origin of Ottawa's Festival of Spring (formerly the Canadian Tulip Festival) goes back to September, 1946, when Queen Juliana of The Netherlands sent a gift of 20,000 tulip bulbs to Canada as a special thank-you from the Dutch people for the role played by Canadian troops in the liberation of Holland during the Second World War. The following year, another gift of tulips came, and so on year after year—until today over two million tulips of Dutch origin bloom in the Ottawa spring.

Queen Juliana, who had spent the war years in Canada during The Netherlands occupation, also arranged for a personal annual presentation of bulbs to celebrate the birth there of her daughter, Princess Margriet in 1943.

The tulips this year, as always, will be the main attraction at the Festival of Spring. There are more than 150,000 of them in a single bed at Dow's Lake at the south end of the Rideau Canal. They also bedeck Parliament Hill, miles of scenic driveways, city cycle paths, the Rideau Canal, parks and squares and major public buildings.

REGION

Hull and other communities in the National Capital Region will also participate in the Festival.

Events include: a procession of decorated boats on the Rideau Canal; a bathtub race on Dow's Lake, a giant craft market and beer-garden in Major's Hill Park and displays of fireworks.

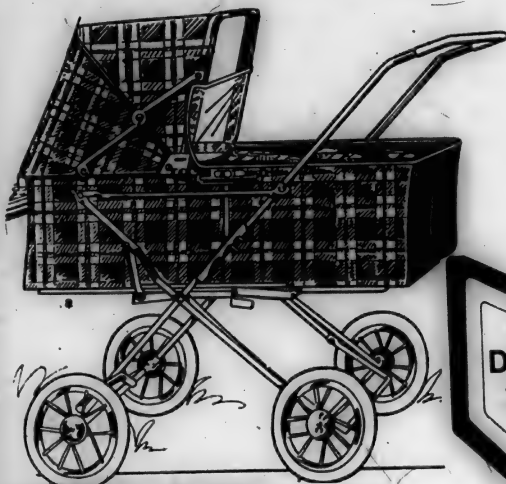

The Guelph Spring Festival is essentially a musical event. This year the Festival is concentrating on Canadian artistic talent, highlighted by a few outstanding international contributions.

The Canadian talent will be employed in works including the Hamilton Philharmonic Orchestra, the Cantata Singers of Ottawa, a three-performance run of Benjamin Britten's The Beggar's Opera and the Canadian Mime Theatre from Niagara-on-the-Lake, Ont.

The big lie

By BILL SMILEY

WHEN you manage to totter through to what is euphemistically called these days "middle age," you are supposed to be able to relax a little, slow down, take it easy, enjoy all those things you never had time for before.

After all, your kids are grown up now, and on their own. The mortgage is paid off, or nearly. Passion is not exactly spent, but let's say that you don't exactly turn to jelly at the sight of a big buzzon.

If your health is reasonable, you should have a quarter-century of mellow living ahead, time to travel, to contemplate your navel, to read all those books, to cultivate your own garden, before you are quietly shuffled off to one of those institutions with the ghastly names, like Sunset Haven or Trail's End Paradise.

I am here to state, quietly but with grim ferocity, that this is one of the Big Lies perpetrated by our society on young people when they are raising their children.

It's a lot of poppycock, chaps. Take my advice and have all the fun you can while you're young. Go to Europe, buy a farm, take a year off. Do what you want to now, because you won't have time when you're middle-aged.

I just sat down here for a minute, to stop my head spinning, and it struck me that it's the first chance I've had to sit down and take my usual cool perspective of life for weeks.

Life is not exactly a gay, mad whirl when you're middle-aged. It's more like a case of the blind staggers.

Just for example. If we're not running in one direction to see our two grandsons, we're running in another to see their 83-year-old great-grandfather.

Recently, in a wave of good feeling, we decided to treat my daughter and her husband to a night out. They are students, broke, and never get out. So I hawked up the price of dinner and a show, and my old lady told them we'd be delighted to baby-sit.

Fine. Any grandparents would do it. But it was akin to a disaster. First-born grandbabby, Pokey, was so wild with excitement at seeing his favorite toys, servants and sycophants, that he ran around the apartment like a demented chipmunk, up and down over the furniture, leaping into arms, jabbering and laughing and roaring with defiance at any effort to cool him down.

And the other guy, the little, fat new one, is a bawler. He doesn't even bawl at the drop of a hat. He bawls at will. And at Suse. That's my wife. I'm Will.

6.30, baby asleep, Pokey fed. Two minutes later, the bawler was at it. Two hours later, he was still at it. Somewhere in there I'd managed to stick our dinner (a frozen chicken pie) in the oven. At 8.30, my wife was sitting with him on her knee, trying to give him a bottle with one hand and spear a bit of chicken pie with the other. Across from her, I sat with Pokey on my knee, feeding him every second bite of my meagre portion.

At 9.20 we had them both asleep. We collapsed. At 9.45, little fatso woke up and bleated for titty. He scorns the bottle. Suffice it to say it was a long evening.

But that was unusual, you say. Most of your life is pretty tranquil and even in tone. Well, that's what you think, Buster. I didn't even curl this past winter, and scarcely had time to blow my nose.

Right now, aside from a full day's teaching, I am doing the advertising and publicity for the school Open House, preparing to be a guest on a panel discussion and modelling for an art class. In my spare time, I mark papers and prepare lessons.

Modelling, did I say? Yep. I'm a model. The art department at the school wanted a live model. They conned me into it by pretending they wanted somebody with character in his face. Well, I have lots of that: wrinkles, broken nose, bloodshot eyes, the lot. Later, I discovered the reason I was chosen was because I was the only teacher who had a spare that period, except for one woman teacher, and she refused to model in the nude.

I didn't. I was all for it. So were the student painters. But the puritanical old administration wouldn't allow it. They were afraid they'd have girl art students fainting all over the place. Not in awe. In horror. So I have to do it in a loincloth, with a mask over my eyes so they won't know who I am.

You think I'm busy? You ought to see my wife. Aside from her regular housework, she teaches piano, knits and sews (simultaneously, it seems to me), prepares the income tax return, chooses and uses new paint and wallpaper, runs around trying to find clothes for two grandsons, and gallops down to Simpson's order office to return things three times a week (it was she who put Eaton's catalogue out of business.)

So. Just a word of wisdom to you young people. Don't swallow that bromide about a serene middle age. It's about as serene as Saturday night in the corner saloon. Gather ye rosebuds while ye may, Ye won't have time when ye're old and gray.

Monument to honor Jacques Cartier

OTTAWA - Judd Buchanan, minister responsible for Parks Canada, has announced that Treasury Board has approved the establishment of a national historic monument in Gaspé, Quebec, commemorating the discovery of Canada by Jacques Cartier. The monument will be erected overlooking Gaspé Bay.

Also planned for the same site is the museum of the Societe historique de Gaspé, which will include a parking area and service facilities.

During the fall of 1974, four well-known sculptors were asked by Parks Canada to submit a model for a monument to commemorate Jacques Cartier's taking possession of Canada in the name of the king of France and to illustrate his first encounter with North American Indians.

A committee, composed of public servants, members of the Historic Sites and Monuments Board of Canada, experts and private citizens from Gaspé, was asked to select the work that would best represent the culture of Quebec and the Gaspé region.

The work chosen was that of Jean-Julien Bourgault, a sculptor from Saint-Jean Port-Joli.

Mr. Buchanan will unveil a model of the work on Friday, April 9. Mr. Bourgault and his sons Pier and Gilles, who will assist him, will be present for the ceremony. The municipality of Gaspé will then decide whether to leave the Cartier cross in place or adopt the Bourgault monument as a memorial to the famed explorer's arrival.

In 1970, the Historic Sites and Monuments Board of Canada recommended to the Minister responsible for Parks Canada that the discovery of our country by Jacques Cartier in the name of the king of France be commemorated in Gaspé as one of the most important events in Canadian history.

A look at the backgrounds of Pierre Trudeau and Joe Clark

DOUGLAS FISHER

"But he couldn't even learn to tie a reef knot." — A comment about Joe Clark by an Alberta woman of the same age.

Joe Clark, 36, MP from or for Rocky Mountain, married almost three years ago to Maureen McTeer, for all of two months the leader of the official Opposition, the obvious alternative to the Prime Minister, Pierre Trudeau.

How's Joe doing? What are we finding out about him? Is a critical line of attack against Clark discernible yet on the part of: (A) the Liberals; (B) the political journalists; and (C) the back-biting brethren in the Tory parliamentary caucus?

The first general observation on these questions is that goodwill reigns. A benign view and a hope-for-the-best attitude are both still in play — inhibiting the nasties and cloaking Joe in warm expectations, not dread. Yes, the honeymoon continues.

And yet... one can spot the small, dark cloud on the Clark horizon. One can see it in a number of in-depth stories of journalists who were sent by their papers or magazines along the fairly short back-trail of young Joe Clark.

What these writers are coming back with is encyclopedic in the bits, pieces and opinions from those who knew Joe as a baby, a boy, a pupil, a student, a would-be politician, a politician.

The same stuff caught up Pierre Trudeau in 1968 when he emerged from an obscurity almost as deep as High River. Indeed, there are a few parallels (though more contrasts) in the Trudeau and Clark pre-fame legends. Both were loners as kids and adolescents. Both were perennial students. Neither was a lady's man or a girl's boy. Neither really ever had permanent employment before he was elected to the House of Commons — Trudeau at 46, Clark at 33.

Neither was seen in their childhoods and youths by their peers as leaders. Both, fairly late, married most ambitious kids.

Trudeau did have, however, the cachet of wealth throughout his life. It clearly glamorized him for his classmates and colleagues during his almost interminable post-adolescence.

Although neither Pierre nor Joe were what we would call "regular fellows" the disparities come in their academic and athletic performances.

What is bugging a lot of the reporters (not without their own snobbishness about abilities and standards) is that Joe Clark was simply a scrape-by student. Wherever he was — grade school, high school, university, law school — Joe barely coped most of the time. Sometimes he failed.

Apparently, he was always serious, dedicated and persistent. But as one classmate at the University of Alberta told a reporter "not very bright... you know... never really with it."

Trudeau, although no Rhodes Scholar or brilliant gold medalist was recognized by classmates and teachers alike as brainy, sharp-edged and radical. He never really competed against anyone else but himself as student or scholar but such self-competition put him pretty high.

Further, Pierre Trudeau could almost "stand-in" for the 127 pound weakling whom a Charles Atlas mail-order course of "dynamic tension" converted into an athletic, muscley man, an adornment to any diving board. Pierre made himself into a coordinated athlete of sorts, according to the reminiscences of friends and family, largely to meet the expectations of his father.

Poor Joe. Not only was he marginal as a student, he was a continuing disaster at anything physical or gamesy from baseball to hockey to dancing to tying knots at cubs. Those who have come to hate Trudeau are usually prepared to say that "he's smart" or "he's fit." Even as a menace Trudeau is seen as an exceptional menace.

Poor Joe. What's creeping forward as an image, what is likely to jell in a few months, what the Grits will run with as caricature and lampoon, is Joe Clark as the Canadian Gerry Ford (who, however, couldn't even play tag, let alone football).

The most common way to grasp what a person is or may become is to examine them under the two crude categories: Physical and mental. Or brawn and brain. The message filtering up on Joe Clark is that he rates as very undistinguished on either side of this duality.

Is such imagery, hardened into stereotype, likely to hurt, even destroy Joe's shot at being prime minister? I think that will depend very much on how Joe Clark lives with it and works with it.

My hunch is that Joe Clark made the rare and important discovery about himself some years ago. He knows he isn't very bright. He knows he isn't exceptional. He senses that his one distinction is his very mediocrity. He really is "of the people," of those ordinary, "fellow Canadians" who John Diefenbaker (a very exceptional man) is always addressing.

Joe may make — he could make — a success of being prime minister, plainly because he is much more like most of us than Pierre Trudeau, John Turner, Otto Lang, etc. etc. plain, simple and awkward.

Hastings-Peterborough Liberals back separate organizations

Hastings-Peterborough Provincial Liberal Association delegates to Liberal Party's annual meeting in Toronto backed the move to split the party into provincial and federal wings.

The move carried by about an 85 per cent affirmative vote, meaning the party now has two separate wings, with separate executives in charge of each.

The move was seen as a vote of confidence in new provincial leader Stuart Smith who had requested the move. Representing the local riding were Hastings-Peterborough Provincial Liberal Association president Don Mullan, secretary Wilma Brady, policy committee chairman Laurie Cameron, candidate David Hobson, financial officer Ernie Carswell and women's representative Ina March.

"The decision to split the party into two wings was an administrative one," Mr. Mullan told this newspaper.

"It doesn't mean a split between Prime Minister Trudeau, and Ontario leader Stuart Smith, as some people are trying to say."

"Both wings will work together in many different ways."

Mosquitoes

Ontario is launching a public information program to assist household control of mosquitoes. This will supplement provincial and municipal control activities aimed at the elimination of the encephalitis threat, Environment Minister George Kerr and acting Health Minister Bette Stephenson announced Thursday, April 15.

A home control pamphlet is being made available to householders through local health units in what is called the encephalitis belt. This section is the part of Ontario south of a line drawn from the top of Lambton County to the fringe of Metropolitan Toronto. This pamphlet offers tips on eliminating insect breeding sites, using repellents and insecticides and tips on avoiding mosquito bites.

This information will be available to local health units outside the encephalitis belt on request of the municipality and to individual householders from any local ministry of environment office.

Type of pensions get top priority of new Steelworkers executive

The type of pensions given by the Marmaraton Mining Company will be the top priority, said Roy Frost, president-elect for the 250 hourly-rated employees of the mine.

Presently there is a deferred pension which is not given to employees until they reach 65 years of age, said Mr. Frost. With the closing of the mine scheduled for 1980,

Mr. Frost said, Bethlehem Steel, the parent company, "has to take the responsibility of the employees."

Mr. Frost said that there are many men who have worked at the site most of their lives. A worker who is 45 years old and has spent 25 years working at the mine, "is entitled to something better than a deferred pension," he said.

Ninety per cent of the executive's effort will be for the improving of the pensions, the president-elect said.

Mr. Frost noted that pensions are the only issue which is negotiated in the local, since wages and other issues are decided in the United States. Pensions are controlled in Canada due to law, stated Mr. Frost.

Another area where the union will work in is trying to get the employees re-located in other mines owned by Bethlehem Steel, said Mr. Frost.

Bethlehem Steel, he said, owns 17 per cent of a mine in Sept Isles, Quebec, and the union will try to get some employees there. He mentioned that employees would probably not be permitted to go to the United States to work because of the number of unemployed workers there.

Mr. Frost emphasized that the company has "always been good," with informing the union of the current situation. "We're the first people to know."

The new executive are a group of "very good people," who are not strangers with union work, he said.

Ontario scholarships are being offered to 1,000 students

The Honourable Harry C. Partott, DDS, Minister of Colleges and Universities, announced recently that Ontario Graduate Scholarships have been offered to 1,000 outstanding students among those intending to pursue full-time graduate studies at Ontario universities in 1976-77.

The scholarships reward academic excellence and are worth $1,250 per term for a maximum of $3,750 over three consecutive terms. This year's Ontario Graduate Scholarships have increased in dollar value by more than 10 per cent over last year's scholarships which had a maximum value of $800 plus tuition fees.

Scholarship winners were selected on the basis of academic merit, regardless of discipline. The selection board was chaired by Professor D.C. Jordan of the University of Guelph. Other members of the board were Professor M.E. Arthur, Lakehead University; Professor A.J. Baer, University of Ottawa; Professor G.B. Craig, University of Toronto; Professor C.B. Hieatt, The University of Western Ontario; Professor J.T. Ryan, Carleton University; and Professor D.M. Winch of McMaster University.

More than 4,000 students applied for Ontario Graduate Scholarships for the 1976-77 academic year. Awards that have been offered to, but declined by, any of the 1,000 top-rated students will be offered to other applicants, in order of academic merit.

IN MEMORIAM

GIFFORD, Charlie - In loving memory of a dear husband and father who passed away April 27, 1975.
Though his smile is gone forever,
He gave his best to all of us.
Although his hand we cannot touch,
We have so many happy memories,
Of the one we loved so much.
His memory is our keepsake,
Which no one shall take,
Not even time can dim our memories,
To-day to-morrow and our whole life through.
Sadly missed by wife, Mable; daughters, Diane and Julie.

McFARLANE - In loving memory of a dear brother, Elymer, who passed away April 27, 1974.
Oh God, will you give a message,
To our brother up above?
Tell him how much we miss him,
And give him all our love.
Remembered always by sister, Goldie, Archie, nieces and nephews.

A standing ovation greeted Ontario Premier William Davis Wednesday night as he arrived at the Hastings-Peterborough PC nomination convention, held in Centre Hastings Secondary School in Madoc. Davis and MPP Clarke Rollins were piped into the hall as supporters applauded.

Only one new name?

There's likely to be only one new name on the ballot when voters of this community and other Hastings-Peterborough riding residents go to the polls in the next provincial election.

Incumbent MPP Clarke T. Rollins was re-nominated as the Progressive Conservative Party standard bearer at a P.C. nomination convention in Madoc last week.

Winner of five straight provincial elections in the area, Mr. Rollins, 64, was unopposed for the nomination.

Two other candidates who faced Mr. Rollins in the last election will also be on the ballot.

David Hobson, who sliced Mr. Rollins' majority from about five thousand to two thousand votes in the last election, has been re-nominated as the Liberal party candidate.

Nancy Arnold, who contested the riding for the Social Credit Party the last time out, will also try it again.

Only the New Democratic Party is likely to have a new face in the race. Bob Thomson, the United Church minister from Deseronto, who carried the NDP colors in the last election in the riding, has been transferred east and will not be trying it again. A search for a new candidate is now on.

No other party, or independent candidate, has as yet said they were interested in contesting the local riding.

Great Lakes responsibilities

Thomas Kurtz new supervisor

He joined the Ontario Government in 1965 as project engineer with the Conservation Authorities Branch. In 1967 he was made assistant chief engineer and in 1972 chief engineer.

In 1964, he received his B.Sc. from the University of Windsor and his M.Sc. in Hydraulics and Hydrology the following year.

Mr. Kurtz is secretary of the Ontario Chapter of the Soil Conservation Society of America and a member of the Municipal Engineers Association.

TODAY'S ANSWER

The Stars say....

ARIES (3/21-4/19): Be leery of partnerships involving financial investment. Someone's liable to try to change you. A game of musical values could ensue if you don't stand firm, little Ram. Later, phone rings off hook and you need to juggle dates.

TAURUS (4/20-5/20): Of all the signs, perhaps you, Taurus, dislike change most. Be that as it may, the changes they are a comin'. This applies particularly to those you born this week. Variety really can be the spice of life!

GEMINI (5/21-6/20): Remember the fable about the tortoise and the hare? Your inclinations may be hare-ish, but don't forget who won that race. Week also includes financial interest and a lovers' kiss. Enjoy, Twin.

MOONCHILD (6/21-7/22): Keep objectives clearly in view. The singleness of purpose you often show will place you in trump position, little Crab. Look for a happening in home situation. Then, all you have to do is bat your baby blues and lover takes it from there.

LEO (7/23-8/22): Shakeup along career or job lines is possible soon. It may involve promotion or even career change. Expect more work and responsibility. The challenges will be right up your talented Leo alley. Later, relax with friends in cosy lair.

VIRGO (8/23-9/22): A tip of the hat to you, Virgo, as you receive recognition. This is a lucky phase; a time for love, relationships, and advancement. Get together with those closest to you and paint that ol' town red.

LIBRA (9/23-10/23): Rely on yourself and count any aid from others as a bonus. Be discriminating in use of resources. A hidden tap could drain you. A romantic interlude polishes weekend to a titillating shine. Finally common sense shakes hands with ingenuity to deal you a winning hand.

SCORPIO (10/24-11/22): Change in relationship may be a major transformation. Whether for better or for worse depends on how changes are handled. Week's agenda also includes discussion on a sexy topic and chance to start a new affair.

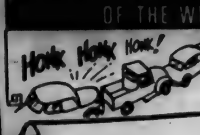

SAGITTARIUS (11/23-12/21): Zero in on details you've let slide. Give special attention to pets. Your life is go, go, go, Sag. Don't forget that body of yours needs care to keep up the pace. Get proper rest and food to keep it fit.

CAPRICORN (1/20-1/19): Love affair could turn into more than a fling. Nesting urge swings thoughts from dating game to mating game. Versatility is key to closed door at work/project. Week stops with a thump.

AQUARIUS (1/20-2/19): A domestic spring spruce-up is in order. The ol' homestead's appearance is important even to a gad-about like you, Aquarius. Then, let the sun shine in on romance — weekend is a sizzler. Latter days are determined.

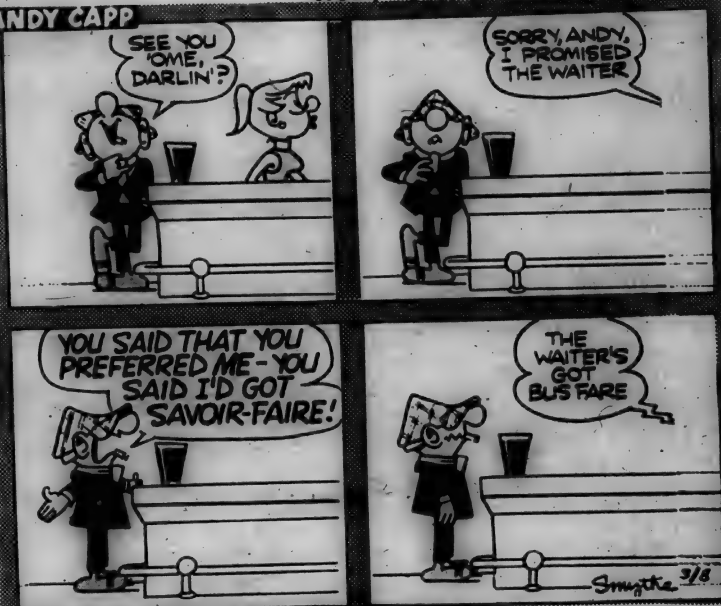

PISCES (2/20-3/20): Ma Bell and Mr. Postman gang up to pelt you with messages. You'll hear from a relative and receive information concerning money. Later activity includes home-centered affair. Week comes to a sexy goodnight. (Suburban Features)

For And About Teenagers

THIS WEEK'S LETTER: I'm 14½ years old and I have a big problem. I'm in love with my teacher at school. The problem is that he's married. I know that I really like him because I start to shake when I see him. I get butterflies in my stomach when he's around, too. I can't forget about him, but he's married. What should I do?

OUR REPLY: First of all, get yourself clear on a couple things. You do not have a problem. It is not a problem to love somebody. It is a joyful experience. Also, it's not a problem that he's married. He's chosen to live with someone he loves dearly. That is not a problem, but another wonderful thing. Your time will come for being in love with somebody that is appropriate for you to share yourself with. For now, when you start shaking and the butterflies start flying, take responsibility for yourself. Walk up to your teacher and tell him how much you love him. There is nothing wrong with loving somebody, in spite of what you've been led to believe. It is not a problem but a joy. Be thankful that you're alive and can experience the sensation. Share it with him. Tell him you love him. There is nothing wrong with loving somebody who is married. You love your parents, don't you?

CONSUMER GUIDELINE

Consumers can expect more from warranties on products they buy. Laws now give buyers the right to gain information on warranties before making a purchase and to sue for damages when there's a breach of warranty or service contract. Recent legislation requires manufacturers to clearly label warranties as either "full" or "limited." Under full warranty, any faulty product must be repaired or replaced, free of charge, within a "reasonable time." A limited warranty must tell, in clear language, which parts or labor are covered and for how long.

Are raindrops falling on your head? Check for roof damage before storm

One sure way to discover whether your roof is leaking is to look for signs of water damage during a heavy rain. The problem then becomes one of waiting until the rain stops, since you can't get the roof fixed while it's raining.

On the other hand, when the weather is nice and the roof isn't leaking many people have a tendency to ignore the problem.

Actually, it isn't wise to wait until the roof leaks before doing something about it. It's better and often less costly to give the roof a "going over" every now and then. But do it from the ground, using field glasses, advises the Asphalt Roofing Manufacturers Association. It's easy and far less dangerous than walking on the roof.

Besides a leak, other signs that a roof might need to be replaced include cracked, curled or missing shingles. Best of all, try to determine the age of the roof. If it's of standard shingles, 15 years old or older, it's probably due for replacement.

REROOFING WITH HEAVY-TEXTURED asphalt shingles adds eye-appealing dimension. Available in popular earth-tone colors that serve to relate a home with its environment, these shingles are designed to last up to 25 years with little maintenance.

In any event, it's a good idea to call a professional roofer who can conduct an on the roof inspection. He can tell you if minor repairs are called for or whether the roof has to be replaced.

Should the situation call for reroofing, the professional roofer is also a good source of information on how to use roof design and color to improve a home's appearance.

Asphalt shingles, for instance, now come in heavy textures and earthtone colors that add dimension and depth to a roof. The rustic shades and deep shadow lines create attractive roofs that avoid the look of sameness. Designed to last up to 25 years, the new generation of asphalt shingles requires minimal maintenance.

HANDY ASSET

Tin snips for the craftsman add dimensions to repairs

When it comes to handling repair work around the house, the modern craftsman needs at least one and possibly more metal cutting snips for his workbench. And sometimes this same person is also likely to use the same tools in fashioning handcrafts for some of his more leisurely workshop hobbies.

If you are a do-it-yourselfer who fits either or both of these types, you'll surely want to know how the work can go easier and faster and more pleasantly with the correct cutting implements.

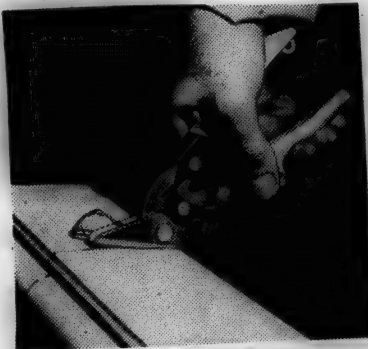

J. Wiss & Sons Co., a leading metal snips manufacturer, says there's a basic assortment of snips that the home handyman should know about for cutting fiber glass, rubber, wire, leather and other tough materials. There are snips that make left of right handed cuts on sheet metal, and those primarily for cutting straight lines.

The hobbyist will also appreciate the capabilities of these same tools (recognized by numbers on their blades such as M1, M2, MPC-3 and A-10) in creating tin-can art and metal wall sculptures as well as for working with metal grill work, aluminum edgings, etc.

For this busy home craftsman, who undoubtedly is doing more of his own repairs today due to rising costs in professional services, Wiss has taken one of its top professional tools - M-41R pipe and duct snips - and packaged it for the consumer. Featuring compound lever action that transmits exceptional power with half the effort required of regular snips, they also have a patented ball spreading action for faster, cleaner cutting, even through seams. An extra sharp piercing tip permits you to start your cutting point anywhere on a flat metal sheet.

They cut any shape ducts - square, rectangular or round. They are ideal for cutting an opening to attach a down-spout to a gutter and a myriad of other home improvement projects.

They are also excellent for cutting non-metallic sheet materials such as fiber glass panels, vinyl tiles, decorative plastic kitchen laminates, synthetic shingles and lots more. The ball bearing jaw plus the vinyl offset handles protect the hands from cuts and bruises. Wiss snips make a great gift for dad on any occasion. You'll find them attractively packaged at your local hardware store.

Your very own library

What do unused bedrooms, spare storage rooms and attics have in common? Each has the makings to become the library you always wanted.

Traditionally, the library is a room designed for the storage of books. It should be quiet enough for reading, homework or "contemplation." The atmosphere should be pleasant and relaxing.

Converting an unused room is the best bet. A single bed, with bolster cushions, can easily be converted into a sofa if you want one. Shelves along the walls are easy to install for all the books. Carpeting provides a restful feeling.

It's a perfect hide-a-way, and right in your own home too.

Camera is helpful tool when remodeling catches your eye

You need all the helpful tools you can get when it comes to remodeling or redecorating your home. Have you thought of enlisting the aid of your camera in your projects? There are a number of ways photography can help you, both in planning and execution.

Cameras that deliver your pictures instantly are best because there is no wait for the drug store to return your prints. A good camera choice is Polaroid's new Super Shooter. It is inexpensive ($25.00) and allows a wide choice of film — both color and black and white in either a horizontal format or in the less expensive square format.

Here are just three suggestions for letting your camera help you out.

1. AN EYE FOR ADDING ON. Visualizing how a change is going to look is not easy, yet you want to know how your house will be affected when you close in the back porch or add a second story bedroom over the garage. Let your camera help.

Take several instant pictures of the house from various angles and then draw your planned changes directly on the pictures with a ball point pen.

It's cheaper to change roof lines or window placement on a photo than after the hammers and saws have started.

2. X-RAY VISION. The studding for the new room is up, the wires and pipes clearly visible now before the sheetrock closes them in. Now is the time to make an instant picture of the anatomy of those walls.

MAKING INSTANT PICTURES of your new walls before they are closed in will give you a valuable record of where all the wires and pipes are inside.

It will be like having x-ray vision later when you need to know just where those pipes and wires are within that wall. And if you are around at the time underground wires or sewer or septic systems are being installed, be quick with your camera to record those locations.

Put the pictures away in your "Household" file; they can save you time and money should subterranean troubles develop later.

3. NOW WHERE DOES THAT BELONG? When redecorating means taking everything off the walls, out of the shelves and out of the kitchen cabinets, a little preliminary snapping with your instant camera can find you smiling smugly when it's time to put everything back.

You have a record of exactly how the intricate wall arrangement fits together, the way the owl collection was arranged on the third shelf and where the company glassware was so neatly at home in the cupboard.

You'd be surprised how unreliable memory can be when it comes to putting things away.

Before long you'll be thinking of so many ways your camera can help you in your renovations and remodeling you'll be tempted to keep it in the tool kit.

Six basic elements to look at when planning to remodel your bathroom

If your bathroom is rather drab, with old-fashioned fixtures and definitely in need of remodeling, it is probably like most — about 5 feet by 8 feet in size.

If so, you won't find too many idea bathrooms in advertisements or editorial this size to help you — most such baths are larger and your problem will be to convert the ideas found in such large rooms down to fit your space.

Therefore, before you remove the first wall tile or start tearing up the floor covering, take a few minutes to plan your bathroom remodeling.

There are six basic elements of better bathroom design for you to consider, according to Eljer Plumbingware, a leading manufacturer of plumbing products. Each is important to total bathroom

• The basic plan of the bathroom must be a good one — one that will work even in the most restricted space. In many cases you will be working with all plumbing pipes placed on one wet wall. It will be most economical to take this arrangement and develop variety and design without a change in plumbing.

However, to create the best plan for your bathroom you may find it necessary to change some fixture locations. If this is desired, by all means contact your plumbing contractor because proper installation and adherence to plumbing codes are mandatory.

• Choosing the right fixtures is very important because remodeling your bathroom is pointless if built around a poor choice of fixtures. Don't skimp on quality, not if you want to be assured of satisfaction, performance and beauty in the years ahead. Be sure you consider colored fixtures ... added spark for your bath at small added cost.

• Adequate storage is so fundamental yet so often overlooked in the bathroom. Be sure you provide space to store towels, tissues, cleansing materials, cosmetics, etc. ... and storage space is probably more important in a small bathroom than in a large one.

• Lighting must be adequate for proper application of cosmetics, shaving, and believe it or not, reading. Let's face it, everyone needs a morale boost when they first get up in the morning — and warm lighting in the bathroom can at least make you look much better than you feel.

• Adequate ventilation is an item easily overlooked in bathroom remodeling. Ventilation can do more than just make the bathroom smell fresh — it can help keep it clean, warm, remove excess moisture and help control mildew.

• Every homeowner should have a bathroom that's easy to maintain. Begin by choosing quality fixtures, with finishes of glass-hard vitreous china or durable enameled cast iron. Consider the new, easy-to-maintain finishing materials such as vinyl wall coverings, laminated plastic surfaces, and ceramic tile for easy cleaning without sacrificing decorative appearance or utility.

ANCIENT GREECE AND ROME live again! This classical bath fits a five-by-eight foot area and combines all six elements of good bathroom design. Three arches are built of 1/2" untempered hardboard. Simple globe lighting adds to the over-all effect with a free-hanging mirror over the lavatory. There is open access to toiletries, while ample storage for towels and linens is available.

TODAY'S TAP WATER may contain undesirable or potentially dangerous impurities.

If the quality of water drops try household water purifier

City waterworks strive to make water safe and palatable, but recent reports show that there may be new potential health hazards to consider. Private supplies are also suspect.

Does your home water supply have undesirable and disturbing tastes and odors? Are you concerned about drinking it?

Encouragingly, a new three-way household water purifier removes all or substantially all of many undesirable or potentially dangerous impurities from water supplies, and produces high quality water for drinking and cooking. Called the "Aqua-Clear," it is actually three different water conditioning processes in one system.

Manufactured by Culligan, the new purifier can be installed under the sink, in a crawl space, utility room, or basement. It will process 150 gallons of water a month — more than enough for the drinking and cooking needs of the average family — and at a fraction of the cost of bottled water.

Hundreds of similar systems have been operating for many years, both in homes and in kidney treatment centers, where they are utilized for the preparation of water used in the critical task of purifying the blood of patients suffering from kidney failure.

Aqua-Clear units are also used to improve water for other health care needs, and for processing water for manufacturing pharmaceuticals, foods, cosmetics, and electronic components.

No method, using a single water purifier, can be as effective as the three-way Culligan Aqua-Clear system. In this age of pollution, it is prudent to have the best possible water in your home, and it is reassuring to know that household water purifying equipment is available to provide it.

Save money, save energy — invest in air

Would you believe that you can cut down on your annual heating and cooling bills just by trapping something as commonplace as the air around us?

It's true — according to the energy experts at the Home Institute, Certain-teed Products Corporation, Valley Forge, Pa. You do it by capturing air inside six-inch thick batts of fiber glass insulation which you lay on the attic floor between the joists.

Fiber glass insulation has millions of tiny air pockets per inch, each becoming an insulator in its own right. The cumulative effectiveness of all of this air creates a barrier against exterior weather conditions, so that heat flow through the insulation is virtually eliminated.

The transfer of heat through any material, such as fiber glass insulation, is designated by an "R"-Value. The higher the R-value, the better the material is as an insulator.

For minimum energy savings you should have enough insulation in the attic to produce an R-19 rating. You can achieve that rating with six inches of fiber glass batt insulation or over eight inches of loose fill insulation.

R-values are cumulative — so adding an R-19 batt to three and one half inches (R-11) of insulation already in the attic will give you a rating of R-30. The additional insulation will help pay for itself in energy savings in about three years in most areas.

For more information on energy savings attributed to insulation write for the Old Farmer's Almanac Home Insulation Guide. It's free from the Certain-teed Home Institute, P.O. Box 880, Valley Forge, Pa. 19482.

Bathroom face lifting

When the urge to re-decorate your home hits, don't forget the family bathroom.

There's much you can do to spruce up this "everyone's" room, even though its furnishings can't be rearranged! Here are some of the ways you can do it:

- Cover plain, dull walls with an attractive, colorful wallpaper. Wallpaper can add brightness to a room. If there's a window in the bathroom, have a window shade made from leftover paper to match the walls.

- Keep it shining. No matter how you decorate, a clean room always looks better than a neglected one. And, especially in the bathroom, it's prudent to kill germs while you clean. With Fantastik® Bathroom Cleaner it's easy to clean, disinfect and deodorize washable surfaces at the same time.

Spray tub and basin, shower curtain, tiles, floors, counter tops and other washable surfaces with the foaming bathroom cleaner and wipe off with a paper towel, clean cloth or damp sponge.

In addition to killing staph, strep and other household germs, you'll also help prevent mold and mildew growth for up to two weeks.

- Think green plants, that is. Plants look great anywhere in the home — the bathroom is no exception. If you have enough space, try setting one on a pedestal; otherwise, a hanging plant would do nicely, too. It'll flourish in the room's moisture!

- Hang curtains in front of the bath; protect them with a plastic shower sheet. Shower curtains must be waterproof, but only on the side that gets hit by water — you can use almost any washable material to make a pretty curtain for the "dry side."

Easy-care family rooms

Simplicity is the key to a family room which is both functional and attractive. And with the various styles of contemporary furniture and accessories available today, the family room can be easily redecorated to suit your lifestyle.

Basics for a family room often include a couch, recliner lounge chair, one or two stationary chairs, end tables with lamps and, perhaps, several small, portable cube tables or a coffee table.

Determine your family's needs — you might want to include a larger card table with matching chairs, bookshelves and cabinets, too. You may find the latter items are especially useful if your family room doubles as a game room or den.

Whatever pieces of furniture and accessories you decide upon, remember they'll need routine maintenance to keep them looking their best.

Many styles are available in the new leather-look vinyls and in laminated and translucent plastics — good, durable materials for family room furnishings as they can be easily cleaned by spray cleaner and wiping with a clean cloth or damp sponge.

Chrome and stainless steel accessories may also be cleaned with the spray cleaner; on wood furniture surfaces, use a polish appropriate for the particular type of wooden finish.

A family room is meant to be used, not just looked at. By choosing furnishings for that are stylish, functional and easy to care for, you'll have created a room the whole family can enjoy.

On the level

MAKE SURE your do-it-yourself home improvement projects are on the level! Now a full range of good-better-best Stanley top-reading torpedo levels with 360 vials offering varying features: Good: Economical magnesium and Cyclo-lac® is "Y" grooved for pipe work. Better: Durable, lightweight Cyclo-lac® with magnetic strip which adheres to metal surfaces has three stations, plumb, level and 45. Best: Strong and light die-cast magnesium with magnetic strip and three replaceable acrylic vials comes in a vinyl pouch.

Safe and protective roofing

The roof is your home's main defense against the elements. Properly chosen, it also can help protect your home against fire.

Whether you're building a new home or reroofing an older one, you should know a few things about roofing to give your home maximum protection.

Many elements currently are used in roofing shingles: fiber glass, wood, tile, slate and asbestos cement are the most common. Each has its advantages and disadvantages.

Asphalt shingles are the most popular, come in a variety of colors and shapes and are relatively inexpensive. Conventional asphalt shingles give about 15 years of good service. However, most provide only basic fire protection, and are rated Class C by Underwriters Laboratories.

Fiber glass shingles are rated Class A for fire resistance, the highest attainable. They cost slightly more than conventional shingles, but have a longer life.

Wood shingles and shakes are among the more beautiful roofing materials, but they have two drawbacks. Wood offers little resistance to fire; even in some cases after it has been chemically treated. Also, wood is very expensive.

Slate is rock; it's permanent and it carries a Class A fire resistance rating. However, it is quite heavy and expensive. It's also costly to install and requires sturdy construction to support the extra weight.

Tile of clay or cement has a lot in common with slate. It's fire resistant but heavy and costly.

Asbestos cement shingles are made of mineral fiber, highly durable, with Class A resistance, styled to imitate shakes or slate shingles. They are moderately expensive and won't wear out or burn down.

Yes, turn out those lights

There's lots of electricity around. Surely this is one kind of energy that I don't have to worry about saving.

This is an all too common view. Turning out lights that aren't in use is definitely an important energy saving. You save electricity and in many cases you also save the coal, oil or natural gas used at the generating station. Even hydro sites are now limited. Developing future nuclear and hydro facilities will be very expensive.

So, yes, turn out those lights.

TYPES OF LIGHTING

Incandescent: This is the familiar light bulb found in most homes. Light is produced by heating a tiny filament until it glows. Unfortunately it produces much more heat than light — about 96 per cent heat and 4 per cent light. This heat is usually wasted because it's generated at the wrong time or in the wrong place.

It's easy to be confused by all the different incandescent lamps on the market — general service, eye saver, shadow ban, extended service.

The most energy-efficient is the general service which gives the most light (measured in "lumens") for the watts consumed.

Strange as it may seem, one lamp of higher wattage will give more light than the same wattage from two smaller lamps. Example: one 100-watt lamp will give more light than two 60-watt lamps (1740 vs. 1720 lumens).

Fluorescent: Most fluorescent lights are found in offices and best used in work areas and in bathrooms, kitchens and recreation rooms.

LIGHT TIPS

Turn off some lights. Whenever you leave a room be sure to turn off the lights behind you, even if it's only for a short time.

Forget the "surge". There's a general good localized lighting from lamps or specially installed fixtures.

Try fluorescent bulbs. When you're renovating or installing new lighting, try fluorescent fixtures. They're much more efficient.

Keep bulbs and fixtures clean. A barely visible accumulation of dust will lower the lighting level. And may cause you to turn on more lights. Dust lamps regularly.

Try a dimmer switch. Think about a dimmer for the dining room. You'll be able to turn the lights down low for a romantic touch, especially if you have candles on the table.

Use proper lampshades. The ideal shade is white or near-white and conceals the lamp bulb, both when you are standing and sitting. The shade should be dense enough to keep the bulb from glaring through (but not opaque) and should reflect the light. The light should be sent upwards as well as downwards, with the shade wide enough at the bottom to spread light over a fairly wide area.

Paint with light colors. Light paint finishes on both ceilings and walls will reflect the light and perhaps reduce the number of lamps you need.

Out-of-the-way places. Use a long-life or extended service lamp in those awkward hallways and cupboards where it's tough to replace a bulb. This type will cost a little more. Keep in mind that a long-life lamp produces lower lumens than an equivalent wattage general service type.

Reflections. Be sure that lighting equipment does not reflect on shiny surfaces — the television screen or a pile of glossy magazines. The glare will tire your eyes.

Outside lighting. Do you really need a 100-watt lamp in the light standard at the end of the driveway? Wouldn't a 60-watt or maybe a 40-watt do just as well?

Are floodlights necessary in front or back? Can you reduce the quantity or size? Think about an automatic timer to control the time when they are actually in use.

Christmas lights. Christmas lighting has become a tradition in Canada, but that doesn't mean we can run wild. Keep your lights to a modest display, unless of course your electrical utility recommends a total ban. Don't put them up too far ahead of Christmas and take them down as soon as the holiday season is over.

Try not to turn them on until after 6 p.m., so you won't add to the peak evening load, and turn them off before going to bed.

In most cases, outdoor Christmas lighting can

TEST YOUR SAVINGS Now that you've been enlightened, let's see how much energy you can save. Here's how to do it:

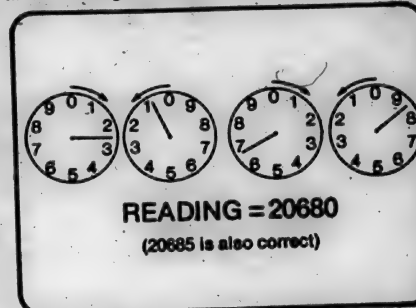

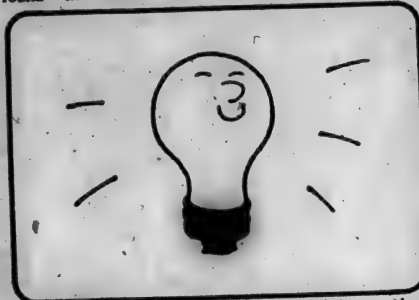

For one day leave extra lights on; let the TV and radio play away. The next day be conservation minded; turn off everything you can find.

On the first day, read the electric meter early in the morning and make electric bill. It should show how much you pay per kilowatt hour. Why not encourage your children to carry out this project by themselves. Good conservation training.

HOW TO READ YOUR ELECTRIC METER

The electric meter is normally on the outside wall of the house or possibly in the basement. If you live in an apartment and have your own meter, it's probably in the basement. (If you a note of the reading.

The next morning read the meter again at the same time, and calculate how many kilowatt hours were used. Read it again on the morning of the third day. Take the difference between the two days and multiply by 30 to find out the number of kilowatt hours you could save in a year.

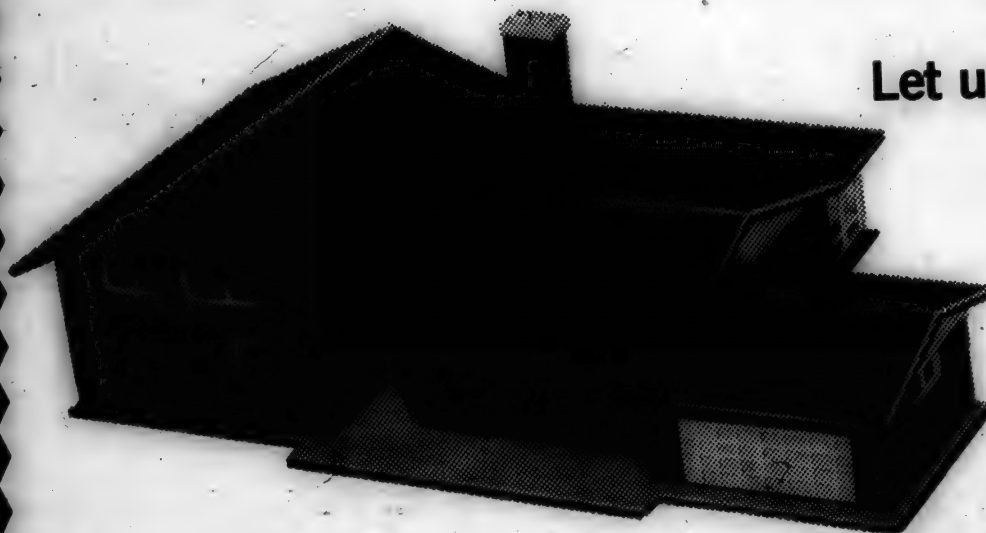

How much is this in cash? Check your last

The dials are normally organized from left to right. Some of these turn counter-clockwise. When the pointer is between two numbers, read the lower number.

Your meter probably has four dials. The right one gives the reading in tens of kilowatt hours, the next one in hundreds, of kilowatt hour, and so on.

Reduce your fuel bills

Homeowners everywhere are finding it will cost even more to heat their homes this winter, so the search is on more seriously than ever before for ways to reduce fuel consumption and lower fuel bills. The 12 most practical ways to cut your fuel bills are listed here.

1. Insulate your home well. It's the most effective thing you can do. With adequate insulation, your home will require only about 50 per cent as much fuel as with no insulation.
To insulate an existing home, first pay attention to the top floor ceiling, where heat loss is greatest. You can generally insulate this ceiling yourself by laying thick but lightweight fiber glass blankets between joists in the attic floor.
If you already have some insulation, you can use an "add-on" insulation which is made specifically to bring inadequate attic insulation up to today's standards. Consult an insulation contractor about insulating closed-in ceilings and walls.
Choose amounts of insulation by Resistance numbers, which tell how well insulation retards heat flow. In new homes, use at least R-19 (6 1/2 inches thickness) in ceilings, R-11 (3 7-8 inches to 4 inches thickness) in walls. Insulation in floors is needed for homes built over open crawl spaces.
2. Use storm windows or insulating glass. Double glass resists heat loss almost twice as well as single glass.
3. Use storm doors, and keep them tightly latched.
4. Weatherstrip windows and doors to keep warm air in, cold air out.
5. Caulk cracks around the outside of window and door frames.
6. Call in a heating service man to clean and adjust the heating burner. He should also check balancing of the heat distribution system to make sure no room gets more heat than it needs.
7. Clean or replace furnace filters. Dirty filters may severely hinder movement of warm air, reducing furnace efficiency and wasting fuel.
8. Set the thermostat back at night, but only six or seven degrees. A bigger setback will require extra fuel on morning pick-up. Always set the thermostat back if you're going to be away for a weekend or longer.
9. Check the location of your thermostat. Montana Power Company says it should be on an inside wall four to five feet above floor level. Keep it away from heat sources such as a TV set or a lamp.
10. Turn off the heat in rooms that aren't used. If you have zone thermostats to control your heating, consider keeping bedrooms at a lower temperature during the day. If you like to sleep with a window open, make sure the bedroom door is closed.
11. Install a humidifier. When relative humidity is high, you will be comfortable at a lower temperature.
12. Develop good heat conservation habits. Lock windows to pull sash tightly together. Close fireplace dampers except when a fire is burning. Close draperies at night, open them on sunny days.

Soft shaded vinyl siding

Now is the perfect time to replace dull, paint-hungry siding with easy-care, modern vinyl siding with its light, bright and cheerful look.
Soft shades of white, yellow, green, gray, tan, and gold are available in either a smooth or textured finish.

Space age product
Vinyl siding is a product of space-age scientific research. It is practically immune to the destructive forces which attack wood, corrode metal, cause colors to fade, and otherwise change and destroy commonly used building materials.
Vinyl is so durable that it is used as underground insulation impervious to rot; as plastic pipe resistant to corrosive liquids; and for highly resilient flooring that withstands the most punishing foot traffic in hard-use areas.
In addition to durability and resistance to wear, GAF Vanguard vinyl siding offers some other unique advantages.
The color is actually part of the vinyl itself. It can't peel, blister, check, flake, scrape, or wear off, as paint does.
Vinyl siding stays fresh and beautiful year after year with only an occasional wiping with ordinary household detergent and water. It will never rot nor rust and is immune to insects and vermin. Nor does it need grounding, as does metal siding, since it does not conduct electricity.
GAF vinyl siding is available in lightweight, easy-to-apply panels which produce the effect of clapboard with 8" or 4" exposure, as well as in vertical panels 10' long.

Crowning touch
Accessories include matching Vanguard vinyl soffit and fascia systems to provide the final crowning touch to the installation or to give any building with overhanging eaves a neater, more finished appearance.
Vanguard plastic shutters, in contrasting and dramatic shades of black, green, and sparkling white, are available in sizes from 14" x 35" to 14" x 80".

BATEMAN
REAL ESTATE INC.

A Real Estate Broker offers a service. When you engage his company, he is your employee for the duration of the listing contract.
It is his responsibility to act in good faith and full disclosure. This doesn't necessarily mean telling you exactly what you want to hear. But, it should be an honest assessment of Marketing Conditions.
If he tells you your asking price is too high, this should be no reason to rule out his services. It just means that he is being honest with you. That is what you pay him to do. Any agent wants to sell at the highest possible price since his fee is a percentage of the selling price. The more money he gets you, the more he makes.
But, you want to sell! Ask him about comparable sales. Why does he think you are asking above the market? Satisfy yourself that his information is justified. And, be honest with him, too. Tell him about special features your property has.
And remember, there is no price on conversation.

Either buying or selling property is a major experience in the lives of most people.
The first concern is either (a) What should I ask? or (b) What should I pay?
The old practice was to try to buy or sell directly without the services of an agent. The complexities of real estate transactions have turned most people now to a qualified agent.
What can an agent do for you? Firstly, a qualified agent should know the property values in the area. It is a fact that many individuals, in direct selling, have sold their property for less than market value. Or, many have not sold because their personal valuation was too high for the market.
Real estate transactions can also be risky. Based on what you may consider a firm offer, you may make other commitments that could prove embarrassing if your prospective purchaser should let you down. A sound contract is necessary.

Location of 'work centers' assures efficiency in kitchen

Most homemakers agree that the kitchen is where they invariably spend a great deal of their time. And they want it to be as modern, pleasant and convenient as possible.

Every kitchen should be divided into three major "work centers," located in relation to the sequence of work to be performed there, according to Hotpoint's Kitchen Planning Service. The major "work centers" are the refrigerator center, the "Clean-Up" center and the cooking center.

Ideally, the sequence of work in the kitchen moves from storage and mixing, on to preparing, then to cooking and serving and finally back to the sink for clean up.

Planning comments

Hotpoint kitchen planners have these comments on each of the centers:

Refrigeration: Obviously built around the refrigerator, this center should be located near the door where the supplies enter and should have sufficient drawer, shelf, and counter space to handle the numerous kitchen utensils, foodstuffs and small appliances common in today's kitchen.

There should be a minimum of 15 inches of work counter at the opening side of the refrigerator — more, if possible.

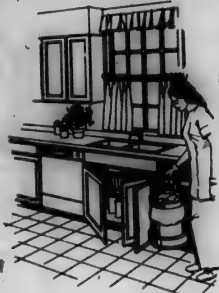

More efficiency

Today's modern side-by-side refrigerator-freezer combinations can be used more efficiently with work space on both sides of the appliance, which also allows both its doors to open to their stops.

Clean-up

"Clean-Up": This center handles chores performed in the kitchen during preparation of daily meals and the subsequent clean-up. It is best when it is located between the range and refrigerator, and should have at least 24 inches of counter space

Additional space

In addition to the dishwasher, space should also be planned to dispose of trash, and to store detergent, cleaning equipment and utensils.

A low-cost, highly efficient food waste disposer is recommended to take care of most "wet" garbage, while a trash compactor is an effective means of handling solid non-grindable wastes such as milk containers, egg cartons, cereal boxes, bottles, and the like. Used together, a waste disposer and compactor can help provide a neater, cleaner kitchen.

Cooking: The best location for the cooking center is near the dining room and breakfast areas. A counter at each side of the range is important for efficiency as well as safety.

There should be a minimum of 12 inches of counter at the side away from another major center, and 24 inches minimum between the range and another major appliance or the sink.

Storing essentials

A large amount of storage also is required in this area for pots, pans, trays, utensils, dry foods, and condiments.

Most kitchens will contain one or more minor work centers, according to Hotpoint, so plans should be well laid to make them work best.

Work centers

A desk, or planning and message center, is an essential in today's modern kitchen. It can be as large as needed, or as small as an 8x10-inch shelf with telephone and recipe racks. If space permits, a bulletin board and intercom can be included.

These guidelines should help you plan the best arrangement of work centers in your new kitchen to fit your needs with the space available.

Showers of water-saving tips

If yours is an average family, you use more than 80,000 gallons of water every year!

No one has to tell you that water rates are going up. So are rates for gas or electricity to heat that water.

And what about those sewage service charges many communities are passing on to residents in this form of direct-user charges. They are often based on the amount of waste water discharged from your home.

It all boils down to this: Save water ... and you save money!

Saving water isn't difficult, says Kohler Co., a leading plumbingware manufacturer whose products include water-conserving toilets, showerheads and faucets. Depending on daily use, these products could save an average family of four some 30,000 gallons of water a year ... or more!

The conventional toilet, for instance, uses five gallons of water per flush. It accounts for as much as 40% of all water used in the home. That's some 32,000 gallons of water flushed down the drain every year.

Kohler's "Water-Guard" toilet, on the other hand, flushes with 3 1/4 gallons of water ... 30% less than most other toilets. That's an annual savings of some 10,000 gallons of water, and a savings of 10,000 gallons less sewage ... savings that could pay for the installation of the toilet in a few years.

"Water-Guard" features a flushing system designed to complement a new trapway that ensures positive flushing action with less water. This is a far superior system than the "Brick in the tank" which often wastes water because multiple flushes are required to clean the toilet bowl.

Water-conserving showerheads are even more efficient "dollar-savers" if your family enjoys showering.

Kohler, for instance, offers showerheads with automatic flow control that can reduce water usage 50% or more ... from the six to eight gallons per minute delivered by conventional showerheads to just three gallons per minute. Even at the reduced volume, the bath-er still gets a thoroughly satisfying and drenching shower.

With water-conserving showerheads, an average family of four could save as much as 20,000 gallons of water per year — plus many "fuel dollars" that would be burned up in the hot water heater, and many "sewer service" dollars, too — assuming each member of the family took a daily five-minute shower.

Flow control showerheads, in chromium or gold electroplate finishes, are designed so that they can easily replace water-wasting showerheads in existing installations.

Flow control is also an available conservation feature in certain Kohler faucets for lavatories and kitchen sinks. Water flow is limited to two gallons per minute per valve, a rate that is ample but not wasteful and saves up to 25% of the water used by conventional faucets.

Kohler Co. estimates that the amount of water saved annually with these products could be as much as 7,500 gallons per person — assuming a daily five-minute shower and five toilet flushings per day.

Could save $6,000 to $8,000 on a new house

Reduced mortgage payments possible in urban standards changes

Savings of $6,000 to $8,000 on new house prices could result from changes in Ontario's urban development standards, according to a report released by Housing Minister John Rhodes.

This saving could reduce mortgage payments about $70 per month and result in a province-wide annual saving of $100 million.

The report, "Urban Development Standards: A Demonstration Of The Potential For Reducing Costs", concentrates on single-family housing - detached and semi-detached houses and street-front row housing.

Within the context of a conventionally-designed subdivision, the revised standards incorporate the most progressive designs currently in use in Ontario together with new principles proposed by the consultants.

In all, four sets of standards were devised. Typical or conventional figures that reflect current practice in the province were developed, one for metropolitan areas and one for the rest of Ontario. These were then compared with the proposed standards for metropolitan areas and the rest of the province.

Looking at lot dimensions, the report noted a conventional lot measured 45 ft. by 110 ft. for detached houses in metropolitan areas. It recommended that this be changed to 30 by 80 ft. In the rest of the province, the conventional size arrived at was 50 by 110 ft. which the report recommended changing to 30 by 100 ft.

Similar variations were suggested for lots on which semi-detached houses and townhouses would be built.

The study also looked at house sizes, arrived at typical or conventional sizes and recommended changes in these to blend with the revised lot dimensions.

These proposals would make significant changes in the number of houses that could be built on an acre of land. The Ontario conventional density was found to be slightly over five units per acre. These proposals would increase this to slightly over eight units per acre.

Similarly in metropolitan areas, the report's proposals would raise the conventional density of about seven units per acre to slightly over 10 units per acre.

In addition to lot sizes and densities, changes in engineering standards; such as, storm drainage systems, right-of-way and road widths and the method of connecting sanitary sewage and water servicing to individual lots, were examined with the aim of reducing housing costs.

Instead of having drains for storm runoff in basements and eavestroughing connected to storm sewer systems, the study proposes to eliminate these expensive connections. Storm runoff from roofs would be discharged on the ground and sump pumps would be used in basements where necessary.

Further savings could be realized by 'dualing' water and sanitary connections. Instead of one pipe running from the street to each unit, a pipe would come most of the way from the street and divide to serve two units. Additional savings could result from laying water and sanitary pipes in the same trench.

Road width alterations were also suggested. For example, the report would reduce the width of crescents and cul-de-sacs serving 100 units or less from the conventional 66 ft. to 50 ft. Similar reductions were also recommended for local and collector roads serving various population densities.

The recent Urban Development Institute report, "Lowering The Cost of New Housing", indicated ways by which the development industry believed it could lower housing costs, the minister said.

"Essentially, that report sought to do so by rather drastically altering current municipal development standards and significantly raising densities by utilizing various forms of low-rise multiple family housing.

"While containing some interesting proposals, the implementation of those recommendations depends upon municipalities largely abandoning conventional forms of subdivision developments," the minister said.

"Our study, on the other hand, has recommended a comprehensive set of criteria which attempts to maintain traditional concepts of single family home ownership, utilizing reduced or modified standards.

"We will be circulating this report to municipalities, agencies and groups concerned with subdivision design and development," the minister said.

"When their comments are reviewed, along with those of other ministries, policy and guidelines will be developed to implement new development standards and methods sought to ensure the resulting savings are passed on to the ultimate consumer."

Of the total savings possible through the changes suggested by the report on urban development standards, about 75 per cent could result from reduced lot sizes and related measures. The remaining 25 per cent could be achieved by changing engineering standards.

Along with this report, Mr. Rhodes also released the report of Ontario Task Force on Leasehold Condominiums. Leasehold condominiums are built on leased land as opposed to the present Ontario system of freehold condominiums where the owner of a condominium unit shares ownership of the land with the other condominium residents.

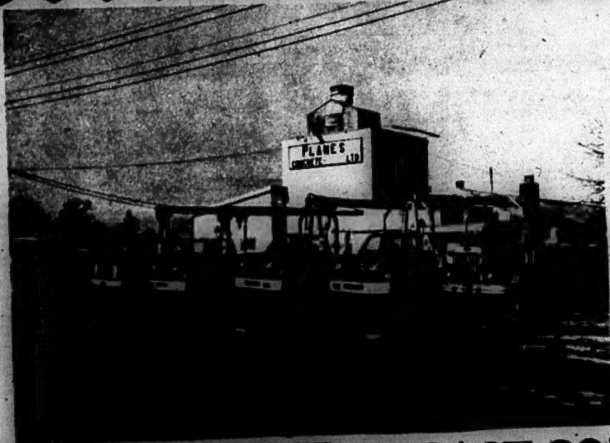

This latter report concluded that the disadvantages of this system outweighed the advantages as far as its application in Ontario was concerned.

The report noted that the introduction of this system would require major legislative amendments and that leasehold condominiums would not be attractive to mortgage lenders. It recommended that Ontario not move in this direction until a need for this type of housing is demonstrated.

Mr. Rhodes described the study as a discussion paper designed to encourage the industry, government and professional groups to examine the matter and make their views known.

The consultants for the Urban Development Standards were: Peter Barnard Associates, John G. Williams Associates and Cumming-Cockburn & Associates.

The Ontario Task Force on Leasehold Condominiums was composed of Brian Bucknall, chairman; Colin Connor, financial consultant; Leonard Fine, legal consultant and Marilyn Ginsburg, co-ordinator.

Decorating doldrums easy to dispel, renew, don't redo, with imagination

If the condition of your home tells you it's time to redecorate but your checkbook says "no," don't despair! You can still spruce up your domestic surroundings without expensive refurbishing.

When the decorating doldrums hit your house, strike back. Here's how:

• Carpets looking dull and dirty? Renew them, don't replace them. Rugs and carpets need routine cleaning to keep them looking their best just as tile and linoleum floors do.

You can easily clean carpets yourself in about an hour with Spray 'n Vac rug cleaner. Just spray this no-scrub rug cleaner onto dirty carpets and, when the foam dries, simply vacuum the foam and dingy dirt away.

• Repaint — It's easy to do yourself. Use a color to coordinate with your carpets, or choose a neutral such as eggshell white or beige. Stay away from pure whites that tend to look grey on walls.

• Furniture getting worn and faded? Instead of buying costly new chairs or a new sofa, think about re-upholstering or using slipcovers.

RENEW, DON'T REDO, your carpeting. When rugs and carpeting get dirty, clean them yourself to restore their beauty, instead of spending hundreds of dollars for replacements. With the no-scrub rug cleaner Spray 'n Vac, all you do is spray the foam onto the rug, let dry, and vacuum away dirt and soil.

Choose a pattern in one of the many interesting neutral colors that are so popular today, using accessories to pick up colors from your carpet and walls.

• Rearrange furniture to create a new and different look. For a change, move furniture to other rooms. You'll find that many pieces would look well in different areas of the house, too.

Subtle changes in a room's appearance can be achieved as simply as switching lamps, art and accessories between living room and bedroom. And, by moving items from room to room, you gain the benefits of refurbishing without spending a penny.

Save money, time and energy - make a list

To save money, time and energy—make a list before you go shopping. You'll be better organized and more relaxed. A shopping list helps you remember what you wanted to buy. Take a list when you go shopping and stick with it. You'll finish faster, avoid impulse purchases, have your needed items and perhaps some extra cash, too.

Planning tips....

Listed here are 14 points to help you get the most - and easiest satisfaction when embarking on a remodeling project.

1. Put your ideas on paper. Keep a file of ideas from advertisements as well as editorial material.

2. Engage an architect if your remodeling involves any structural alterations. He can provide you with rough sketches or working drawings and also provide on-the-job supervision.

3. Don't rush when selecting a contractor. Take time to check a man's bank references, talk with some of his former customers and personally look at a few of his completed projects. Investigate at least three contractors and invite each to submit a bid.

4. Let each contractor know you're considering other bids and give each candidate the same specifications. Name exact models, product types.

5. Make certain the contractor you hire carries adequate insurance: workmen's compensation, property damage, personal liability coverage.

6. Ask your contractor if he complies with the ode of Ethics of the National Home Improvement Council.

7. Don't automatically snap up the lowest bid for your remodeling project. Consider the interest and professional attitude an individual contractor shows toward your project.

8. Make absolutely certain your remodeling plans are not at odds with any building codes or zoning regulations.

9. Don't try to handle a job yourself unless you're fairly knowledgeable about building materials. This is especially true with plumbing and electrical work.

10. Don't introduce a lot of work changes once the remodeling is under way. These can be costly, will slow up time schedule and cause unnecessary friction between you and your contractor or architect.

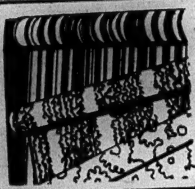

11. Insist that the contract include exact date work is to begin, a schedule of step-by-step proceedings and an approximate completion date. If delays seem unreasonable and unnecessary, you have right to take action.

12. Don't sign a completion certificate (if work is financed) or make final payment until the contractor gives you a release from liens and you're 100 per cent satisfied.

13. Ask for a contractor's guarantee (usually for one year).

14. Finally, ask for a clean-up provision in your contract so your house will be returned to its original condition after the work is completed - at the contractor's expense.

Avoid bathroom hazards with safety checklist

Home improvements can take many forms, including remodeling and redecorating. But while pretty accessories can add much to your rooms, it's important to consider the safety of your home as well.

Bathrooms, in particular, offer many potentially dangerous pitfalls for you and your family. So, to insure that your bathroom is as safe as it is attractive, compare it against the following safety checklist:

1) Date and label all medicines and know their shelf life. Medicines that are used past their expiration date or used improperly can even be harmful.

2) Children and pets don't always know what's good for them...be sure all medicines and caustic cleaning compounds are stored in locked cabinets.

And, use caution even when discarding old medicines or empty cleaning product containers - keep them out of the reach of your small loved ones to prevent accidental intake.

3) Harsh chemical cleaners can be harmful to adults, if accidentally used improperly. Always read instructions before using any cleanser and, whenever possible, avoid hazardous ones.

For example, instead of using drain cleaners which contain dangerous lye and acid, use Drain Power, the first drain opener to use air pressure to unclog pipes.

4) To reduce the risk of slips and falls on bare bathroom floors, pick up hairpins and other small objects as soon as they are dropped and, if your floor surface is the type which gets slippery when wet, be sure to mop up spills immediately.

5) To prevent falls in the bath, line yours with a rubber mat or with decorative rubber decals. Install a handle or rod on the shower wall for extra protection.

6) Never use electrical appliances in or near water or damp surfaces. If your family relies on bathroom appliances which require electricity, plug them into outlets away from the sink or bathtub and unplug them when they're not being used.

If your bathroom measures up well to this checklist, the chances of bathroom accidents are lessened and that means more peace of mind for you.

Refurbish antiques

"Antique-like" items are constantly popping up in many second-hand stores, garage sales and, these days, even at auctions.

One might think that these once-beautiful pieces of furniture will never see a better day. They may be broken or damaged with age and wear, but they can be salvaged. Second-hand pieces such as dressers, tables, chairs, desks and cabinets are probably the most inexpensive items on the market, and yet they have a lot of potential for becoming prize possessions of the smart do-it-yourselfer.

Anyone with a little knowledge of furniture stripping and/or refinishing can easily refurbish a handsome piece of old furniture. You can make it look like new again!
